PREFACE.

The leading idea of the present work is to give the pedigrees, carefully elaborated from contemporary documents, of every notable family seated in Suffolk before the era of the Georges, together with abstracts of some, at any rate, of the wills and other evidences upon which these pedigrees are based. It is not pretended that these genealogies are exhaustive or absolutely free from error, but they have been put together, with infinite pains, after years of preliminary research. For, before a line of them had been printed, some twenty thousand of the Suffolk wills at Bury, Ipswich, Norwich, Lambeth, and Somerset House had been noted in abstract and elaborately indexed; the Suffolk pedigrees in the Heralds' Visitations, and the Harleian and other Manuscripts had been copied and collated; the leading features of vast numbers of Suffolk Chancery Proceedings, chiefly of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, had been jotted down in the form of brief summaries; whilst the gossipping collections of local antiquaries of the Stuart period, such as Ryece, D'Ewes, Candler and Blois, had been studied, and in part transcribed for future use. It need scarcely be added that the folios of Davy and the Jermyn MSS. in the British Museum have been largely drawn upon in the compilation of the present Volume.

A full description of the various Manuscripts and Records bearing upon Suffolk Family history will be found in a paper by the Editor of this work in the East Anglian, New Series, Vol. IV, p. 17. In print Suffolk genealogy has been chiefly represented, hitherto, by the well-planned but fragmentary edition of Harvey's Visitation of 1561, edited by Dr. Joseph Jackson Howard, Maltravers Herald, and by the Visitations of Harvey, Cooke, and Camden, for which, as for many another record of our ancient gentry, we are indebted to the untiring enterprise of Mr. Walter C. Metcalfe. The magnificent quartos of Gage and Suckling form an instalment of that standard history of the County which, it is to be hoped, will eventually, if not perhaps in our day, see the light. Both works, it need scarcely be added, give pedigrees of the families, ancient and modern, which were seated in the Hundreds of which they respectively treat.

The Editor cannot allow this Volume to issue from the press without acknowledging his obligations to the many friends who have aided him in his researches and assisted in the publication of these pages; to the Clergy of the County who have permitted him to consult their Parish Registers; to the officials of the Public Record Office and of the Principal Probate Registry, Somerset House, to the District Probate Registrars at Norwich, Ipswich, and Peterborough; and to Members of the College of Arms and other kindred institutions.

In particular he would mention the names of His Highness Prince Frederick Duleep Singh, Sir W. Brampton Gurdon, K.C.M.G., M.P., Mr. Charles H. Athill, F.S.A., Richmond Herald, Mr. Gery Milner-Gibson-Cullum, F.S.A., Mr. Robert C. Winthrop, jun., of Boston, U.S., the Rev. C. H. Evelyn White, F.S.A., and Mr. James Junius Goodwin. He retains a grateful sense of his indebtedness to the late Sir Bartle Frere, K.C.B., and the late Colonel Chester, for help rendered him in the earlier stages of his researches, when the evolution of Suffolk Manorial Families was but a cherished possibility of the future.

Winthrop of Groton.

Armorial Bearings.

The origin of the Winthrop coat has been the subject of a variety of speculations, there being few instances of an animal superposed upon two or more chevrons. The earliest known representations of the Winthrop Arms are as follows :—

1. A Confirmation, dated June 24, 1592, by William Detheck, Garter, to John Winthrop (then of Groton Manor, afterward of Aghadowne, co. Cork) of the "Shield & Cote of Armes apperteyning to his Name and Ancestors," namely, Argent, three chevrons gules crenellés, over all a lion rampant sable armed and langued azure ; with the crest of a hare ppr. running on a mount vert. The original Confirmation, with the signature and seal of Detheck is still in existence, together with what appears to be a duplicate of it, but without a seal.

2. An emblazoned pedigree on parchment, illustrating the alliance of Winthrop and Forth in 1605, and signed, "Scrutavi, Ricardus St George, A^{o} domini 1° Martii 1610."

3. The Visitation of Suffolk in 1612 ; and Harl. MS., No. 1820, which apparently formed part of the note-book of that Visitation. In these MSS. Winthrop impales Still of Lincolnshire.

4. Two armorial-seals (one Winthrop, the other Winthrop and Forth) affixed to letters written, in 1618, by John Winthrop, then of Groton Manor and afterward Governor of Massachusetts.

It is noticeable that these armorial-seals bear the three chevrons described in the Confirmation, while the pedigree of 1610 and the Visitation of 1612 display two chevrons only. It is difficult to account for this discrepancy, which may have resulted from some carelessness or misunderstanding. It is further noticeable that in the rough notes of the Confirmation preserved in the College of Arms, and in the trickings of the Visitation, the chevrons are plain and not embattled, which can only be accounted for by a similar supposition. Be this as it may, the true arms of Winthrop, as originally authorized by the heralds, require three crenellated chevrons, and, with rare exceptions, they have been so borne by successive generations of the family to the present time.

Confirmation of Arms to John Winthrop, 1592.

Latin Pedigree, 1498-1625.

Internal evidence shows the so-called "Latin Pedigree" of Winthrop (1498-1623) to have been chiefly compiled by the third Adam Winthrop (d. 1623), a fragment of whose Diary (1595-1610) is printed in the "Life and Letters of John Winthrop." The original record is not in existence, but the following is taken from a copy, in the handwriting of John Winthrop, F.R.S., when a young man, which is believed to date from 1705 :—

Non longo a Newarke super Trent est quidam vicus appellatus Winthorpe (vulgo Winthrop) ex quo Winthropi de Groton in com. Suffolciae nomen et originem suum habuerunt.[1]

. . . . Adamus Winthropus de [Groton in comitatu Suffolciae armiger & dominus mannerii de Groton][2] natus fuit in . . . .

. . . . Anno domini . . . . Adamus Winthropus uxorem duxit Joane Burton filia D: Burton.[3]

1498. Anno domini 1498 et anno Regni regis Henrici Septimi decimo quarto, die nono Octobr in oppido Lannamiae[4] in comitatu Suffolciae, Adamus filius suus primogenitus natus fuit, viz., uno anno post preliii apud Blackheath field.

[1] This paragraph is suspected to have been an interpolation of the copyist, who may have chosen this method for chronicling what was undoubtedly an ancient family tradition. The will of a William Wynethorpe, of Wynethorpe, co. Notts, was proved May 4, 1445, and in it is mention of a son Robert, but there is no proof that the Suffolk Winthrops descend from either of them.

[2] The words in brackets are believed to have been an interpolation of the copyist. The third Adam W. must have known that the manor of Groton was acquired by his father, and not by his grandfather. There is no proof that the first Adam W. was of Groton, or that he was entitled to be styled armiger. A pedigree dated 1742 calls him "Serjeant-at-law," but there is no evidence of this, and it is very improbable.

[3] The pedigree of 1742 (very unreliable) styles her widow of D: Burton and dau. and co-heir of D: Burnell.

[4] Lavenham, pronounced Lannam in Suffolk.

The saide Alice died in childbed, being delivered of a sonne which was born dead the 24 day of december an: 1577, in the 20 yere of Qu: Eliz: and lieth buried in Hadley churche. Protinus aeterno mittit utrumque Deo.

1578. Anno domini 1578 secundo die junij Elizabetha uxor Wilhelmus Winthrop in Kent obijt, ex qua illi nati sunt 3 filii et 2 filiae, nomina Joshua, Adam, William, Elizabeth and Sarah.[5]

[1] It was in this year 1544 that he acquired Groton Manor. The daughter Mary, of whom there is no further mention in this record, is stated to have married, 1, William Celie, of London, haberdasher; 2, Abraham Veysey, of Ipswich, yeoman. She is repeatedly referred to in her brother's diary as "my sister Veysey."

[2] In the margin of this entry are inserted the words "on fryday," evidently the day of the week on which the birth occurred.

[3] She is not mentioned in her father's will, and undoubtedly died in childhood. It was about this time that he became Master of the Clothworkers Company of London, of which he had long been a prominent member.

[4] The date of this marriage was June 7, 1563, as entered in the Groton Registers.

[5] Unless some portion of the record is missing, the writer omitted to enter the marriage of his brother William, whose wife is stated to have been the dau. of ... Norwoode of Kent. Nor does he appear to have subsequently chronicled the marriages of four of his brother William's children, with whom he was on terms of intimacy and who are mentioned in his diary.

1579. Adam Winthrop was married to Anne my seconde wife, the daughter of Henry Browne, of Edwardston, clothier, the 20: day of ffebruary 1579 in the 22: yere of the reigne of Quene Elizabeth.[1]

1581. Anne the first daughter of Adam Winthrop & Anne his wife was born on fryday being the 5 daie of january anno 1581 in the 24: yere of Qu: Eliz: and died the 20 daie of the same month.

—— Anno domini 1581 primo die Martij Wilhelmus Winthrop filius Adami Winthrop et Alieiae uxor ejus primus, Londini obiit anno regni Reginae Elizabethae vicesimo quarto. Vir sine fraude bonus et pietatis amans.[2]

1585. Anne the seeond daughter of Adam Winthrop and Anne his wife was born in Edwardston on Sunday aboute 10 of the cloeke in the evenynge beinge the 16 daye of january anno 1585 in the 28 yere of the reigne of Qu: Eliz: & in the 37 yere of my age.

1587. Johannes Winthrop filius Adami Winthrop de Groton in comitatu Suffolciae armigeri et Annae uxor ejus, natus fuit in Edwardston deeimo seeundo die januarij 1587 et anno regni reginae Elizabethae 30: on thursday aboute 5: of the clocke in the morninge.

—— John the only sonne of Adam Winthrop & Anne his wife was borne in Edwardston aforesaide on Thursday about 5 of the clocke in the morninge, the 12 daie of january 1587 in the 30 yere of the reigne of Qu: Eliz:[3]

1590. Anno domini 1590 the 17 of December Agnes Browne the mother of Anne his wife died. Foemina quae Christum eorde gerebat herum.

1592. Jane the thirde daughter of Adam Winthrop and Anne his wife was borne in Edwardston on Wednesday betwene the houres of one and two in the morninge, beinge the 14: daie of June anno 1592 and the 34: yere of Queene Elizabeth. In the yere 1612, 5 of january, she was married to Thomas Gostlin by whome she had sons & daughters nominatim: Anne, Jane, Steven, Mary.

1600. Lucy my 4 daughter was borne in Groton on fryday in the morninge: 9: of january anno 1600 and in the 43: yere of Qu: Eliza: and in the 52: yere & 5 month of my age and in the 41: yere of the age of Anne her mother.[4]

1604. Anno domini 1604 nono die augusti Susanna filia Adami Winthrop et Agnetae uxor ejus secundus in Coventry obijt, anno aetatis suae quinquagesimo secundo. Nupta fuisset D: Cottie[5] . . .

[1] The words "my seconde wife" and similar expressions later on seem clearly to establish the authorship of the third Adam W., who probably copied many of the earlier entries from his father's papers.

[2] This William Winthrop is stated to have been an active supporter of the Reformed Faith, and a letter of his to John Foxe, the Martyrologist, is printed in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1877. He was at one time Churchwarden of St. Michael's, Cornhill, the registers of which parish contain the baptisms of most of his children.

[3] These two entries relating to the same person (afterward the great Puritan leader and Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony) suggest that the copyist of 1705 may have had two documents before him, one of them, perhaps an almanac. There exist thirteen almanacs containing entries by the third Adam W., but the earliest is of 1599.

[4] She died in 1679, having in 1622 become the second wife of Emmanuel Downing of the Inner Temple, by whom she had several children, one of whom was the celebrated Sir George Downing, Bart. For some interesting letters of her's see Winthrop Papers, Part III. (5 Mass. Hist. Coll. i.)

[5] Believed to have been Dr. John Cotta, author of a book on Witchcraft.

1605. Anno domini 1605 decimo sexto aprilis Johannes Winthrop in uxorem primam duxit Mariam filia unigenita Johannis fforthe de Magna Stambridge in comitatu Essexiae sex^{t}us filius Gulielmi fforthe de Butley abbey in Suffolke.

—— Anno domini 1605 duodecimo die febra: Johannes filius suus primogenitus in Groton in comitatu Suffolciae natus fuit quarto die Septemb^{r} circa 5: horologii in manu, et baptizatus fuit vicesimo tertio die sequente.[1]

1607. Anno domini 1607 octavo die novembris Alicia filia Adami Winthrop et Agnetae uxor ejus secundus anno aetatis suae sexagesimo octavo obijt. Cujus erat vita vitae medulla meae. Nupta fuisset 1563: Thomae Mildmaye Eq: Aurat: ex quâ illi nati sunt William, Francis, George, Henrie, Tomas.[2]

1613. Anno domini 1613 vicesimo sexto julij Johannes Winthrop filius Adami Winthrop et Agnetœ uxor ejus secundus in Ireland obijt, anno aetatis suae sexagesimo sexto et 7: menses. Qui sibi neque mihi utilis vitâ fuit, qui mihi frater durus tempore mortis erat. Nuptus fuisset 1566: Elizabethae Rysby filia D: Roberti Rysby de Thorpe in comitatu Suffolciae.[3]

1614. Anno domini 1614 quarto die novembris Brigitta filia Adami Winthrop et Agnetae uxor ejus secundus in Tharfield in Hertfordshire obijt anno aetatis suae septuagesimo secundo. Nupta fuisset D: Rogerio Alibaster ex quâ illi nati sunt George, John, Tomas, Sara, William.[4]

1623. Anno domini 1623 Adamus Winthrop filius junior Adami Winthrop et Agnetae uxor ejus secundus in Groton in comitatu Suffolciae hanc vitam transmigravit aetatis suae 75 : et sine ecclesiâ consepultus est. Vir bonus et prudens, nulli pietate secundus. Anna uxor ejus e vitâ excessit 1629 : et consepulta est cum marito. Foemina quae Christo tota dictata fuit.[5]

[1] This was the John Winthrop so well known in New England history as "John Winthrop the younger," long Governor of Connecticut and one of the most active of the early members of the Royal Society. For numerous letters of his see Winthrop Papers, Part IV. (5 Mass. Hist. Coll. viii.)

[2] This list of children is partly illegible. Sir Thomas Mildmay was son of the William Mildmay, of Springfield, before-mentioned, and his son Henry became Sir Henry Mildmay of Graces, a distinguished soldier of the Irish wars.

[3] This John Winthrop became one of the promoters of the Carbery plantation in the south of Ireland, acquiring an estate at Aghadowne, co. Cork, and eventually disposing of his life-interest in Groton Manor to his brother and nephew. He was long separated from his wife, from whom he took steps to obtain a divorce, and in his old age claimed to have married secondly Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Powlden, of Rathgogan, co. Cork, to whom and to whose children he devised his property, to the chagrin of his relations in Suffolk. His son by his first marriage died in boyhood, and his natural son, John Winthrop, younger of Aghadowne, died there unmarried in 1634. His executrix and alleged widow married Thomas Nott, one of the promoters of the Carbery plantation. The first wife, Elizabeth Rysby, married secondly one Reynold Braunch, of St. Saviour's, Southwark, the licence in the Bishop of London's Court being dated 8 July, 1617. A letter from Brampton Gurdon to Gov. John Winthrop in New England alludes to her death at Southwark in 1637.

[4] The last named became the poet and dramatist, William Alabaster, D.D.

[5] In these two instances the precise date is not given, but Adam W. is known to have been buried March 28, 1623, and his widow to have died April 19, 1629.

The so-called Latin pedigree of the third Adam Winthrop ends here, and it seems reasonable to assume that the copyist of 1705 did not have before him the record in its entirety, as it contains no mention of the deaths of the writer's daughters-in-law, or the second and third marriages of his son, or the births of any of his son's younger children. The following five references to some of these events are taken from the diary and almanacs already alluded to:—

1607. The xxth of Jan. my sonnes second sonne Henry was Christened at Groton. Mr Sands & my b. Snelling were his godfathers.

1609. Dec: 30: Forthe Winthrop was born.

1618. On fryday the 24th of Aprill my sonnes [third] wife came first to Groton. She was maried to him the [torn] day of the same moneth at Greate Maplested in Essex.[3]

1618 [1619]. The 24: daye of Marche in the yere of our Lord 1618 Stephen Winthrop was born. The Ladye Anne Tyndal was his godmother and Mr Steven Egerton her brother & Mr Deane Tindal her son were his godfathers.

1620. Adam Winthrop the second sonne of John Winthrop Esquire and Margaret his third wife was borne in Groton on frydaie ye seventh daie of ye moneth of April in the yere of our Lorde one thousand sixe hundred and twentie and in ye beginninge of ye 18: yere of the reigne of our Sovereigne Lord Kinge James. He was baptised by Mr Nicholson ye parson of Groton and named Adam by Adam Winthrop his grandfather, Philip Goslin the elder, Jane Goslin his fathers sister, & Mary Cole the wife of Joseph Cole, who were his godfathers & godmothers.

[3] Margaret, daughter of Sir John Tyndal. Many of her letters are printed in the "Life and Letters of John Winthrop."

Emblazoned Pedigree, 1610.

The so-called "Emblazoned Pedigree," attested by Richard St. George, 1 March 1610, is in the possession of the heirs of the late Thomas Charles Winthrop, Esq., of New York. It is so faded and discoloured, through process of time, that the tinctures of the escutcheons cannot always be given with certainty. The arms attributed to Sharpe of Islington and Browne of Edwardstone do not appear to have been recorded in the Herald's College.

Harl. MS. No. 1820, fo. 16^b.

At fo. 1 of this MS. is a tricking of the arms of "Winthrop:" Ar. two chevrons gu.; over all a lion rampant sa., impaling Still: Sa. gutteè d'eau three roses ar., with the note, "Per Dethick, Garter, ye 24 of June 1592 both of them." At fo. 73^b is a rough drawing of the crest of "Wintherop:" On a mount vert, a hare courant proper.

In the corresponding MS. in the Heralds' College, where the same arms are given, the marriage of John Winthrop with the daughter of Risby is omitted. Both MSS. contain inaccuracies. John was the second son, and Adam the third, of the second Adam Winthrop. John Forth was of Great Stambridge. There is no evidence whatever of his alleged connection with Stondon (or Standon) in Essex, and it is unlikely. There are omissions also. Important matches, as for example that of Alice Winthrop with Sir Thomas Mildmay, are altogether ignored. The pedigree would appear to have been jotted down, somewhat hastily, by Raven, during a personal interview with Adam Winthrop the Diarist, or his son John Winthrop, afterwards the well-known Governor of Massachusetts.

Will of Adam Winthrop, 1562.

In the name of god Amen. The xx^th^ daye of September An^o^ Domini 1562. I Adam Wyntrope of Groton in the Countie of Suff, gentleman and late clothworker and Cittezen of London, being whole of mynde and in good and parfect remembrance, thanks be giuen to almightie god, doe ordayne and make this my presente testamente and laste will in manner and forme followinge; revoking and disannulling all other willes & testaments heretofore by me made, or caused to be made. ffirst I bequeath my soule to almightie God, and my boddie to be buried in the parrish churehe yarde of Groton aforesaide. Item, I doe giue to the poore people of Groton xl^s^ to be giuen and distributed to the most needest[1] by my executors or Administrators. Item I do giue vnto John Wyntropp my sonne, the leace and whole terme of yeres of my mancõn house Wherein I nowe doe dwell, wholy as I haue yt by leace, withall the buildings, Orchardes, gardens, tenements with th'app^r^tennes, to the saide John, to his heires and assigners. Neverthelesse I will and giue the saide leace and mancõn house, withall the premisses and all and singular th'app^r^tenñcs, vnto Agnes my wief during her naturall lief. Item I doe giue vnto Agnes my wief all that my mannor of Groton with the Advowson of the bennefice there, with all and singular wooddes, lands and tennements, courts and proffits of courts rents and seruics, with all and singuler thapp^r^tenñcs and commodities whatsoeu̅ they bee, to the saide mannor belonging, or in any wise appertayning, during her naturall lief. Item I doe giue vnto the saide Agnes, during her naturall lief all those landes and tenements, meddowes, and pastures which I purchased and had of Thomas ffacon by exchange or otherwyse. And also all those landes and tennements whiehe I purchased and had of John Doget, wth all those exchanged landes whiehe I had of ffraunes Clopton Esquire. Item I doe giue to the saide Agnes my wief, during her natural lief, all those landes and parcells of lande which I bought of Rose Bonde widdow. And after the decease of the said Agnes, I will and giue all that my foresaide Mannor with the Advowson of the benefice with thapp^r^tenn'es as is aforesaide, And also all those landes which I had of Thomas ffacon and of John Doget, wth also all those exehanged lands with Mr Clopton, and also all those landes and pcells of lands whiche I bought of Rose Bonde widdow, with all and singular the^9^ premisses, vnto John Wyntropp my sonne and to his heires males of his boddie lawfully begotten. And for laek of such Issue males of the saide John lawfully begotten, I will the saide mannor with the advowson of the bennefice, with all the other the premisses with theire app'tenn'es, and also the other landes and tennements, with the exchanged landes and other the premisses with theire app'tenn'es, shalbe and remayne vnto Adam Wyntrop my sonne, and to the heires males of his boddie laufully begotten. And for defalte of such Issue of the saide Adam, I will all and singular the premisses with theire app'tenn'es to remayne vnto Willyam Wyntropp my sonne, and to his heires males of his boddie laufully begotten. And for lack of suehe Issue of the saide Willm̄, I will and giue all the saide p^r^misses with theire app'tenn'es before rehersed, vnto my fower daughters: That is to saye Alice, Bridget, Mary and Susan, and to theire heires then living: and when the saide Manno^r^ and all th'other premisses shall so dissende and come, Item I doe giue vnto Willm̄ Wyntrop my sonne and to his heires all my landes and tennements, woods and pastures and feedings, both free and eoppie now being in the occupac'on and meonoring[2] of John Tylor of Groton, excepte the lande ealled Lynseye Chappell lande in the occupac'on of the saide John Tylo^r^. N.B.—Noted in a piece of parchment endorsed "1615. No. 1.—Last Will & Test. of John Winthropp of Aghadown in the Co. Cork gent."; but from another document in the envelope it would seem that the Will was proved 31 January 1613. Aghadowne, Diocese of Ross.

The original paper has been pasted upon another paper for preservation. The seal is gone all but a fragment of the edge.

Will of John Winthop of Groton, 1620.

[illegible]ng before John Winthrop quitted England for Massachusetts, and while his father was still liv[illegible] he made a will which, though never proved, has been preserved amongst the family papers in [illegible]a. It is printed in extenso in his Life and Letters, Vol. i. 151, but for the sake of c[illegible]ce and for its Suffolk allusions, an abstract is given in this place. It does not mention th[illegible]ailed lands to which he afterwards succeeded. His second will of 1639 will be found in Vo[illegible] 250, of that work.

[illegible]n the name of God, amen. This tenth day of May, in the year of our Lord God 1620 I [illegible]n Wynthrop of Groton, in the county of Suffolk, Esquire, being in sound mind and good h[illegible] make my last will and testament in matter following:—

[illegible]irst, I commend my soul into the hands of God, who hath called me into this grace w[illegible] now I stand and rejoice. My body I yield to the earth. For such temporal goods as I s[illegible]ave behind me, I commit to the care and disposition of Margaret my wife[1], [Mr. Adam Winthrop my father, Anne Winthrop my mother] and John Winthrop my son, whom I doe ordain executors of this my will. Item, I doe give unto my said wife all those my lands and tenements which I lately purchased of William Forthe of Neyland, gentleman; viz, the two tenements and six acres of land, lying by Leven Heath, and ten acres of woodland; which land and woods are called by the several names of Masterman's Cross, Masterman's Grove, Stubbins Cross, Stubbins Grove and Homylies Grove; also one close of pasture-ground, called Little-pond Field, containing about eight acres, lying at the end of Neyland Town, towards Buers; and also three acres of meadow lying in Lowe's Meadow, in the parish of Assington, just by the said end of Neyland Town: all of which are more particularly expressed in a deed of feoffment from the said William Forthe to me made, bearing date the twenty seventh day of July, 1617: to have and to hold the said tenements, lands, pastures, and woods unto my said wife for term of her life; and after her decease, to remain to Adam my son, and to his heirs. I give unto my said son John all that messuage wherein I now dwell, together with that indenture of lease which I have in the same, and in certain acres of land in Groton being parcel of the rectory of the same parish. Item, whereas I have one parcel of land called Upper Crabtreewent, now in the occupation of Philip Gostlin the elder, which I have left out of former conveyances that I might lay it unto the parsonage of Groton, in satisfaction of the like quantity of land which I have of the same, I do hereby admonish my said son that he so dispose hereof as may be best to God's glory and the due recompense of the faithful incumbent; as myself purpose to do, if God spare me life.

"Item, for Mary my daughter, I will that my executors shall pay her grandfather Forthe his legacy of £240, to be paid her at her age of eighteen years, and withal, I commit her to the care of my executors to be well and Christianly educated with such goods as I shall leave unto them. Item, I will that my executors shall pay unto Luce Winthrop, my sister, one hundred and twenty pounds; one hundred whereof is due to her upon an agreement between my father and me upon the setting over his whole estate unto me. Item, I will that they shall pay unto Ezekiel Bonde threescore pounds, which is due to him of such legacies as my father was to pay unto him. Item, I will that my sons Henry and Forthe shall be brought up in learning, out of the rents they are to have by the will of their said grandfather Mr. Forthe. My other two sons Stephen and Adam I commend to the care of their mother, to be brought up in the fear of God. Item, I will that my executors shall pay my son Henry £13 . 6 . 8. yearly out of lands which should fall to him by his grandfather Forthe's will at his age of twenty-four years. Item, I make my loving wife and John my son executors of this my will; charging them that my debts may be truly paid; for performance whereof I do give unto my son John the lease of the house I dwell in, with the lands thereunto belonging and therewith occupied.

Will of Stephen Winthrop, 1658.

I Stephen Winthrop of James Streete in Westminster in the Countie of Midd. Esqre, being sicke in bodie but of perfect minde and memorie, revoking and renouncing all former Wills by mee heretofore made, doe make and ordaine this my last Will and Testament as followeth. First I giue and bequeath to my well beloved Wife Judith Winthropp All that myne house wherein I now dwell, with the houses adioyning lately erected, and all the members and appurtenances thereunto belonging and alsoe my lands tenements and hereditaments in the Cittie of Westminster in the Countie of Midd. for and during the term of her natural life, and after her decease, then the said premises to come and discend to all my children whoe shall be then liveing to be equallie divided amongst them. Alsoe I doe giue and bequeath all the Rest of my Reall and Personall Estate to my Executors hereafter named, to be preserved sole or disposed of to and for the best advantage vse and behoofe of my Daughters Margarett, Johanna and Judith, and such child or children as my saide Wife shall be now great withall and shall be safely delivered, to be equally divided amongst them, onlie my Will and Meaning is that my Daughter Margarett, shall haue fiftie pounds of lawful money of England more than anie one of the rest of my children to buy her a ring, the said Margarett to receive her part or portion when she shall attaine to the age of one and twenty yeares or day of marriage, which shall first happen and not before, and alsoe the said Johanna to receive her part or portion when she shall attaine to the age of twentie and one yeares, or day of marriage, which shall first happen and not before, And alsoe the said Judith to receive her part or portion when she shall attaine the age of twentie and one yeares or day of marriage, which shall first happen and not before, and so likewise such child or children which my Wife is now great or pregnant with, all to receive their parte or parte portion or portions as the Rest of my children before named are to receive theires and noe otherwise. And if it shall happen that anie of my children shall die before they shall accomplish the age of one and twentie years or day of marriage, then my Will is that his, her, or theire parts or portions shall be equallie divided amongst the Rest of my children which shall surviue, and my Will and meaning is that if it shall happen that all my said children but one shall die before they attaine the age of twentie and one yeares or dayes of marriage That then my Executors to pay or cause to be payd vnto my Nephew Adam Winthrop son of my Brother Adam Winthrop deceased one hundred pounds of lawful monie of England to be deducted out of my estate. And also to the children of my Brother Deane Winthop fiftie pounds of lawful English money to be equally divided amongst them, to be alsoe deducted out of my estate. And alsoe to my Brother Samuel Winthrops children fiftie pounds of lawful English monie to be equally divided amongst them. And alsoe to my halfe Brother John Winthropp's children fiftie pounds of lawfull English monie to be equally divided amongst them. And if it shall happen that all my saide children shall die before they shall attaine to the age of twenty and one yeares or dayes of marriage that then my Will and meaning is that my lands tenements and hereditaments except my fee farme rents shall come and discend vnto my saide Cozen or Nephew Adam Winthrop after the decease of my said Wife, and that my Personal Estate and fee farme rents to be divided as followeth, videlicet, to my said Wife five hundred poundes of lawful English monie To my Brother Deane Winthrops children three hundred pounds of lawfull monie of England to be equally divided amongst them if the said children of my said Brother Deane have not received the said Summe before mentioned of fiftie pounds, which if they shall have soe received, That then they shall haue but two hundred and fiftie pounds and noe more, and to my Brother Samuells Children two hundred pounds of lawfull monie of England if they haue not received the summe of fifty pounds abouesaid, which if they shall haue received the said summe then they to haue but one hundred and fiftie pounds and noe more to be equally divided amongst them. And alsoe to my halfe Brother John Winthropps children two hundred pounds of lawfull English monie to be equally divided amongst them if they haue not received the fiftie pounds soe giuen to them as aforesaid, which if they haue received the said summe as abouesaid then they to haue but one hundred and fiftie poundes and noe more, to be equallie divided amongst them, and fiftie pounds to my Cozen Mary Raineborowe Daughter of my Brother in lawe William Raineborowe Esquire, of good and lawful monie of England, and to my Cozin Judith Chamberlaine Daughter of my Brother in lawe John Chamberlaine Esquire fiftie pounds of lawfull money of England, and to the Poore of Boston in New England one hundred pounds of lawful money of England vpon condition that the Inhabitants of Boston aforesaid doe build and erect a Tombe or Monument, Tombes or Monuments, for my deceased father and Mother vpon theire Grave or Graves of fiftie pounds value att the least, whoe now lyeth buried att Boston aforesaid, according to the love and honour they bore to him and her in theire lifetime. And further my Will and meaning is that my said Wife shall haue the breeding vpp of my said children vntill they accomplish the age of twenty and one yeares or dayes of marriage, if my said wife continue unmarried, she having the vse of theire parts or portions for theire education. But if she hereafter marry that then she to haue nothing to doe with anie of my Estate but what is before giuen her as her legacies nor with the education of my saide children, but the same wholy to be lefte to my other Executors onlie to perform this my last Will and Testament and to see my said children well educated and not to be wrouged. And lastly I doe make and ordaine my said Wife Judith Winthropp, my said Brother in lawe John Chamberlaine Esquire and Thomas Plampyon Gent my sole Executors of this my last Will and testament. In Witness whereof I have hereunto sett my hand and seale the third day of May in the yeare of our Lord according to the computation now vsed in England, one thousand six hundred fiftie and eight 1658. S. Winthrop.

Signed and sealed in the presence of Leo Chamberlaine, Elizabeth Balldrey, The mark of X Clement Ragg.

This Will was Proved at London ye nyneteenth day of the moneth of August in the yeare of our Lord God one thousand six hundred fiftie and eight before the Judges for Probate of Wills and granting Administrations lawfully authorized by the Oaths of Judith Winthropp and John Chamberlain, two of the Executors named in the above written Will, to whom Admon of all and singular the Goods Chattels and Credits of the said deceased was graunted and committed, they being first legally sworne truely and faythfully to administer the same, power being nevertheless reserved to Thomas Plampyon Esquire the other Executor to make like Probate and graunt like Administration when he shall come and in legal manner desire the same.

Introductory Note to Winthrop Pedigrees.

The Pedigrees here printed are derived from the following sources of information:—

1. Wills, Administrations, Parish-Registers, and other contemporary records.

2. The Diary of the third Adam Winthrop (1595-1610), and the account of his family compiled by him, known as the "Latin Pedigree."

3. The mass of Winthrop family-papers preserved in New England, selections from which have been in course of publication from 1825 to the present time, and now comprise two volumes of Winthrop's Journal (or History of N.E.), edited by the late Hon. James Savage, two volumes of the "Life and Letters of John Winthrop" (1587-1649) edited by the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, six volumes of miscellaneous selections, edited by Committees of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and much additional matter of importance scattered through other publications of the same Society.

The Pedigrees have also been collated with the Suffolk Visitation of 1612; with the two Harleian MSS. in the British Museum, numbered respectively Harl. MS. No. 1820, fo. 16^{b} (date 1611), Harl. MS. No. 1560 (date, seventeenth century); with the pedigree compiled by John Winthrop, F.R.S., in 1742; with the pedigree filed in the College of Arms in 1768 by Benjamin Winthrop, Governor of the Bank of England, and numbered C. 6. D. 14. The two last-named documents, however, abound in errors and omissions. which is the case with most genealogies of the Winthrop family, whether in print or manuscript.

The Editor thankfully records his obligations to Mr. Robert C. Winthrop, Jun., of Boston, U.S.A., for much valuable information concerning the different branches of his family, for much assistance in compiling the pedigrees, and for transcripts of ancient documents still in the possession of himself or his kinsmen on the other side of the Atlantic.

Among the Winthrop Papers in Boston U.S. are several letters from Jonathan Winthrop of Bandon to Fitz-John and Wait Winthrop, written in 1694-1698, and intimating a possibility of his emigrating to New England if he received encouragement. He addresses them as strangers, but kinsmen, without, however, giving any clue to the precise degree of relationship existing between them.

Winthrop of Antigua.

(See Pedigree C.)

Samuel Winthrop was some time a student at Harvard College in N.E., but left without taking a degree in order to seek his fortune in foreign countries, his father having experienced pecuniary reverses. A letter of his, written in Latin soon after his arrival in Teneriffe in the autumn of 1645, shows that he had obtained employment in the Counting-room of a merchant named Ferdinand Body whose partner was one David Stephens, and where his fellow-clerk was "a Knight's sonne of Kent," whom he finds not capable. In the spring of 1647 he removed to Barbadoes, and some months later to St. Kitts, whence he wrote his father that he had received much kindness from the Governer, Sir Thomas Warner, and his lady, and also from one Captain Clement Everett. In January, 1648, he was in Fayal on his way to Holland, where he arrived early in April and where he married a few months later. He alludes to the miscarriage of a number of letters about this time and the particulars of his marriage are wanting, but Governor Winthrop wrote from Boston to his son John in November, 1648, "your brother Samuel is married in Holland to a Dutchwoman and intends to come this way and so to Barbadoes." This marriage must have taken place in June or July, as Samuel makes passing allusions to his "wife" in a letter dated "Rotterdam, August 7, 1648." In the summer of 1649 he was heard of in Antigua where he was acting as agent for one "Mr Rich of London," and where he appears to have resided until 1653-4, when he removed to St. Kitts, where several of his children were born. In September, 1657, he wrote his brother John expressing his deep regret that the cares of his business had obliged him repeatedly to postpone a visit to N.E., but he says he has sent his two elder sons thither to be educated. In October, 1660, he alludes to the possibility of his settling in N.E., but adds, "I have taken much paines out of nothing to gett an estate and it lying in landes and plantacons I cannot so order them as to be a certain profit to me in my absence." In or about 1662 he returned to Antigua, where he resided until his death. In July, 1664, he writes his brother John that he had received more favours than he expected from the new Royal Governor, Lord Willoughby, and that the latter had confirmed him in his lands. In 166$\frac{6}{7}$, he writes his brother John an interesting account of the taking of Antigua by the French, whereby he suffered heavy pecuniary losses. Not long before, as a result of his intimacy with the celebrated George Fox during the latter's stay in the W.I., Samuel Winthrop had become a Quaker, and in Besse's "Sufferings of the people called Quakers" (vol. ii., p. 371), is a tribute to the courage displayed by him when a Commissioner to treat with the French. This change of faith does not appear to have lessened the esteem in which he was held, as in 166$\frac{7}{8}$, he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Antigua and he continued in office until 1671. His letters to his family in N.E. give the impression of a man of affectionate disposition and deep religious feeling. The latest of them which has been preserved was written in January, 1673, from Barbadoes, whither he had gone on a visit to Lord Willoughby. He died in Antigua in the following year at the comparatively early age of forty-seven. West Indian records are in such a confused and unsatisfactory condition that his will has not been found, but it is known to have been dated December 8, 1672.

His wife died in the latter part of December, 1675, and her will (dated December 11, 1675) is in the Registry at St. John's, Antigua (lib. C. p. 97.)

She bequeaths to son Henry "all my part of Barbuda Island with all the stock." To son Samuel "all my part and share in [illeg.] and Long Island, with the stock, as well as my part of land and storehouses at St. John's, and my gray Barbuda horse." To dau. Eliz: Williams £6 sterling to buy a tankard. To dau. Sarah Jones ten thousand pounds of muscovado sugar and a silver tankard. To dau. Rebecca Winthrop forty thousand pounds of muscovado sugar (one-quarter of it on her attaining the age of sixteen), "also my side saddle and furniture thereunto belonging & a negro man to wait upon her, likewise ye negro girl named Lucy, and a silver porringer, & all my wearing apparell." To son Stephen "all my part & share of Groton Hall plantation, also a negro named Barabas," but if son Stephen die before he marries the legacies to him to fall to son Samuel. "To Jonas Langford, for his care & trouble in looking after me in my sickness, four thousand pounds of muscovado sugar & my great Bible." My three friends Samuell Jones, Jonas Langford, and Edmund Hull to be overseers. "My will is that true Ministers of ye Gospel, whom ye world in scorn call Quakers, be entertained & accommodated freely, & assisted in what business or occasion they have, from time to time with all courtesy possible."

The son Stephen mentioned in this will died in childhood, and it is noticeable that there is no allusion to Joseph Winthrop, second son of the testatrix, probably for the reason that he was in independent circumstances. He died in the autumn of 1679, and his will (dated October 13, 1679) is on record at St. John's (lib. C. p. 117). He bequeaths to "sister Williams, sister Sarah Jones, & sister Rebecca Byam, £10 each to buy a piece of plate." Residue to wife & dau. but in event of dau.'s decease without issue, then to issue male of brother Samuel, failing which to issue male of brother Henry; "provided that whomsoever of my brother's sons shall enter into my estate shall pay out to Samuel and Thomas Williams my nephews one hundred thousand pounds of sugar to each of them, to my neice Elizabeth Williams three-score thousand pounds of sugar, to my neice Frances St. John fifty thousand pounds of sugar." Major William Barnes and Capt. Samuel Jones to be overseers. Beloved wife Katherine and dear dau. Sarah sole executrixes.

The foregoing are the only two early Winthrop wills which have thus far come to light in Antigua.

In a work entitled "Antigua and the Antiguans," published in London in 1844, and abounding in errors, it is stated that the sons of Samuel Winthrop "inherited a large estate from their father, but by means, it is said, little creditable to the parties concerned, were deprived of their patrimony." There appears to be no evidence of the truth of this statement. The two younger sons, Joseph and Samuel, died while comparatively young men, leaving landed property to heirs female. The eldest son, Henry, became pecuniarily embarrassed and most of his land was sold.

The will of William Milton, or Millden, 1st husband of Samuel W.'s eldest dau., Elizabeth, constitutes Samuel W. one of his executors, and devises one third of his estate "unto my espoused wife, Mrs Elizabeth Winthorpe, daughter of the said Capt. Sam: Winthorpe." Will dated Nov. 11, 1666 (P.C.C. Bence 32; previous probate in Antigua?)

The will of Col. Samuel Jones, husband of Samuel W.'s dau. Sarah, is dated June 15, 1684 and makes her sole heir to over 1,000 acres of land.

The will of Lieut.-Col. Willoughby Byam, husband of Samuel Winthrop's dau. Rebecca, was proved March 21, 1692. He devises his property in trust to his brother, Capt. Edward Byam, and his brothers-in-law, Major Fran: Carlisle and Capt. Sam: Winthrop, for his two sons, William and Samuel, and his three daughters, Dorothy, Elizabeth, and Sarah, "all under age and to be sent to England to be educated." His wife had apparently predeceased him.

Roger Ponder was appointed Rector of Groton, in Suffolk, in 1546 on the presentation of Adam Winthrop, his half brother, the Lord of the Manor and Patron of the Church. In 1558 he was presented to the Rectory of Yeldham Magna in Essex by John de Vere, Earl of Oxford. See "Newcourt's Repertorium," Vol. II., 689.

Chancery Proceedings. Ponder v Mann, 1604.

"John Ponder of Brainktre in the Countie of Essex, gentleman, about the month of ffebruary in the nineteenth yeare of Her late Majestie Queene Elizabeth, did buy of one Joseph Man, then of Brainktre aforesaide, the mannor and capitall messuage called Synnells in Hawsted and Stysted in the saide countie of Essex." It was stipulated that purchaser should be saved from all disturbance of Eleanor the wife of said Joseph Mann. About the month of April in the thirty seventh year of Queen Elizabeth controversies arose which were submitted to arbitrators, and agreements were concluded; Mann to deliver a general release, which was signed on the third of July following. About June, 1603, Mann made his will, leaving goods of great value to Eleanor his relict and executrix, who now demands dower &c. in said lands. In her answer the widow bases her case which is a complicated one, upon the wording of the release. "Compl^t," she says, "is a man lyttered, and noe doubte did reade the deed before he ensealed the same."

From an Indenture, dated 13 Sept. 2 Edward VI. [Close Roll, 4. Ed. 6. 5th part] we learn that Ellen then wife of Richard Owtred but formerly wife of Thomas Ecton of Barking in Essex, had sold lands (late the property of the said Thomas Ecton and of Gabriel Ecton their son) to John Purvey Citizen and leather seller of London. Dorothy Acton, or Ecton, who made the above will and Matthew Owtred were probably children of this Ellen, but the exact relationship to the Sharpes and Winthrops is as yet unknown.

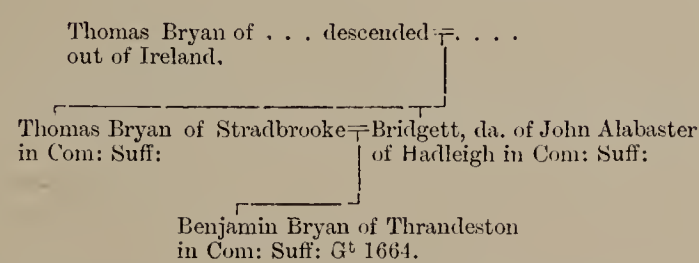
From Sir Edward Bysshe's Visitation of Suffolk, 1664, in the College of Arms.



The Arms of this family are not recorded in the Original Visitation, nor in Harl. MS., 1085.

Alabaster Inscriptions—Hadleigh Church.

On a brass plate, beneath the figure of a man at prayer :—

> "Here lieth buryed Thomas Alabaster, who being about 70 yeares old, whereof having lyved in this Town a Clothier above 40 yeeres, always a godly, vertuous and discreet life, he dyed in the faith of Christ Jesus Our Saviour on the 12th day of Jany 1592."

On a brass plate beneath the figure of a man :—

> "Here lieth buried the Body of John Alabaster, late of this Town, Clothier, who lived a godly & discreet life, & was of a holy conversation, for whose death the rich did mourn & the Poor did much lament. He was kind to the Rich & mercifull to the Poore and lovinge to all: he was twice Mayor of this Town and was married to Mary his wife fifty & one years and had by her tow sons, & nine daughters, and was threescore and sixteen years old, & departed this life the 21st Ap. 1637."

There is another inscription, much defaced, in Latin verse, with some Greek, to the memory of "Johannes Alabaster, mercator . . . MDCLIV." Of him Candler says (Harl. MS. 6071.) "He was grandchild to John last named. John, his father, is yet living this 26 of May 1656. He left one daughter married to William Gilbert Rector of Burnt Elie."

Vesey of Hintlesham.

Armorial Bearings.

Harleian MS. 1820, before alluded to as being, in all probability, Raven's note book during his Visitation of Suffolk, 1611-12, has a sketch on folio 1[b] of the arms of "Vesye, per Cooke 1576":—Ermine, on a cross sable, five martlets or. On fo. 73[b] is the crest of "Vesy, per Cooke":—An arm embowed and couped at the shoulder, erect from the elbow, habited gules, the cuff ermine, holding in the hand proper, five leaves vert; a crescent for difference. Harl. MSS. 891 and 1560 give but four leaves. The eldest branch of the Suffolk family was, as we know, represented by the Veseys of Wix Abbey in Essex. At fo. 2[b] are the arms of "Doyle, wyfe to Vesye":—Gules, three stags' heads, argent, attired or.

The arms of "Vesey of Hintlesham" in the Visitation of 1664, Harl. MS. 1085, had a mullet for difference, their ancestor having been a third son. "Vesey of Bradwell" had his mullet charged with a crescent. "Vesey of Aldham" had a similar shield, with, however, the ominous note appended, "See Raven."

For the claim of the Veseys of Aldham, if indeed they ever made it, to be near cousins of the Hintlesham Veseys, is somewhat doubtful. It is clearly discountenanced by their arms, as tricked by Raven on the very first page of his note book, Harl. MS. 1820; "Vesy, per Cooke": Ermine, on a cross sable, five martlets or, all within a bordure of the last; impaling Church, Argent, on a fess engrailed between three greyhounds' heads erased sable, three trefoils slipped of the last; the crest as before described; the whole being the achievement of the Thomas Vesey of Aldham who married Elizabeth Church of Maldon in Essex, and was living when Raven made his Visitation of Suffolk in 1612.

Risby of Thorpe Morieux.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Risby of Thorpe Morieux, as recorded in Raven's note book (Harl. MS. 1820), during his Suffolk Vistation of 1611-12, were :—"Sable, on a cross voided five billets between four griffins segreant, Or: and the Crest, an arm couped at the shoulder, embowed, in mail proper: in the hand, proper, four ears of wheat, Or, stalked Vert. Harl. MS. 1560, fo. 159, has ears and stalks alike Vert. In the Emblazoned Pedigree of Winthrop, on page 9, which is confessedly faded and discoloured, the billets are not apparent. Other modifications of this coat are given in the Heraldic Dictionaries.

But in Bysshe's Visitation of Suffolk, 1664, the Arms of Risby are altogether different, viz. :—Gules, on a bend Argent, three cross croslets Sable. They are so tricked in Harl. MS. 1085, which gives the Arms of the Suffolk and Essex families in the Visitations of that year, and in the corresponding MS. at the College of Arms. This shield, with occasional modifications, is carved on the Risby tombstones in the churches of Thorpe Morieux and Felsham, together with a Crest, On a chapeau, a goat passant. Add. MS. 19,088 fo. 287, and Add. MS. 19,019 fo. 84.

Risby Pedigree: Harl. MS., 1174.

The Risby pedigree, Harl. MS. 1174, fo. 88b, inexact as it is, has been followed more or less closely by other ancient MSS. and possesses much genealogical value. It is in the handwriting of Henry Lilly, Rouge Croix, ante 1638. With this agrees the most part of the Risby pedigree, Harl. MS. 1560.

Will of John Risby, 1687.

I John Risby of Thorpe Morieux in the county of Suff. Esqr make this my last will this 27 April 1687. I have lately leavied a ffine of my estate and declare the same to be to the onely use of me & my heires for ever. I have a great confidence in Elizabeth my deare wife and hopeing that she, by her care and prudence, will soe order my estate as provision may be made for raising of portions for my children, and for theire educacõn and maintenance, I declare my mind to be that the said Elizabeth shall receive the rents of all my manors for the six yeares next comeing after my decease, and make sale of soe much of my goods as she shall please for payment of portions to be given to my six daughters, Elizabeth Risby, Margaret Risby, Jane Risby, Mary Risby, Anne Risby and Catherine Risby. If not sufficient, I will the lands in Elmsett of William Smith Esqr deceased shall be sold and the money be employed by my said wife. I devise unto Heigham Risby, my second son, one yearely rent of forty pounds during life out of mesuage in Therpe Morieux. Unto Charles Risby, my youngest son, one other like annuity out of messuage in ffelsham. I request that my wife accept of one hundred and twenty pounds per ann^o for life in lieu of her Dower. My Mannors &c. unto John Risby my eldest sonne for fourscore and nineteen yeares if he shall soe long live, and after the determination of that estate then to the use of Jeffry Maltiward Esqr and Robert Maltiward Esqr and theire heyres to preserve the contingent use. For default of issue male of the body of the said John Risby I give the same land unto the said Heigham Risby my second sonne and heyres of his body, and for default of such to Charles Risby my sonne and to the heires of his body and for default of such unto my six daughters and their respective heyres for ever equally to be divided. My cheife Mansion house called Thorpe Hall (and) those my lands in Elmesett, fflowton and Hindlesham, late the said William Smiths, unto the said John Risby my son and his heires for ever. Probatum Sexti die May 1687 Juramento Elizæ Relictæ et unicæ Execut. P.C.C. 67 Foote.

By his will, 8 July 1662, proved in the Registry of the Archdeaconry of Sudbury, (Rex Redux, fo. 389) William Smith Esqr of Elmsett, left his lands to John Risbie of Thorpe Morieux, the husband of Elizabeth Cornwallis his granddaughter. The Visitation of Suffolk, 1611, describes him as son and heir of Adrian Smyth. He had then two daughters, Sarah and Elizabeth. The former he specially commends to the care of his executors. The latter married Francis Cornwallis Esqr of Yorkshire, and became the mother of Elizabeth Risby.

Sñia [Sententia or Decree] inter John Duke ex^or^ et Judith Snelling rele.

P.C.C. 48 Meade.

By his Inquisition Post Mortem (Palmer's Calendars, 100, fo. 424) it would appear that John Snelling, who died 8 March, 15 James I., was seized of the manor of Shimplingthorne, co. Suffolk, and of lands in Suffolk and Essex. Anne his daughter and sole heiress, wife of John Duke, M.D., being then thirty years of age.

In the 38th year of Queen Elizabeth John Snelling, in conjunction with Philip Gostlin (whose son, Thomas Gostlin, married one of the daughters of the third Adam Winthrop), founded the free grammar school of Boxford. The charter establishing this institution will be given, with the other evidences of the Gostlin family, further on.

Will of John Duke of Colchester, 1629.

I John Duke of Colchester, desirous to performe the dutie of a Christian man to leaue myne estate in such a certaintie as that there maie be noe differenee about the same after my death, doe make my will in forme following. And first I bequeath my soule to my good god, from whom I certainely expect everlastinge happines by the all sufficient sacrifice of my lord Jesus Christ. And for my bodie my will is that without pompe it be comitted to the earth. I togeather with my beloved wief, Anna Duke, haue already ioyned in the settlinge of my landes, beinge freehould, in Essex and Suffolke, vpon our three children, Mary, Elizabeth and Judith. Anne my wief shall haue my coppihould landes and tenements in Bildeston and Nedginge in the countie of Suffolk, and in little Bromley in the countie of Essex, duringe the terme of her naturall lief, and after her decease the same shall remayne to the vse of my daughter Judith Duke, and for default of yssue to the vse of Mary Wright wief of Lawrence Wright, Doctor of Physieke, and Elizabeth Duke, my daughters, their heires and assignes for ever. To the said Anna Duke my wief my coppihould wood called ffroste grove in Langham in the countie of Essex, and after her decease to Elizabeth Duke my daughter. All the lands and tenements lying in Norfolke, which I purchased of Mr ffountaine, vnto the aforesaid Anne my wief, vpon condieon that the saide Anne be bound for the true payment vnto my three daughters Marie, Elizabeth, and Judith of all legacies. Vnto my daughter Marie one hundreth and fiftie pounds; and to each of my daughters, Elizabeth and Judith fortie pounds p ann. vntill their severall ages of twentie yeares and one or marriage daies, and paying also vnto each, at their severall ages of twentie yeares and one, the sõme of seaven hundreth pounds a peeee, in full satisfaccon of the last will of John Snelling their grandfather. I giue and bequeath to my lovinge sonne Lawrence Wright all my bookes except my English books, which I giue to my wife to dispose of to her children. To my welbeloued cosens Mr John Winthrop and William Armitage, to either of them three poundes to make them rings; whom I make supervisors. To the two children of Prudenee Thorne my sisters daughters deceased, to either of them thirtie shillings. To Anna Hm̃ffrey five poundes. To the poore of Colchester twentie poundes. All my goodes, Jewells, and household stuffe, to my well beloued wief, Anna Duke, for life: after her dicease to my three daughters or their posteritie, as my said wief shall dispose vnto them by her last will. I ordaine said wief sole executrix to see my children brought vpp in good nurture and the feare of the lord vntill they be married. This my will I haue written with myne owne hand and published the thirtie daie of Aprill 1629. There is due to the executors of Maeillis Greenerice, fower score ster [sic] of lawfull money of England: my will is that that sõme shall be paid by myne executrix. I giue to Marie Wright my daughter all my eoppihould land in Lexden neere Colchester. To Judith Duke my eoppihould land in little Bently, and for want of yssue, to the right heires of me the said John Duke. And whereas my will was dated before the last of Aprill, this was thus perfeeted the first daie of May. Gyles ffirmin, a witness. Probatum 27 Junij 1629, juramento Anne Duke relicte et exeeutricis. Humblye complaynyng sheweth vnto yor honors Henry Sackford Esquyre, one of the Maysters of her Maties privie Purse. Yo^r^ orator by casualtie of shipwreacke is become greatlye impouͥyshed and indebted; namely to one Henry Browne & one Phyllip Gostling of Boxford in the countye of Suffolke, clothyers, to one Henrye Vyntner of Edwardstone in the sayd countye &c., &c. in great sumes of money. Which debts oryginally grewe for clothes and other wares wch yor orator was enforced to take vpp vppon many a hard penyworth; yett yor orator entendeth to make full satisfactyon yf there myght be reasonable tyme ꝑmytted vnto hym. And further yor orator standeth indebted vnto her Matie by reason of money by hym received; for the payment of wch yor orators lands and goods are fyrst lyable. Also yor orator is an Accomptant in her Maties Court of Eschequer & ought to haue the priviledge of the sayd Court. But so yt is that the aforesayd Henry Browne, Phyllip Gostlyng, &c. &c. haue comeñced their seuͥall suyts agaynst yor orator at the com̃on lawe, entending his vtter vndoing. May yt please yor good Lp^s^ to grant the Quenes Maties gracious wrytte of Subpen⁹ to be directed to the sayd Henrye Browne &c. comaũnding them to appeare in the Quenes Court of Eschequer, and to desist from sueing yor orator at the com̃on lawe. And yor sayd orator shall dailie praye vnto almyghtie God for the ꝑspous estates & long lyves of yor hono^rs^.

The Jointe & seuͥall Aunsweare of Henrye Browne & Phillipe Goslyn & Henrye Vyntener defendtę. Phillipe Goslyn sayeth that he did sell vnto Thomas Calthrope and Michael Stacye, deputies for Compl^t^, about fortye brod colored clothes for two hundreth and thirtye pounds, of which ther remayneth dewe the some of fortye pounds wch this Defend^t^ hath gentlye required of the Pl^t^, but hath receyved verye hard speaches. Whervppon this Defend^t^ hath comenced suyte in her Maties Court of Comoñ Plees as he thinketh lawfull is for hym to doe. And Henry Browne sayeth that in or about the nynetenth yeare of the Quen's raigne he did sell vnto the said Thomas Caltrope and Michaell Stacye fortye colored brod clothes, and receyved money at dyuͥse tymes, so as ther remayneth dewe unto him the some of eight and thirtye poundes And Henrye Vyntener sayeth that he did sell for the Compl^ts^ vse dyuͥse brod colored clothes, & ther remayneth dewe one hundreth and fyve pounds. And the said Defd^ts^ sayen that they are well contented yf Compl^t^ will put in good suertye to paye their seuͥall debts wth reasonable costs and will staye their suyts; otherwise by protracte of tyme their wittnesses or the Compl^t^ maye dye; and then they shalbe w^th^out remedye. Fones of Cornwall.

The ancient document, endorsed "Thos Fones his 'pedigre' which is here given verbatim, was found amongst the papers of Governor John Winthrop. It is evidently based upon the Fones pedigree in the Visitation of Cornwall, 1620, with which it is now collated (Harl. MS. 1162). It appears to have been compiled in or about 1629. In the margin is a sketch of the Fones shield:- -two eagles displayed in chief, with a mullet in base. Opposite the first marriage of Thomas Fones is a rough tricking of Fones impaling Winthrop:—a lion rampant superposed upon three chevrons.

Will of Philip Gostlin, 1629.

The fower and twentieth day of ffebruary, 1629, I Phillip Gostlin of Romford in the Countie of Essex, Clothier, considering the certainety of death, and the vneertainety of the tyme how soone or suddenly it maye please God to call me, have therefore ordayned and made this my will. ffirst I doe commend my soule into the hands of Allmightie God, trusting through Christ's merritts that my sinnes are forgiven, and that at the last day I shall appeare amongst the holy elect children of God. And my body I comitt to the earth from whence it came, thither to be brought in that Christian forme of buryall as becometh a playne man's corps. Item I give vnto Mary Gostlin my wife fower parcells of pasture or wood called Hekeses, conteyning twenty acres or more in the parish of Groton in the Countie of Suffolke, for life, and after her death to the issue of mee the said Phillip and Mary my wife. Alsoe I give unto Mary the goods that are in the George at Romford. Item I give vnto Phillip Gostlin my sonne one messuage or farm house called Goodines and Hasetes conteyning thirtie two acres more or less. Alsoe my seale ringe wch was given me by my ffather. Item I give and bequeath to my sonne Steven Gostlin one pcell of land called Balerds, and alsoe one hundred pounds to be paid him by his vncle Steven Cooke. More, I give vnto Mary my now wife all my bills and bonds. To the poore of Groton twenty shillings. Vnto the poore of the towne of Romford twentie shillings. Item I give to Mr Mosse for a sermon at my funerall tenne shillings. Item I doe make my ffather ffish of Romford to be overseer of this my will. Item I doe make Mary my wife to be my whole executrix. And if it shall happen she the said Mary to die and leave noe issue of our two bodies then the said land formerly given shalbe equallie divided betweene my two sonnes, they paying to my wives sonne Richard Norris, tenne pounds. Rich: ffish Scrip: Probatum sexto die Decembris 1631 Juramento Marie Gostlin Relicti et Executricis. P.C.C. 133 St. John.

Ballards, Goodwyns and Hersents were the property of the second Adam Winthrop, temp. Edward the Sixth, and were holden of the Honour of Clare (see page 33). In 1604, Philip Gostlin of Groton, the testator's father, who had purchased Goodwyn's and Hersants of one Robert Dixon, sued Jasper Huggins, the husband of Dixon's widow, for recovery of the title deeds, under colour of which the Huggins had stripped the premises and even secretly sold them (James I. B. & A., G. 4. 73). The Chancery Bill is signed by the third Adam Winthrop, who was counsel for the plaintiff, and evidently won the case.

Thomas Gostlin of Groton, 1612—1649.

Thomas Gostlin, a Suffolk clothier, was married at Groton, 5 January, 1612, to Jane, second daughter of the third Adam Winthrop. The births of twelve children, which followed this union, are recorded in the parish registers or the Winthrop Diary. Alice, the youngest, was baptised on the tenth of April, 1636. In a letter to his brother-in-law, John Winthrop, dated Groton, March 2, 1639, Thomas Gostlin explains his reasons for not having carried out his purpose of emigrating to New England. At the outset his wife was indisposed to go, and now that she is willing their means will not admit of it. He adds "we have a great desyer to send you yor godson, or sonn John, to be imployed by you, & indeed we had sent him now but for want of moneys." There is no record, however, that John Gostlin came over, and he died in or before 1649, as appears by a letter from his father in that year to John Winthrop, Junr., in which occurs the following passage:—"We have lost many of or family since your departure[1]: my sonn Willis, my sonn John, my daughter Mary, my sonn Wolfe,—these are all gone. The Lord fit us for or change . . . My wife desyors to be remembered to you all. My cosen Stephen Winthrops wife also desyors to be remembered. She hath bin wth me above this halfe yeare. Her husband is in Wales. She laye in heere & hathe a fine girle. My daughter Willis hath changed her name to Bretland. She is married into the north. She sent writings to y^{r} father concerning some estate she should have in Virginia. I praye doe what you can for her."

[1] This is since 1644, when John Winthrop, Jun., was last in England.

Confirmatory of the above is a letter from Anne Willis about her claim to an estate in Virginia, originally granted to William Willis, deceased, and then in the occupation of Justinian Cooper. There is also a power of attorney, in which she is described as "Ann Willis of Chettle in the county of Dorset, widdowe of Nathaneall Willis deceased." A Zachariah Willis, presumably a brother of her husband, joins in the power.

One, at least, of the children of Thomas Gostlin and Jane Winthrop seems to have settled in America. In a letter from Mrs. Emmanuel Downing to her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Winthrop, written from Salem in New England, without date, but probably in 1639, she says:—"I hear Margaret Gostlin and my Nan is a cominge [from England], and nowe I shall be over mayded. I hear you want one: if you doe, I should be glad she might serv you till some of our children or seruants wear disposed of. She doth all the worst worke in her mothers howes and is very servisable." Margaret Gostlin would then have been about twenty years of age. She subsequently married . . . Heathcote. For an interesting letter from her in Antigua, June 27, 1665, see "Massachusetts Historical Society's Proceedings," Series 2, vol. v.

Benjamin Gostlin, 1615—1679.

As told in the Winthrop correspondence, the story of Benjamin Gostlin, the honest sea-captain of the seventeenth century, is very characteristic of the times he lived in. Baptized at Groton on the 9th of May, 1615, the son of Thomas Gostlin and Jane Winthrop, his wife, he became a sailor whilst yet in his teens. Under date of March 1, 1635 (old style), Emmanuel Downing writes to John Winthrop, Jun., afterwards Governor of Connecticut, "Ben Gostlyn is like to prove a proper seaman. He is returned out of the Streights and gone to sea againe. His master useth him like a sonne, and the youth would not change his course of life for any other. So soon as he shalbe out of his tyme, he intends to see New England."

On the 6th of March, 1639 (1640), Benjamin Gostlin himself writes from London, to his uncle, John Winthrop, Governor of Massachusetts, "I shold be verry gladd of some good occation to come to Newe England that I might injoy y^{r} sweete society, but as yett I am in soe good imployment & in soe hopefull a waye that I shold be much blameable if I shold thrust my selfe out of it , . . I have bin at home these 6 months, but am now bound for Rushia & from thence to Leghorne."

Two months later (May 8, 1640) he writes his uncle again, saying he has been delayed, but expects to sail in ten days. He sends as a present "a small rondlett of rise and 2 jarrs of oyle." The letter shows him to have been a religious man, with some interest in politics. "The Lord be mercyfull unto us," he exclaims, "& turne the Kinge's hart, or else to this land, in my foolish judgement, is nothing to be expected but confushion."

April 14, 1657, Colonel Stephen Winthrop, M.P., writes from London to his brother John in New England, "Cosin Ben Gostlin is come rich & safe from the East Indye, but is goeinge thither againe." Stephen Winthrop died in the following year, and no later letter of his is preserved.

Sept. 12, 1658, John Winthrop, Governor of Connecticut, writes his son, Fitz-John Winthrop, then a Lieutenant in Monk's army:—"There is a kinsman of ours, Capt. Gostlin, a captaine of a ship was last yeare at ye East Indies. If he be come home, enquire of his welfare, and of his father and mother and brothers and sisters. His father lived at Groton in Suffolke, where your grandfather Winthrop and we lived. His mother was your grandfather Winthrop's owne sister. I should be glad to heare of them all. If you are in Scotland, your Aunt Downing, I believe, knoweth them all. His name is Capt. Benjamin Gostlin. He liveth, I suppose, about Ratcliffe, or thereabouts. Every merchant or sea capt: upon the Exchange knoweth him and can tell where he is."

June 29, 1604, Benjamin Gostlin writes Captain Fitz-John Winthrop (both being then in London) "My body is so bruised with a blow y^t I rec̃ed from a horse y^t I am incapeable of mountinge the guard this daye; therefore request yon to doe it for me, and I shall send you a horse, with all things requiset, by this boy, to be reddy in the millitary grounde by 2 of the clk. If you can borrow a buff cote, it will be better than if I send mine, because mine will be too shorte." Fitz-John Winthrop's regiment had recently been disbanded, which accounts for his being without a horse and uniform.

Nov. 25, 1661, the widow of Emmanuel Downing writes from East Hatley in Cambridgeshire to her nephew, John Winthrop, then in London as Agent for Connecticut, "I am sorry to hear of my nephew and neece Gostlin's sickness. Quarterns are not civille agues: they will out tarry their wellcome. I pray, if opertunity present, my servis to my deare sister and them all: I doubt not of her much joy to see you; and to Collonell Winthrops wyfe when you see her." The persons here referred to are Benjamin Gostlin, his wife, and his mother, Jane Gostlin (born Winthrop), the writer's sister.

Feb. 15, 1663 (1664), Mrs. Emmanuel Downing writes from East Hatley to John Winthrop, Governor of Connecticut:—My son Peters wrote mee word latley that not long since hee had seen Captaine Gozlin, & y^t my nephew had lately made a purchase of an hundred pounds p^r An. neer Groton; y^t hee & his wife & children were purposed to go and live in that, & that my sister and one of her daughters should continue in his house where he now lives at Stratford." It would appear from this that Thomas Gostlin, the Captain's father, had been some time dead, and that Jane Gostlin, his mother, was not living at Groton, but in her son's house, probably at Stratford Langthorne in Essex. For we learn from a Fine, made in Easter term, 1657, that the latter had bought, some six years before, three messuages, eight cottages, a barn, two gardens and nineteen acres of land in the adjoining township of West Ham, of which Stratford Langthorne is a well-known hamlet. The Fine of the purchase of the property in Groton, the place of his birth and early associations, will be given hereafter.

Feb. 8, 1667 (1668). Captain Robert Morris, variously styled "mariner" and "merchant," writes John Winthrop in New England about some brood mares for a plantation in Maryland. He adds, "If you charge bills, I live where you knowe, in Radcliffe over against the stone taverns. Brother Gostlin was verry ill when I wont from home, and his good wife is dead, and I fear the children will not find him to have so great an estate as wos thought for. All men that he hath to doe with cheate him." The "brother Gostlin" here referred to must have been Benjamin, who may have married a sister of the writer.

Oct. 6, 1679, was proved the will (P.C.C. 129 King), dated Oct. 31, 1672, of "Benjamin Gostlin of Leigh in the County of Essex, mariner." He devises to his son, Thomas Gostlin, all his lands, free or copyhold, in Groton and Kersey in the County of Suffolke. To his daughter Judith, wife of Zachary Gellum, his house in Moorefields in the County of Middlesex. Said Judith to be residuary legatee and sole executrix. There can hardly be a doubt that this was the "cousin Ben Gostlin" of the Winthrop papers.

Downing of Ipswich.

Armorial Bearings.

In his collections towards a pedigree of the Downings of East Hatley, Le Neve ("Baronets," vol. III., p. 128, College of Arms) states that "Godfrey Downing of the County of the City of Norwich" bore "Barry of 10 arg. and vert.; over all a griffon segreant volant or."

Armorial seals of Emmanuel Downing, his wife, Lucy, and their son, Sir George Downing, (of which fac-similes have been published by the Massachusetts Historical Society), establish the fact that they used the arms attributed to this Godfrey Downing by Le Neve.

The arms of Downing of Norfolk, as given in the Visitations of that county, "Harl. MS." No. 1552, fo. 219^{b}, were, Barry of eight, argent and vert., a gryphon segreant or.: and the Crest, An arm, embowed, habited in mail proper, tied round the wrist with a riband or, and holding in the hand an arrow argent, barbed and flighted gold. These arms were used by the two Calibut Downings, father and son, in 1613.

The precise relationship between the Norfolk and Suffolk Downings, however, has not yet been ascertained, and has been the subject of much misconception and misstatement. The sixth volume of the Fourth Series of the "Massachusetts Historical Society's Collections" contains fifty-six letters of Emmanuel Downing and four of Sir George Downing. The first volume of the Fifth Series of the said "Collections" contains an additional letter of Emmanuel Downing, forty-two letters of his second wife (Lucy Winthrop), one of his daughter Mary, two of his daughter Martha, one of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joshua Downing, and three of her husband, one letter of the Rev. Joseph Downing, brother of Emmanuel, and three of Charles Downing, grandson of Emmanuel.

Letters to or from Emmanuel Downing and his brother Joshua are also to be found in the first volume of the "Life and Letters of John Winthrop;" while in the second of the volumes of "Historical Collections" already cited, and partly in the ninth volume of the Third Series, are nineteen letters of Francis Kirby (husband of Susanna Downing), which abound in references to his wife's family.

The pedigree of Downing of Ipswich and of Gamlingay, co. Cambridge, which will be found a page or two further on, is based upon probate and parish records, and upon the very numerous Downing letters just referred to, collated with Le Neve's Downing pedigree in the College of Arms.

Munning of Nedging.

Armorial Bearings.

Munnings (or Monyns), B. a shield (or inescocheon) Arg. within an orle of (☽) increscents Or, quartered with Or, on a pile in point between an increscent and a decrescent (☽ ☾) G., a crescent (⌣) of the first.

This family is very antient. They were of Monkes Ely and of Nedging, but have long since almost worne out. One of that family (but of no very great ranke) lived in Bury St. Edmonds in the time of K. Charles; and William Munnings, clarke, is now rector of Preston, sonne of Humfrey Munnings, clarke, minister of Brettenham, who was one of the most grave, learned and pious ministers of this County. The most eminent place in Preston church is given to the coat of this family; yet I knowe none of any very great estate of that name in Suff: this yeare 1659.

So writes Candler in his list ("Tanner MS." Lib. Bodleian, 226) of "The names and armes of sundry of the gentlemen of chiefest account in the County of Suff: as their coates were set vp by Robert Reice Esq3 (a most accomplisht gentleman) in the church windowes of Preston in Suff., about the latter end of the reigne of K. James or the beginning of the reigne of K. Charles." Rice, who spelt his name in various ways,—Reice, Ryce and Ryece—was a man of comfortable fortune, who, having no children, took to studying the family antiquities of his neighbourhood. "The will of man," he writes, "hath found out the means to perpetuate the Reverend memory of his honorable friends departed, by erecting unto them the lively counterfeiting resemblances, effigies, pyramids, epitaphs and monuments, as doth plentifully appear in our churches." Extending this idea, he began to decorate the church of his own parish in heraldic fashion. He "set up the Royall armes of England in a faire table," and then proceeded to depict the escutcheons of the gentry around him on its walls and windows. These he has described with much quaintness in his "Breviary of Suffolk," a charming account of the county which still exists amongst the Jermyn MSS. "Mooning," for so he writes the word, bore "Qr̃tly, 1 & 4, An inset escocheon or, betwn 8 Turkish Moons increscents ○ ; 2 & 3, ○, a crescent ○ on a pile in point, betw. an increscent and a decrescent G."

Amongst the many shields on his tombstone in the chancel is Rice, quartering Strangman. and impaling "Mouning, an escocheon betw. 9 increscents, 4, 2, 2, 1."

Many of these shields were still in existence when Davy visited Preston in the earlier part of the present century. Indeed Rice took some care that they should not fade too rapidly, for in his will dated 11 Feb. 1638 [P.C.C. 36 Harvey] he bequeathed to "William Mills of Lanham, painter and glazier, forty shillings, with all my boxes of Painting Colours, that he do from time to time renew and amend, as need shall require, the decays of colours, words, letters, compartments and forms of those tables, writings and inscriptions, which he hath at any time made for me, as they are fixed in the Parish church or chancell of Preston aforesaid." It is clear Rice thought much of his Munning descent. He makes especial mention of his Munning kinsmen in his will:—"To my cousin Mr William Munninge, late resident at Sir Henry Mildmayes in the County of Essex" (who also calls him "cousin" in his turn[1]). "More, I give unto him my copyhold meadow in Monkes Illigh, commonly called Skipp's meadow, and now in the occupation of Katherine Munninge, widow; he to sell it and divide the proceeds between three of his sisters, Ann, Katherine and Ellen Munning, so as one half shall go to Anne Munninge, aged, lame and impotent, and the other half to Katherine and Ellen. To Thomas Munning, sometime my servant. To my cousins Rice Munning and his sister the wife of Francis Lucas." For many interesting letters from Robert Rice to Gov. John Winthrop, see Vol. i. of the latter's "Life and Letters," and Vol. vi. of the Fourth Series of the "Massachusett's Historical Society's Collections."

"But what noble Buildings these were before the Dissolution of the Priory, may be guessed at by the Gate-house & other Ruins remaining to this day. Out of which arose the Mansion House now called the Abbey. 'Tis an old decayed irregular structure . . . having but one wing on the Front, and a Portall adorned with some Pilasters of the Dorick Order, two below and as many above, all of Freestone, as is also the Entablement. Over the Door are the Arms of Forthe; Gules two bends vairè, on a canton ore a demi-greyhound currunt sable; impaled with Glemham; Ore, a chevron gules between three Torteaux; and on each side thereof their Crests.

"The Gate hath for Ornament two Pilasters & their Pedestals of Freestone, together with the following Arms. First, a little above the Pilasters on the Outside, Forth, & three Lyoncells rampant; [Powell]. Under the Pediment a Lyon rampant [Morley]; and a little above the Pilasters on the Inside; 1. Three flowers de lis [Gwaringdn]; 2. On a cross five mullets [Brokenspear]; and under the Pediment, A chevron between three Moor's Heads, couped at the shoulders, and as many snakes wrapped about their necks [Vaughan].

"The Wainscot in the Dyning Room hath been very Magnificent & ornamentall, painted of a Copper Colour & adorned with fluted Columns & Pilasters of the Dorick Order; the whole very copiously embellished with Gilding; the gold being reported not to have cost less than fifty pounds. The Cieling is adorned with Pannels of Crochett work, and the windows with Coats of Arms of Stained glass. The East window contains these: 1. Umphreys :—Gules a lyon rampant ore, armed and langued azure, a Ducal coronet in Chief of the second; impaled with Frere, Ore two leopards faces in pale gules, between two flaunches of the Second. 2. Musket :—Argent, six leopards faces gules, three two and one, between two bars of the second; impaled with Cock :—Ore a fess between two lyons passant, gules, armed and langued azure. And in the North window are these :— 1. Musket, empaled with Cannon :—Gules a Bend argent between two Cottises ore charged with a Torteaux: 2. Umphreys impaled with Dandy :—Quarterly Azure and ore, on the first a mullet of the second: 3. Umphreys impaled with Musket: 4. Musket impaled with Abel :—Argent a saltire engrailed azure. And under the Pediment of the Door Case in the same Room are two Coats quarterly. 1 & 4. Forth; 2 & 3. Party per chevron, sable & argent, two covered Cups in chief of the second, and three Spiders in base of the first: impaled with Gules a Lyon passant ore, armed and langued azure: with a Crest of Forth: a Bears Head erased sable, muzzled Ore."

The Humphries were connections and probably ancestors of John Clyatt who married Elizabeth Devereux the ultimate heiress of the Forthes.

Harl. MS., No. 1820.

The Forthe pedigree in Harl. MS. 1820, which is supposed to have been the note book used by Raven during the progress of his Visitation, agrees with the official record in the Herald's College. The tricking of arms which accompanies the latter is Quarterly of Six; 1, Forthe; Gules two bends vaire argent and sable: on a canton or a demi-greyhound couped, courant of the third: 2, Powell; Per pale azure and gules three lions rampant argent: 3, Brokenspeare; Argent on a cross gules five mullets or: 4, Gwaringdu; Per pale azure and sable three fleur de lys or: 5, Morley; Argent a lion rampant sable crowned gules: 6, Vaughan; Sable three boys heads couped at the shoulders proper, crined or, having snakes enwrapped about their necks vert. Harl. MS. 1560, fo. 276^b, gives an additional quartering:—Odiam; Per chevron ermine and ermines, three covered cups; the two in chief sable, and the one in base argent. This follows immediately upon Forthe, preceding Powell and the rest.

Chancery Proceedings, Forth c. Bode, 1654.

James fforth of New Windsor in the countie of Berkshire, gentleman, complaynant. One John fforth late Citizen and Clothworker of London your Orators vncle, your Orator being his next heire, about twelve yeares last past was seized of the moytie of a ffarme howse and fforty five acres of land called Birds in Boreham in the countie of Essex and of two messuages in Chelmesford and of a messuage and fifty acres of land called Wheelors in Dunnyland in the said Countie of Essex. By the persuation of John Bode of Dabbington Priory in the countie of Kent, then gentleman now Esquier, the said John fforth, without any peny or other consideration giuen, by deed indented sold said premisses to the said John Bode and his heires for ever upon trust that the said Bode permit Susan Golding, now deceased, grandmother to your Orator, whose heire also yor Orator is, to enjoy said premisses during her life ; but if the said John fforth should tender sixpence to the said John Bode in the presence of witnesses at the Royal Exchange in London this conveyance should be void. John fforth had nothing in the world, as this assurance had stripped him of all his meanes. Having tendered the sixpence some yeares after, but not according to the precise words, he dyed. Bode now claymeth tytle to said lands.

Answer of John Bode. John fforth had no issue. He sold said land out of respect to Susan Goulding his naturall mother. She had given him great somes of money and he desired to recompence her, but his merchandice beyond the seas had twice miscarried, both times by pirates. Having little or nothing but what his said mother allowed him, hee the said John fforth did sell said lands vnto this defendant, but Defendant never knew or heard of the Indenture until after John fforth's death, when Susan Gouldinge, being this Defendants aunte, did soiourne with Defendant in the summer time and did acquaint Defendant with the Indenture. Said Indenture was taken in Defendant's name in trust for the said Susan. Defendant hath beene at great charge and trouble uppon severall occasions on her behalfe. She was then wife of Thomas Gouldinge the elder of Poslingford in Suffolk Esquier, and the Bargaine was not taken in her owne name, Gouldinge being so ill an husband that he and the said Susan then lived asunder. Because Defendant was sickly and might die the said Susan desired that said lands might be conveyed to other trustees. So another Indenture was made 3d Novr 1623 betwene this Defendant on the first parte, said Susan Gouldinge and one Richard Vernon the elder, citizen and mercer of London on the seconde parte, and Sir Edward Boys the yonger of Norrington co. Kent Knight, John Wynthrope of Groton Esquier, George Brooke of East Dunnylande co. Kent Esquier, and Thomas Aylett of Revenhall co. Essex gentleman on the third parte. In this Indenture Susan granted Wheelers to the said Sir Edward Boys, John Wynthrope, &c. for the terme of one thousand years, they payeing vnto this Defendant yearely one pepper corne and suffering the said Susan peaceably to hould Wheelers, and immediately from the death of this Defendant the said Susan to permit the said Richard Vernon and ffrances his wife (daughter of the said Susan Gouldinge and of Edward fforthe Esquier former husband of said Susan) to have Wheelers with reversion to Edward Vernon, Richard Vernon the younger and John Vernon, sonnes of the said Richard and ffrances his wife, and they having no issue, with remainder to Henry Smith, Susan Smith and Katherine Smith, children of Robert Smith citizen and grocer of London and Thomasine his wife, another daughter of the said Susan Goulding. The said Susan further assured the moytie of the messuage and forty five acres called Birds to this Defendant, he to paye one hundred pounds to Sybell fforthe her grandchilde yf Charles fforthe her brother be dead without issue. After the making of said Indenture Sybbil fforthe did marry Cornelius Holland of the citty of Westminster Esquier, and before 1631 when the said Susan Gouldinge made her last will, Thomas Gouldinge her husband beinge then dead. Susan Goulding died on the 30th of Marche in the tenth yeare of the raigne of his Matie that nowe is. Defendant takes it to be true that Complaynant is next heire vnto the said John fforthe and Susan Gouldinge. Defendant hath in his hands and custodie the said parte of said tripartite Indenture and said Deed poll made by this Defendant and a coppie of the will of Thomas Bode and a coppie of the Indenture of Bargain and Sale and a coppy of the will of Edward fforthe gentleman grandfather of Complaynant and husband of said Susan; and Defendant takes it that said Edward fforthe hath devised said lands vnto said Susan for her life and after her deceass to said John fforthe and his heires for ever. He denieth that said John fforthe did at any time tender the some of sixe pence for the avoydinge of said Indenture. Charles I., B. & A., FF. 18-49.

Chancery Proceedings, Bode v. Forth, 1655.

John Bode of Davington Priory in the county of Kent gentleman, complaynant. George Crimble of Stambridge in the county of Essex, gentleman, your Orators late grandfather, was seased of divers messuages lands and tenements in Stambridge and elsewhere in Essex of the clear value of three hundred pounds yearly. He made his will on the second daye of Aprill 1570, devising these lands to George Crimble his sonne and for want of issue of said sonne to Grace Susan and Mary Crimble his daughters for their lives, and then to Richard Crimble said grandfathers brother and the heirs males of his body lawfully begotten; for lack of such he left them to William Crimble his cozen and the heirs males of his body; failing these to the heirs of the Crimbles being males for ever; and in default of heirs males to the right heires of the said George Crimble the testator. Grace Crimble was his daughter by his first wife, whoe brought a great porcõn vnto the said George Crimble the grandfather, and George, Susan and Mary Crimble were children by his second wife. The said Mary died shortlie after without issue, and Grace married William Bode of Rotchford gentleman and by him had your Orator. Shortlie after said grandfathers death the said George Crimble his sonne entered into his lands and long since died without issue. By virtue of said grandfathers will his lands came unto the said Susan as the sole survivor of his daughters, as Mary and Grace died in the lifetime of George the sonne. So Suzan entered into the said lands. She lived until March 1634; before whose death the said Richard Crymble and William Crymble died without issue: and all the heires males of the Crymbles were dead without issue before the death of said Susan. By reason whereof one moyitie did come vnto your Orator as son and heir of said Grace Crimble, and the other moyitie to the right heirs of said Susan—Grace and Susan being the only surviving children of said George Crimble the testator, and your Orator heire generall of said George Crimble. But soe it is that one James ffoorth of Windsor in the Countie of Berkshire first pr̃tending himself to be grandchild and heire of said Susan and having gotten into his hands the original will & writings deeds & evidences—on death of said Susan did enter in vpon the lands, &c., and take rents as sole heire of George Crymble the testator. Now Grace yor Orators mother was sole heire of Crymble by his 1st wife, who brought a great porcõn in marriage, and said Susan was daũ of Crymble by his second wife. Your Orator ought to have at least as great a share as the said James fforth. fforthe also pretends William Crimble did suffer a Recovery: he hath cutt timber, &c., &c.

Answer of James ffoorth Esquire 1635. George Crimble the testator was seised of messuages &c. in Much Stambridge, Prittlewell, Inworth, Rocheford, Rawrith, Wickford, and Chelmysford. Complainant deriveth only by heires ffemale, knowing well that there be left heires males of the Crymbles, this alone overthrowing his pr̃tended title. After making his will, said George Crymble the elder, George his sonne, Richard Crymble & the said Grace and Mary Crymble all dyed. Only Susan (defendant's mother) and William Crymble were left, Susan being survivor of the daughters to whom the lands were left for life, and William Crymble the next in tayle. Thomasine, the last wife of said George Crymble the testator having for her dower the lands called ffynches in Much Stambridge, and Susan aforesaid holding the residue for life only, the remainder being William Crymble. William Crymble having the freehold vested in him by John fforth who had married the said Thomasyn, and by Edward fforth who had married the said Susan, in Easter Term 26 Elizabeth the said Edward fforth did Recover the premisses against him the said William Crymble by Cõmon Recovery, by the name of ten messuages, eight gardens, eighty acres of land, ten acres of meadow, sixty acres of pasture, four acres of wood and twenty acres of ffresh marsh—as appeareth in the Records of said Court. By Indenture tripartite 6 May 26 Elizth said Wm Crymble of the 1st part, Edward fforth & Susan his wife of the 2d and John fforth & Thomasine his wife of the 3d part, the uses of the Recovery are all declared, ffinches to be to Thomasine for life with reversion to Edward fforth and Susan his wife and the longer liver of the two, and afterwards to the use of ——— [document gone in this place]. Edward fforth so seised made his will; he left premises in Chelmesford to John fforth his youngest son & premises unbequeathed to Edward ffoorth his son & heir, who was father to this defendant, and dyed leaving this defendant lands as his son and heir. Susan (Defendants grandmother) also dyed about two years last past and before her death made a will. Defendant, who is but lately come to the age of twenty one, knoweth not the contents but will informe himself thereof. Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, B. & A., BB. 102-26.

Chancery Proceedings, Bode c. Forth, 1635.

Humbly complayninge, 15th April 1635, John Bode of Davington Priory in the Countie of Kent, gentleman. John ffoorth, late Cittizen and Cloathworker of London, was about twelve yeares now last paste seised of the revercion uppon the death of Susan Gouldinge his mother (and your Orators late aunte) of the moyity of a ffarme howse called Byrds and forty five acres of land thereto belonginge in Boreham in the countie of Essex. And the said John ffoorth, having noe issue of his bodie, out of the loue wch hee bare vnto his said mother and to satisfie her for diuerse great somes of money lent him, by deed inrolled did sell with other lands and tenements the said moyity of lands vnto yor Orator and his heires; yor Orator to suffer the said Susan, being naturall mother of the said John ffoorth, peaceably to take the rents duringe her life. John ffoorth died; and shortly after, havinge a desire to gratifye yor Orator for divers curtesies, the said Susan Gouldinge by Indenture tripartite, dated the the third daie of November 1623, between the said Susan and your Orator, on the first parte, and one Richard Vernon the elder Cittizen and Mercer of London on the second parte, and Sir Edward Boys the yonger of Noniñgton in the countie of Kent Knight, John Wynthropp of Grotton in the countie of Suffolke Esquier, George Brooke of East Dunnyland in the countie of Essex Esquier and Thomas Aylett of Revenhall in the countie of Essex gentleman on the third parte, hath appointed that your Orator should convey the said moyity unto the said Sir Edward Boys, &c., to the only behoof of the said Susan, and after her decease to the said Sir Edward Boys, &c., their heires and assignes for ever, they to suffer your Orator and his heirs to enioye said lands. Vppon condition that yor Orator or his heires should pay at the Royall Exchange in London vnto Sybill fforth, grandchilde of the said Susan, the some of one hundred pounds within twoe yeares next after the death of the said Susan. Aboute the fifteenth daie of July 1631 the said Susan Gouldinge did make her laste will and did giue vnto the said Sybill, by the name of Sybill Holland wife of Cornelius Holland of the citty of Westminster Esquier, the some of one hundred pounds out of the moneys which your Orator was to paye vnto the executors of the said Susan. On the thirtieth of March in the tenth yeare of King James Susan Gouldinge died. But now soe it is that James ffoorthe, whoe is or ꝑtends to bee next heire vnto the said Susan and allsoe vnto the said John ffoorthe, althought he hath heard the said Susan Goulding his grandmother affirme that John ffoorth her sonne did conveye those lands to yor Orator, and knoweth, being her executor, that she hath confirmed them by said tripartite Indenture, and hath by her will given lands called Wheelers to her own daughter and grandchildren, and that he, James ffoorth, hath himself in a letter dated the third daie of December 1634, acknowledged the said moyity of Byrds to be your Orators, and that Thomas Gouldinge the said Susan's husband and the said Susan herself acknowledged it by a Fine: Knowing also that your Orator went to councell for the said Susan at his own costs on account of Thomas Gouldinge her husband his ill vsage of her, intending to ꝑfer a Bill against said Thomas Gouldinge into this Honoble Courte of Chancery for her good maintenance: Yet the said James ffoorth out of his covetuous and contensious minde, to get away Wheelers from his grandmothers grandchildren and the moyitie of Byrds from your Orator, hath preferred a Bill against your Orator into this honble Courte full of false things, and saith the said Indenture is obliterated. Your Orator is very weake and sickly, giuen over these twoo yeares by Doctors of Physicke and stirreth not abroad. He prayeth therefore that Your good Lordshipp would grant His Maties most gracious writt of subpoena, &c., &c., &c.

The aunsweare of James fforth gent. 4th May 1635. He much wondreth to see Complaynant, a neere kinsemen of this defendant, exhibit soe vnnecessary a Bill against this defendant taxing him that hee hath sued and vexed said Compl^{t} vpon an advantage of the sickness and paine and old age of said Complaynant. Sick and painefull and old and bedred as hee the said Comp^{t} is or maketh himselfe to bee, hee the said Compl^{t} not many months since had vigor and health and heate inough to put this defend^{t} to A Trump and a hazard for all or the most part of his inheritance: —— was able to write lettars vpon lettars and neuer would bee att peace with this defendant being very young and rawe in all worldly affayres and lately come to his full age of one and twentie yeares. The said Susan Goulding in the tyme of her last sicknes much bewayled an^{d} repented the wrongs wch she had offered to this defendant in his Birth right. Complaynant need not bee so peremptory in the supporting of a poore and weake title against a right heire who hath beene most iniuriously dealt w^{t}hall. His deceased grandmother kept in her owne hands dureing all her life both the said ꝑtended originall deed of Bargaine and Sale and alsoe the tripartite Indenture. Defendant hopeth that thesse things may be solemnly examined and deliberately heard and that this defendants' iust right may not be slighted.

But now soe yt ys that s^{d} Agnes Webb and John Webb takeing notice y^{t} yor Or: hath noe thing in writeing vnder theire hands, and yor Or: haveing mislayd his writeings wch conc̃ne ye s^{d} ꝑmisses, give out in speeches y^{t} they nor either of them doe make any such agream^{t}, but that they are seised of ye inhitance of y^{e} ꝑmisses, and doe refuse to pay ye 49^{li} ꝑ annũ and alsoe doth vtterly spoyle & destroy ye s^{d} house by plucking vpp ye planeks thereof, and some of them have felled and carryed away greate pte of ye tymber.

Answeares of Agnes Webb widdowe, John Webb & Charles Sterne Def^{ts}. They thinke it to be true that Comp^{lt} is lawfully seised of the ferme called Bellsies & of lands & tenem^{ts} in Eastberholt and Houlton, and did imploy Edward Clarke of Eastberholt to let said lands, whoe had bin form̃ly imployed in that kinde by the grandmother of Comp^{lt}. Richard Webb did form̃ly occupy said ferme vnd some of Comp^{lts} ancestors. But Agnes & John Webb doe deny that there was more rent than the yearly some of forty pounds. They have bin much dampnified by the molestacoñ of one Thomas Browne whoe ꝑtended to haue a lease of the ꝑmisses. Edward Clarke hath lyved for many yeares in Eastbeholt & is a man of great estate & creddit in the county and Comp^{lt} may vse his testimony well enough if he thinke soe fitt. Def^{ts} vtterly deny that they did ꝑtend to clayme the ꝑmisses other than as fermors, or that they have spoyled the mansion house or comitted wasts. And Def^{t} Charles Sterne doth deny the felling & carrying away of wood or timber growing vpon said grownds saving for necessary fyreing, feneing stuffe, ploughboote, cartboote, gateboote & styleboote, which the lawe doth vsually allowe to all fermors.

Powell of Whitchurch.

Who was Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Powell of Wales, and wife of William Forth of Hadleigh? A prolonged and most careful search amongst the wills at Somerset House and other Probate Courts; the Fines, Inquisitions, Close Rolls, Patent Rolls, &c., &c., at the Record Office; and the Pedigrees and Genealogical Collections at the Heralds' College and elsewhere, has failed to elicit a single fact in answer to this question. As Elizabeth Powell she witnessed the will of her future husband's father in 1540. As Elizabeth Forth she became the mother of an heir in 1541. We should have been altogether without clue to her identity had not three of her sons, or their immediate descendants, assumed the very remarkable quarterings of Powell of Whitchurch in Glamorganshire. The eldest, Robert Forth, caused them to be worked into the great gateway of Butley Abbey, where Davy, the Suffolk Antiquary, saw and noted them in 1810. They embellish the brass of William Forth, the third son, who died at Hadleigh in 1599. And John Forth, the youngest son, seems to have assisted, in 1611, a year or two before his death, in the preparation of the "Emblazoned Pedigree" of Forth and Winthrop, in which the quarterings of Powell, Brokenspeare, Gwaringde, Morley and Vaughan are marshalled in all their splendour. These quarterings were allowed to Philip Forth, her grandson, at the Suffolk Visitation of 1612. This being the case, we give pedigrees of the one and only family of Powell to whom such quarterings could possibly have belonged: and, as Welsh evidences are scarce, excerpts of two documents which help to establish the date of the Appowell who married the heiress of Vaughan of Methyr—the conjectural grandfather of Elizabeth Forth.

The Bourne Pedigree in the Visitations of Somersetshire, 1565—1623, Harl. MS. 1445, describes Sir John as one of the principal Secretaries of State to Queen Mary. In his will, P.C.C. 29 Pyckeryng, dated 18 May 1563, he leaves two parts of his Manor of Batenhall, co. Worcester, to Dorothy his wife, and the residue to Anthony his son and heir. He also makes provision for the tuition and government of his children during their minority. This will was proved 1 July 1575, by Dame Dorothy his relict, and later on Administration was granted to Anthony Bourne the son, 21 July 1576, his mother having died. From the letters of this Anthony, Add. MS. 23, 212, circa 1577, we learn that he and Thomas Powell had been friends together at Oxford, he having on one occasion rescued the latter from the police, and on another entrusted him with money for the payment of his debts.

The earlier ancestry of Powell of Whitchurch is given us, with more or less exactness, in the pedigree drawn up by the order of King Edward the Fourth, when he created William Herbert Earl of Pembroke in 1460. (See Coxe's "Tour in Monmouthshire," pp. 141, 421, and the articles on the Herberts in Burke's "Extinct Peerages.") For further information respecting the Whitchurch family the reader is referred to the "Genealogies of Morgan and Glamorgan," by George Thomas Clark, pp. 264, 265, and to the Wakeman MS., an admirable compilation, now or lately in the custody of the Society of Antiquaries.

Clopton of Melford.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Clopton, Sable a bend argent between two cotices dancettée Or, appear upon the seals attached to their deeds and charters from the middle of the fourteenth century downwards. Heading the Clopton pedigrees in Harl. MS. 1103, a contemporary copy of the original Visitation of Suffolk by William Harvey, Clarencieux King of Arms in 1561, are the following shields:—

Clopton of Kentwell Hall in Long Melford.—Quarterly of six. 1. Clopton; as above. 2, Mylde: Argent, a lion rampant Sable, over all a fess counter-compony or and azure. 3, Francis: Gules, a saltire between four crosses patée or. 4, Roydon; Chequy argent and gules a cross azure. 5, Knevitt: Argent, a bend within a bordure engrailed sable. 6, Argent, three lions rampant gules. This quartering which is assigned to Kyrkham in Harl. MS. 1560, and to Belhouse by Dr. Howard, is common to both families. The Crest is a wolf's head, per pale or and azure, and the Motto, "Dor en avant."

Clopton of Liston.—Quarterly of four. 1, Clopton. 2. Mylde. 3, Francis. 4, Saye; Per pale, azure and gules, three chevrons argent voided and counter-changed of the field, over all a crescent on a mullet for difference.

Clopton of Sudbury.—Quarterly of six, as in Clopton of Kentwell, impaling Peacock, Gules, on a fess argent, between three plates, each charged with a peacock's head erased azure, as many maseles sable; over all a mullet for difference.

Harl. MS. 1820, has Clopton of Kentwell, Quarterly of six, as before, impaling Barnardiston; Azure, a fess dancettée ermine, between six cross crosslets argent.

Harl. MS. 1560, fo. 5, has Quarterly of eleven. 1, Clopton. 2, Mylde. 3, Francis. 4, Knevett. 5, Kirkham. 6, Bozun of Lincolnshire; Argent, three bird-bolts gules. 7, Uffleete; Argent, on a fess azure three fleurs de lis or. 8, Deane; Sable, two bars argent within a bordure gules. 9, Paynell; Gules, two chevrons, within a bordure argent. 10, Argent, semée of fleurs de lis, a lion rampant sable. 11, Sable, three cinquefoils, all within a bordure argent. The whole being, apparently, the achievement of Mary Clopton, afterwards the wife of Sir William Cordell.

The Shield of Clopton, quarterly of twenty, from Sir William Clopton's monument in Melford Church, is pictured and described in Dr. Howard's edition of Harvey's Visitation of Suffolk.

The wolf's head, as Clopton's Crest, appears on the seal attached to a charter of Sir William Clopton of the third year of Henry the fourth, 1402. It is occasionally represented, as on the Clopton monument at Lyston, issuing from a ducal coronet.

A great number of Clopton wills, deeds, pedigrees, &c., have been printed in Dr. Howard's edition of "Harvey's Visitation of Suffolk," vol. i, pp. 20—136. Some additional evidences from the De Banco Rolls and other sources are given below.

Sir Simon D'Ewes, who married the heiress of the Cloptons of Kentwell, made elaborate collections relating to their history, which will be found amongst the Harleian Charters and MSS. in the British Museum. He deals much with the same family in his "Autobiography," a Bowdlerised edition of which was printed in two volumes in 1845.

This Inquisition, which so concisely records the descent of Sir William Tyndal from Lord Scales, is one of the four which detail the possessions of Anthony Woodville, Earl Rivers, in Norfolk, Suffolk, Hertfordshire and Cambridgeshire. By some mediæval mistake these Escheats were placed with those of the first year of Henry VII. Their entry in the Calendar, "Escaet. Hen. VII," stands thus :—"Antonij nuꝑ Comit̃ Ryvers : 38 Norff. : Suff. 39 : 37 Hertf. : Cantebr. 36. These offic̃ are fyled in anno primo and were fownde in anno sc̃do."

Rainsborough.

The family of Rainsborough or Rainborough, often spelled Rainborow, so prominently associated with the naval service of the Stuart period and with the army of the Commonwealth, is believed to have originated in Suffolk, though proof is wanting. The distinguished naval commander William Rainsborough, whose successful expedition against Salee is a matter of history, was M.P. for the Suffolk sea-port of Aldborough in 1640, and his father, Thomas Rainborow of East Greenwich, is supposed to have been grandson to the Thomas Raynburghe of Ipswich, who made his will in 1544. There was active communication between these two ports in Tudor days, and the name, an unusual one, disappeared from the one place a little before it is found in the records of the other. For much valuable information relative to this family and the correction of various errors which had found their way into print, see the "New England Genealogical Register," Vol. xl, pp. 158—171.

To my eldest sonne Thomas Rainborowe my houses in Southwark. To my sonne William Rainborowe my houses in Gun alley in Wapping purchased of my ffather in lawe Renold Hoxton and alsoe one thousand pound in money. To my sonne Edward Raineborowe twelve hundred pounds. To my daughter Martha Coytmore the wife of Thomas Coytemore now in new England the some of seaven hundred pounds, yf she be alive at the tyme of my death. To my daughter Judeth Rainborowe one thousand pounds. To my daughter Joane Raineborowe one thousand pounds. To the sonnes and daughter of my deceased sister Sara Port, namely Robert, John, Thomas and William Porte and Martha Porte, two hundred and ffyftie pounds. To my brother Mr Thomas Rainborowe ffyftie pounds. To my sister Buckridge ffiftie pounds. To my sister Wood ffyftie pounds. To my ffather in lawe Renold Hoxton and to my mother in lawe Joane Hoxton tenn pounds a pece to buy them each a ringe. I make my loveing sonnes Thomas and William Rainborowe executors and appoint them to bring vp my younger children to the age of twenty one years or daie of marriage. And for Ouseers

I desire my loveing brothers in lawe Mr Robert Wood and Mr John Hoxton. This sixteenth of July 1638. I give to my mother in lawe Jone Hoxton my house at Wapping now in the occupacon of Mr Sander Bence dureing her. ñrall life and bequeath to my grandchild Wm Rainborowe the some of one hundred pounds.

A Codicil. William Rainborowe did about a yeare since and att other tymes declare that Martha Port should not expect the ffyftie pounds legacie, because he had given her the ffyftie pounds and all her wedding clothes in marriage wth William Ashley. The first day of ffebruarie 1641 wee the wittnesses have subscribed our names John Hoxton, Thom: Hoxton, Mary Bennfes. Probatum octauo die Aprilis 1642 juramentis Thome Rainborowe et Wiłłimi Rainborowe filiorꝗ.

P.C.C. 51 Campbell.

It is stated in the Essex Visitation of 1664 that Robert Wood of London, Merchant, married Martha, daughter of William Rainsborough. This statement involves genealogical difficulties, but we seem, in the "loveing brother in lawe Mr Robert Wood" abovementioned, to have the husband of the "Martha Rainsborough" of the heraldic MS.

Rainsborough v. Winthrop, 1680.

12 June 1680 Edward Rainborow of ye parish of Cranford co. Middx Gent., Complaynant. Steuen Winthrop, late of ye parish of St Margaret Westminster Esq. was seized of two messuages and lands in Westminster aforesaid. Hee made his last will abought ye yeare 1658 & thereby demised said premises to his wife Judith Winthrop, and after her decease to his children equally. Said Steuen att his death had diuers children, all of which soone deyed without . . . except Margaret Winthrop & Judith Winthrop daughters & coheires of said Stephen. Judith Winthrop ye mother & her said daughters being desirous to sell treated with your Orator, Judith the daughter being vnder one & twenty though of ye age of discression. An agreement redused into Articles [was] made 29th September 16 . . . signed & sealed by ye said Judith Winthrop ye mother and her daughters and your Orator. But your Orator hauing occasion to goe beyound ye seas, they ye said mother & daughters confederating to defeet your Orator haue reentered into said messuages & premiees, & ye said Margaret hath intermaried with one Henry Ward silk stocking weuer of ye parish of Stepney & ye said Judith ye daughter hath attained her age of one & twenty yeares & hath intermarried with one Richard Hancock citten & packer of London, and they or one of them haue receiued rents & profets thereof and doe threaten to sue your Orator for two hundred and fifty pounds residue of fiue hundred pounds for ye purshis of ye said messuages. Your Orator is alltogeather remediles att Common law.

The ioynt and seu̅all answere of Judith Winthrop widow, Henry Ward and Margaret his wife & Richard Hancocke and Judith his wife def^ts. Said Stephen Winthrop dyed the third May 1658 seised of said p̅mises. At his death he left three daughters (that is to say) the def^ts Margaret Ward, Judith Hancocke & Johanna theire sister since dead without issue, coheires of theire said father. Comp^lt being brother to the def^t Judith the mother, and having the management of her affaires, to serve himselfe did p̅tend to these def^ts that they had noe good title to said messuages, and advised Judeth the mother to sell the same. In a writing indented dated 29th Septr 1674 and mutually signed, for ffive hundred pounds, def^ts did alien and confirme said messuages to comp^lt, with limittac̃ons after expressed. Judith the daughter was not [then] above the age of seaventeene yeares. Comp^lt did paye about the eighth September 1676 the sum of two hundred and ffifty pounds in parte of payment of said ffive hundred pounds. He hath neglected to paye the yearly sum̃e of ffive and twenty pounds (being a great parte of this def^ts maintenance). Comp^lt was indebted by bond for money formerly borrowed, and vpon account to Judith the mother. The def^t [has] noe counterparte or coppie of the deed. The p̅misses were worth more than ffive hundred pounds.

Chancery Proceedings, Hunne c. Burd, 1571.

In most humble maner complayninge sheweth vnto your good Lordeshippe your poore and daylie Orator John Hunne of the Cytie of London that one Richarde Celye, cosyngermyn to Maryon Burde alias Bryde of Ypeswiche wydowe, was indebted to Thomas Clerke of London lynnen draper in the some of fyftie poundes in moneye. Richard Cely, beinge verie vnable to paye the same, requested said Maryon to wryte for him to some ffrende of hers to take order for the payment at some other and longer daies. Maryon dyd request your Orator (for there was great ffrendesheppe between your Orator and said Maryon) to deale with Thomas Clerke for Celye. By her letters said Maryon did promise to save harmeles your Orator whatsoever he shoulde doo promyse or vndertake for Celye. Your Orator [therefore] became bounden to Clerke for the payment of tenne poundes, parcell of the said ffyftie. Sythence which tyme your orator hathe byn compelled to paye the said tenne pounds with twelue shillinges for damages. But soe it is that Maryon doth refuse to repay to your orator the said tenne poundes. Said ꝑmyse was not made by Maryon Burd before wytnesses, but secretly by her letters—which letters orator has sythence loste, [being] imbeseled by one William Celye, brother to the said Maryon. Orator cannot compell Maryon to ꝑforme her ꝑmyse by the comen lawes of this realme. Maye yt therefore please your good lordesheppe to grant the Quenes Wrytte of Subpena to be directed to the said Maryon Burde, &c, &c.

The answere of Marryon Bryde aꝑs Byrde wydowe, defendnñt, 14 Elizth. Defendñt att the request of Richard Cely yn the lyffe of Richard Bryde hyr late husbaud dyd cawse a letter to be dyrectedd vnto compleynñt & requested him to be ffryndly vnto said Rychard Cely. And thoughe the supposell were true, as the same ys very vntrue, yett forasmuch as defend. att that tyme was a wyffe & under the coverture of Rychard Byrd hyr husband she demaundeth Judgement of this honourable Courte yf she shalbe ffurther compelled to make answere to the surmyses & allygacons of Complcyñt.

Chanc. Proc., Series II, Bundle 97, No. 85.

It would now seem that Maryon Burde alias Bryde of Ipswich and Richard Byrde, her husband, were identical with the "Richarde Burde of Ipswich and my sister his wief," who are referred to in the will of the second Adam Winthrop (See page 13). Prolonged research has failed to discover any other Richard Burde of that place and period. It has been assumed that Richard Burde's wife was the own sister of Adam Winthrop, but the evidence of the wills of John Cely of Bury St. Edmunds, 1557, and of Alice Cely, his widow, 1558, discovered since the issue of the earlier pages of this volume, creates a presumption that she was really the step-sister of Alice Henny or Hunne, Adam Winthrop's first wife, who died young in 1538. Alice Cely, previously wife of —— Hunne, died in 1558, leaving three Hunne children then surviving and a stepdaughter, Maryon Cely, wife of Richard Byrde alias Bryde of Ipswich, clearly the defendant in "Hunne contra Burd." She also left a son, William Cely, who is believed to be the William Cely who married Adam Winthrop's daughter, Mary. For the will of Richard Byrde and further particulars of the families of Hunne and Cely see hereafter, pp. 221-223 (Goodwin of Bull's Hall).

P.C.C. 88 Parker.

John Whittingham and Joshua Winthrop, his brother in law, had married two sisters, daughters of Vincent Norrington, Citizen and Grocer of London, whose nuncupative will, dated on or about the second of January 1597, was proved on the nineteenth of the same month by Joan Norrington, his relict. [P.C.C. 5 Lewin.] "Sicke in body and in danger of death he did giue all that euer he had unto Joane his loueing wife, sayinge that if he had five thousand pounds more he wold not giue anie from her." On the 12th of November 1617, a commission was issued to Sarah Whittingham, one of the sisters referred to, for the final administration of her father's estate. It was Mary, the other sister, who married Joshua Winthrop, sometime of London, and after of Bandon in Ireland, whose kindred and connections will be found in the pedigree of Winthrop of Groton, at page 27.

Boldero of Fornham.

Armorial Bearings.

At the Visitation of Suffolk in 1612, by Raven, Camden's deputy, the Arms allowed to "John Boldero of Berry, descended from William Boldero of Fornham Martin," were—"Per pale, or and azure, a saltire counterchanged, with a crescent for difference." The Crest of "Bolderoe per Cooke, Cla: 6 of September 1576, 18 of Eliz.," as tricked by Raven in his note book, Harl. MS. 1820, fo. 45b, was "a greyhound current gules, collared or." At fo. 2, is a drawing of the Arms of "Boldero and his wife Tilliote," viz., Boldero, with the crescent, impaling "Argent, a lion rampant gules, over all a bend azure." The original shield, without the crescent, and the crest of 1576, will be found upon Boldero monuments at Ixworth, and on the brass of George Boldero in St. Mary's Church, Bury St. Edmunds. They are still used by his descendants; some of whom, however, about the close of the eighteenth century, changed the crest to a greyhound sejant. The escutcheon on the monument to Dr. Edmund Boldero, in Jesus College Chapel, Cambridge, who was the seventh son of "John Boldero of Berry," is charged, as might have been expected, with the crescent allowed to his father.

Another Coat of Arms recorded in the Heralds' College, but not in the Visitation of 1612, was granted to Francis Boldero of Bury St. Edmunds, who died in 1579, "Per pale, argent and azure, a saltire counterchanged; on a chief of the first three griffins' heads erased of the last." Harl. MS. 1820, gives the colours of this Shield as or and azure, together, with a special Crest, "A lion's gamb erased or, grasping a saltire azure."

Drawings of the Arms and Crest of "John Boldero," above-mentioned, will be found in Harl. MS. 1449, fo. 71b, and in Add. MS. 5524, fo. 18b.

Chancery Proceedings, Boldero c. Webbe, 1620.

To the Hoble Francis Lord Verulam, Lo: Chancellor of England, 19 May 1620. Humbly complayninge Francis Boldero of Felsham in the Countie of Suff. Gentleman, and one of yr Lordships' servants. One Francis Boldero, Gent., grandfather vnto yr Orator, was about thirtie or fortie yeares sithence seised of one messuage called St Nicholas Chappell in Bury St Edmund's of the yearely value of xxli and did by will conveye it to Henry Boldero, yor Orator's father, his sonne and heire, and to the heires males of his bodye. Yor Orator's said father about five and twentie yeares since did mortgage it for some small sum̃e to one Willm Webbe and John Duffield. He then travelled beyond the seas and on returning to England died. Therevppon Webbe and Duffield and one Willm Spalding of Barton got the deeds &c. into their hands, and yor Orator as sonne & heire of the said Henry Boldero is likely to be defeated of his inheritance.

Answeare of William Webbe, gent. Henry Boldero, father of the complaynant, did by Indenture Inrolled in Chancery, 22 Feb. 30 Eliz^th^, sell St Nicholas Chappell to this defendant and to John Duffield. Defendant gave more for it than any other man would have given, and Henry Boldero could not purchase it back. Defend^t^ sold it to Spalding for 290^l^. Spalding agreeing to discharge said lands of all incumbrances. Miscell. Chanc. Proc., Series I, 25, 20.

By his Inquisition post mortem, 21st Elizabeth, Francis Boldero, Esq., the Complainant's grandfather, was found to have held the Manor of Holderness als Eastgatebarnes, and the site of the Hospital of St. Nicholas in Bury St. Edmunds, together with lands in Great Barton, Fornham St. Martin and Rougham. Henry Boldero, his son and heir, was then twenty-three years of age.

Will of John Inman, 1625.

John Inman of Bury St Edmunds, merchante, 6th Octr 1625. I give and bequeathe for the advancement of the children of Richard Mountnye of London, merchante, my sonne in lawe by marriage with Rebecca my late daughter, the sume of one hundred and five pounds, to be equally parted amongst them at their severall ages of one and twentie yeares. Vnto George Boldero, my wive's eldest sonne, three poundes. Vnto Thomas Boldero, one other sonne of my said wife three poundes. Vnto Elizabeth Morfew, wife of Thomas Morfew and daughter of my said wife three poundes. Vnto Richard Goodinge of King's Lynne m^r^chant, my brother, my graven silver tankard, which was mine before marriage with my nowe wife. To Thomas Goodinge his eldest sonne, Richard Goodinge his younger sonne and Katherine Goodinge his daughter. Vnto Tryphosa Clarke, widow, and to Alice Osborne, widow, my wive's sisters, money to buy ringes. Residue to Margarett my well beloved wife whom I appoint sole executrix. James Fayercliffe a witness. Probate 29th Octr 1625, to Margaret Inman, the relict.

Arch. Sudb. Liber "Pearle," fo. 318.

At his Inquisition post mortem, George Boldero, gentleman, Margaret Inman's first husband, who died 8th Nov. 1609, was found to have held a tenement and land in Bury St. Edmunds, the site of Babwell Friary, and lands in Fornham All Saints and Westley. George Boldero, his son and heir, afterwards of Ixworth, was then aged eleven years and four months. For the inscription on his brass in St. Mary's Church, Bury St. Edmunds, see below.

Will of Henry Boldero, 1660.

I, Henry Boldero, Merchant Adventurer resident in the Cittie of Dordrecht in Holland, ordaine this my last will the eight and twentith day of May 1660. Touching that temporall estate which God of his goodness hath lent me I dispose thereof as followeth. I giue vnto Sarah my loveing wife, all my messuages &c. in the county of Norfolke within the Kingdome of England dureing the terme of her naturall life, vpon condicõn that she doe release vnto my executor all her right to my estate either in England or Holland other than such as I haue bequeathed her by this present will. I further give her, vpon the condicõn aforesaid all my plate household stuffe and impements. I also giue her that estate which was bequeathed vnto her by the last will of Tobias Dehem her brother. I give vnto my eldest sonne John Boldero my messuages and lands in Barton Turfe in the said county of Norfolk immediately after my said wife's decease. Vnto my sonne Henry Boldero messuages &c. in Barton Turfe now in the tenure of John Johnson, immediately after my wife's decease. Vnto my sonne Daniell Boldero my messuages in Barton Turfe now in the occupacoñ of William Joy immediately after my said wife's decease. Vnto my sonne Evodius otherwise Edward Boldero my messuages &c. in Hepworth in the County of Suffolke. Vnto my daughter Anne Boldero six hundred pounds. Vnto my daughter Jane Boldero the like sum. The overplus of all my goods I bequeath vnto such of my children as shall be vnmarried at the tyme of my decease. My sonnes John Boldero and Henry Boldero to be joynt executors of this my last will. I doe appoynt my loving brother Edmund Boldero, clerke, to be supervisor vnto whom I give for his paines and care the summe of ffifty pounds.

The Codicill. My will is that my wife shall have ffower hundred pounds to be layd out by her towardes the building and repairinge of the house wherein I now live in Barton, and also that the materialls wch are alreddee bought for the said buildinge to be imployed about the same, and if there be any part of the said monyes left that is to be laid out in land and left as an addicõn of my sonne John Boldero's part after the decease of my said wiefe. And my will is that Mary Goodenough my daughter shall haue ffifty pounds in full satisfacõn for her share which she or her husband Smart Goodenough can claime to any part of my personall estate. This three and twentith of February 1660. Probatum tertio die Aprilis 1661 juramento Johannis Boldero et Henrici Boldero executor̃ in testam̃to nominat. P.C.C. 55 May.

Tobias de Hem of Norwich married Susan, daughter of Zegher Corsellis of London, whose will was administered in 1625. In 1670, Henry Boldero of Whaddon, co. Cambridge, clerk, one of the sons of Henry Boldero, the Merchant Adventurer, sued Sarah Boldero, his mother, who he thought was planning to defeat him of his reversion to the messuages in Barton Turf, Nicholas Corsellis, gent., the trustee, having died. She denied all such intention. Boldero c. Boldero, Mitford II, clxviii, 9.

Garneys of Kenton.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Garneys of Kenton, as tricked in Harl. MS. 1560, are quarterly of twelve:—

1. Garneys.—Argent, a chevron engrailed, Azure, between three escallops, Sable.
2. Ramsey.—Gules, three rams' heads cabosed, Argent.
3. Wellysham.—Sable, two bars, Or, in chief three cinquefoils of the Second.
4. Kenton.—Sable, a chevron between three cinquefoils, Or.
5. Francis.—Gules, a chevron engrailed, Ermine, between three "facons" rising, Argent, beaked and membred, Or.
6. Deneston.—Azure, two lions passant guardant, Or.
7. Wanton.—Argent, on a chevron, Sable, a cross-crosslet of the field.
8. Suliard.—Argent, a chevron, Gules, between three pheons, Sable.
9. Hungate.—Gules, a chevron between three "houds seant," Argent.
10. Bacon.—Azure, three boars passant, Or.
11. Antingham.—Sable, a bend, Argent.
12. Baynard.—Sable, a fesse between two chevrons, Or.

With this tricking, the drawings of the Garneys shield, in Harl. MS. 1820, are in substantial agreement, but Wanton's cross-crosslet is fitchée and Hungate's chevron is engrailed.

The crest is a cubit arm erased, grasping a scimitar embrued, all proper. In Harl. MS. 1820, fo. 51b, the scimitar is hilted, Or. The latter MS. (fo. 43,) gives a second crest for Garneys, viz:—A mermaid, Argent, crined and finned, Or, holding a comb of the second in her dexter hand.

The following note appended to the tricking in Hall. MS. 1560, explains some of the quarterings.

Thomas Bacon was the sonn and heire of John Bacon of Baconsthorpe in Norff. esqr and of Margerett his wife, daughter and heire of Rob. Baynard of Speccishall in Suff, esqr, wch John Bacon was the sonn and heire of Roger sonn and heire of Sr Thomas Bacon and Allice his wife daughter and heire Sr Barthelmew Antingham K^nt.

Harl. MS. 1820, has also an achievement for "John Garneys of Kenton," evidently meaning John Garneys of Mendlesham, whose mother was the heiress of Toppesfield, viz. Quarterly of nine, 1 to 7 as before. 8. Toppesfield, Gules, on a chevron, Ermine, three martlets, Sable; and 9. Church, Sable, on a fesse between three fleurs-de-lys, Argent, as many escallops, Gules.

Ample pedigrees of Garneys were recorded in the Suffolk Visitations, in 1561, 1612 and 1664. The Davy MSS. give fifty-eight closely written pages of Garneys' wills, escheats, deeds and monumental inscriptions, contributed for the most part by the late Thomas Bond, Esq., of Tyneham, Wareham, a descendant of the family.

P.C.C. 80 Swann.

The Inquisition after the death of Michael Grigg was taken at Ampthill in Bedfordshire, on the 5th of August, in the 22nd year of James the First. He had died seised of ten messuages and of divers lands in Dunstable and Houghton Regis, co. Bedford, and of messuages and lands in Carrington and Kensworth, co. Hertford. He had held a messuage in Maldon, co. Bedford, Le Chequer in the town of Northampton, and Hargrave House in Bickenhall, co. Warwick. He had purchased messuages in Exeter on his marriage with Richawde his wife, and lands in Snape, Freston, Sternefield and Farneham, co. Suffolk. His will of May 14th 1623, is recited to show his disposition of these properties. He died on the 15th of August, 21 James, in the parish of St. Gregory, London. Richawd, his relict, was living, and held the premises in Snape, &c.; Michael Grigg, his son and heir, was of the age of thirty years and upwards at the time of his father's death.

Deeds relating to Suffolk lands, 1611—1691.

In Michaelmas Term, 1611, Michael Grigges, Gentleman, bought of Barbara Grigges widow, Godfrey Allen and Elizabeth his wife, Robert Smyth and Cecilia his wife, Mary Grigges and Alice Grigges, two messuages with gardens, &c., and one hundred and twenty two acres of land in Snape, Freston, Sternfield and Farnham in the county of Suffolk. Fine, Mich. 9 Jas. I.

An Indenture is entered on the Recovery Roll of Michaelmas Term, 1653, in which Michael Grigg of Otley, co. Suffolk, Gent., sells to Benjamin Grigg, Citizen and Draper of London, two messuages with lands in Snape, Freston, Sternfield and Farnham; also messuage and lands in Mawldon and Amthill, co. - Adam Grigg, bapt. at Little Bealings, 1 Dec. 1669.

The Arms of Grigg of Little Bealings, at the Visitation of Suffolk, in 1664 (Harl. MS. 1085), were Argent, three lions passant in pale, with a bordure, Azure, and were identical with those borne by Michael Grigg, High Sheriff of Bedford, in 1630. Davy, in his "Arms of Suffolk Families" (Add. MS. 19, 159), adds a Crest—Out of a ducal coronet, a dexter hand holding up a swan's head, all proper.

In the window of a room in the Pied Bull, near the church at Islington, on the ground floor, are the Arms of Sir John Miller, Knt., of Isliugton. Azure, an inescutcheon between four mascles, Or, impaling Grigg of Suffolk. Lysons' "Environs of Loudon," Vol. III, 139.

In documents relating to the family, of the sixteenth and earlier part of the seventeenth centuries, the name is not infrequently written Griggs.

Goodwin of Blaxhall.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Gooding of Freston, as granted by Robert Cooke Clarencieux in 1596 to Robert Gooding of that place, were Or, a fess between six lions' heads erased gules. The fess is charged with a crescent argent for difference, he being the descendant of a second son of his Blaxhall ancestor. The Crest is a griffin sejant with wings expanded or, legged and beaked sable, guttèe de poix. The grant itself has been lost, but it was confirmed at the Suffolk Visitation of 1612, and is depicted on the margin of the original pedigree in the College of Arms. Harl. MS. 1820, the corresponding volume at the British Museum, has a similar shield at fo. 2, with the words "Gooding per Cooke, 1596," whilst the Crest is given at fo. 44[b].

In the Suffolk Visitation of 1664, Harl. MS. 1085, Richard Gooding of Wherstead has the same escutcheon, also with a crescent, he being the descendant of another second son. It is assigned, provisionally, to George Gooding of Debach and Robert Gooding of Charsfield, whose ancestors came from Woodbridge and probably from Blaxhall, with a note implying that the matter would be referred to London for enquiry. Goodwin of Torrington, co. Devon, who came from Suffolk, bore the like ensigns with a ring on the fess for difference.

In the earlier evidences of this family the name is written "Gooding." In the later it is often changed to "Goodwin." In the will of Margaret Gooding of Rendlesham, 1596, it is "Goodwin" in the transcript and "Gooding" in the margin. The Shield granted to Gooding of Freston in 1596 is a modification of those ascribed to the Earl of Kent and other ancient Godwins. Many of these are pictured in the volume known as E.D.N. 56, in the College of Arms. Amongst them is the Coat of "Goodwin his daughter wife to K. Edw: Confes.," Gules, between two bars Or, six lions' heads, three two and one.

Witnesss; William Hawes, Henry Crane, John Hubbard, Christofer Hayward, &c. Probatum decimo tertio die Nouembris 1595 jur executorum. P.C.C. 70. Scott

It would appear from his Inquisition Post Mortem, 38 Elizabeth, I. 140., that Thomas Gooding held the manors of Freston and Kesgrave, together with lands and houses in Ipswich, Wolverston, Little Bealings, Newborne, Playford, Martlesham, Foxall, Wherstead, Nacton and Holbrook. He died 30 October 37 Elizabeth, when Robert Gooding his son and heir was aged sixty years and upwards.

Will of Margaret Gooding, 1596.

The viijth day of Aprill 1596 I Margaret Goodwin of Rendlesham in the cownty of Suffe wief vnto William Goodwin th'elder of Rendlesham aforesaide make this my last will. My former will in th'andes of my brother in lawe Steven Woodgate I vtterly disanul. I desire to be buried in the church of Ash next Campessey. Before my last marriage my husband promised me free liberty, if he did survive me, to make will to the sume of one hundred pounds. I will therefore that saide husband doe pay vnto my sonne John Lane th'elder saide hundred pounds to the pformance of this will. Vnto my sonne John Lane the yonger xli, part of the saide hundred pounds. Vnto my daughter Julian Mowlton or her children xxli, and to my daughter Elizabeth Shimingc xxli, and to my daughter Mary Chapman als Barker xxli, and to my daughter ffaith Barker xli. The residue to my loving son John Lane th c der. Before my marriage my sonne Richard Barker was bownde by law to my husband William Goodwin in payment of threescore and six pounds, being part of my childrens stocke. Said Barker to put in good assurance to my sonne John Lane thelder. Saide threescore and six pounds to remaine to saide daughter ffaith Barker and her children. Bonds of husband to my brother Stephen Woodgate. Husband and George Goodwin his brother to be bound in one thousand m]kes vnto Richard Barker of Nayland and William Peartree of Allington for the assurance of my childrens stocke. My sonne John Lane th'elder to be sole executor. Probat 17 Julij 1598 Johi Lane. Arch. Suff. Book No. 37, fo. 147.

The testatrix, whose name is written "Goodinge" in the margin of her will, was allied by marriage to the Goodwins of East Bergholt on the one hand, and the Goodings of the Blaxhall family on the other. The case of Barker contra Goodwin, Ja^s I, B & A, B. 16, 75, relates to the bond referred to above. It describes testatrix's husband as of Woodbridge Hasketon in 1580.

Will of Robert Gooding, 1601.

The thre and twentith daye of December 1601 and in the fortie and fower yeare of the raigne of Queene Elizabeth I Robert Gooding of ffreston in the countie of Suffolke gentleman, not knowing howe it maye please the Lorde to dispose of me, make my last will. I commend my sowle into the handes of my maker and creator, from the bottom of my harte beseaching him to accept of the death and passion of his most deare sonne as a sufficient ransome for those manie and grievous synnes whereby I have provoked his Maistie. My bodie to be comelie and honestlie buried in the chauncell of ffreston. I bequeath to John Gooding my younger sonne, at this pñt an appñtice in London with Joane Powell widowe at the Rose in Breadstreate, two hundred poundes to be paid after his appñtiship shall be expired. Chancery Proceedings, Habers c. Gooding, 1635.

22 Junij 1635. Robert Goodinge of Bamford (Bramford) in the county of Suffolke gentleman, by one Richard Nightingell of Ipswich gentleman brother in law to the said Robert, offered to sell your Orator, John Hauers of Stockerston in the county of Leicester Esquier, the Mannor of ffreston and all the other lands tenements and hereditaments of the said Robert Goodinge in ffreston, Woulverston and Wherstead in the said county of Suffolk together with the Advowsion of the church of ffreston. Yo^r^ Orator and Robert Goodinge and Richard Nightingell had diuers comũnicacõns, and in fine did agree that Goodinge should conveye the Manno^r^, messuages &c to yor

Orator and that yor Orator should paie to Goodinge the some of two thousand one hundred threeseore and fifteene pounds, and alsoe that noe manner of timber trees, woods or vnderwoods growing vpon the premisses should be felled; alsoe that said premisses should be free from all former leases, joyntures, dowers &c. made by the said Robert Goodinge or Thomas Goodinge his late ffather, Robert Goodinge his grandfather or Thomas Goodinge his great grandfather or by any other person whatsoever. But now soe itt is, may itt please yor good Lordshipp, that the said Robert Goodinge hath, contrarie to the said articles, cutt downe and carried awaie divers of the trees woods and vnderwoods groweing vpon the premisses. And also that said premisses have beene soe entayled that yor Orator cannot with saftie proceede in the aforesaid bargaine and is likely to sustaine much damage and losse.

Answers of Robert Goodinge gent & Richard Nightingale gent., defendts, inf 23° Junij 1635. About one hundred yeares since one . . . Lattimore did for good & valuable consideracon convey sayd pmisses and diuers other landes vnto Thomas Goodinge, this def^t Robert Goodinge's great grandfather, and the same descended to Robert Goodinge this def^ts grandfather sonne and heyre of the sayd Thomas & after his disease to Thomas Goodinge this def^ts ffather, sonne & heyre of the said Robert and after the disease of the sayd Thomas, this def^ts ffather and of Marye his wief this def^ts mother (wch sayd Marye after marryed one John Sherwood, Doctor of Phisicke & is sithence dead) the same descended to this def^t as sonne and heyre of the said Thomas. Defend^ts knowe of noe rent yssuable out of sayd pmisses but only 3^s 6^d p anñ or thereabouts to the King's Ma^the wch theis defend^ts believe haue beene dulye payd. John Sherwood is still livinge. If the sayd manno^r or anye of the pmisses be chargeable, defend^t Goodinge intends to discharge the same & exonate. Defend^ts denie that there hath beene tymber vpon the pmisses cutt downe or carryed away with the knowledge of theis defend^ts. Charles I. B & A. H H. 17. 65.

Will of John Gooding, 1636.

The thirtieth daie of December 1636. I John Gooding cittizen and haberdasher of London doe make my last will, hopeing to be saved and to enioy eternal rest and happines amongst the elect Children of God. My mortall body I remitt to the earth in hope of a ioyfull resurrecoñ, the buriall whereof I will to be in the evening, and that none but my sonnes and daughters and their husbands, and such of my kynne as will take the paines to accompany my body to the grave, shall be invited or be at my buriall: and I will that there shall not be bestowed above ffyftie pounds vpon my funeralls more than the severall legacies for mourning. My goods shalbe devided into three equall parts, one of which I leave to Anne my welbeloved wife according to the Custome of London and one other to my two sonnes John and Robert (being vnadvanced). And as touching my daughters I have allready fully advanced them in marriage. And the other of the three parts of my goods I give as followeth: Vnto ffrancis West sonne of Richard West late of London Silkeman the some of fyftie pounds at his age of twentie and one yeare. Yf Elizabeth West daughter of the said Richard shall be ruled by my sonne in lawe ffrancis West in her marriage, then I give to her the some of ffyftie pounds. Although not always accurate, this pedigree, written by a neighbour in the lifetime of many of the parties it names, is contemporary evidence of no mean value. It will be noticed that it gives the Goodwins of Rendham and Marlesford, one of whom termed Goodwin of Martlesham Hall his cousin, a common ancestry with the rest.

By his Inquisition post mortem, 7 James, I. 77, taken at Ipswich, George Gooding was found to have been seized of a messuage and divers lands in Kirkton, held of Anne, the Queen Consort of James the First, as of her manor of Walton cum Trimley and Felixstowe Priory, and also of lands in Clopton held of Sir John Rouse, Knt., as of his Manor of Kingshall in Clopton. He died at Grundisburgh 14 January, 6 James; George Gooding, his son and heir, being twenty years of age.

Most of the family pictures and other heirlooms of the Goodwins of Martlesham, &c. (including a coat of arms beautifully worked in silk by Mary Edgar wife of John Goodwin of Hasketon), are now in the possession of Mrs. Doughty of Lowestoft, widow of Admiral Fredk. Proby Doughty, and eldest daughter of the Rev. Richard Aldous Arnold, Rector of Ellough, herself a descendant of the Goodwin family.

Goodwin of Bocking.

Armorial Bearings.

Amongst the insignia of the various families of Goodwin depicted in the volume known as E.D.N., 56, in the College of Arms, is a somewhat remarkable shield, which may be described as Argent, a pale gules; in chief and in base a plate between two fleurs de lys, and in fess a fleur de lys between two plates, all counterchanged. The accompanying Crest is "a mallard tree vert; on either side a cony argent eating the leaves thereof. It is not said to what Goodwins these arms were assigned, and no record of the grant has been officially preserved by the heralds. A similar reticence is observed by Add. MS. 26,702, in the British Museum, which seems to be a copy of E.D.N. 56. But in Harleian MS. 1422, an old and faded collection of "Grants by Divers Kings of Arms tricked by John Gough," this shield and crest are said to have been given to "Willm Goodwin of Bocking in com̃ Essex p Wrioth. G. 36. H. 8." A note has been appended, apparently in another hand, "ffile p Sr Xpof Bark̃l G.," together with an indication that the leaves which the rabbits are eating are intended for "mallows."

There were many Goodwins of Bocking in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, but their exact relationship has never been determined. They made but few wills and the earlier Bocking registers and manor books are alike missing. It is not improbable that the Goodwins of Hartford in Connecticut come of the same stock. Many valuable evidences connected with the Bocking Goodwins, including ample abstracts of the wills of Sir Thomas Pope, 1556, and Anne Blunt, 1594, are printed in the "Report on English Investigations," contributed by Mr. Henry F. Waters to the history of this family.[1] The name is usually written "Goodwin," but John Peppys, uncle of William Goodwin of Bermondsey, in making his will in 1551, refers to his "sister Goodinge" and her children, and describes his nephew as William Godinge als Goodwyn.

The will of William Goodwin, as entered in the Prerogative Court (P.C.C. 16 More) differs somewhat in its wording from that recorded in the Inquisition. "Sicke in bodye and abyding the marcie of God to take me forthe of this myserable world when his will shalbe, but yet pyfte and whole of memory, I make and ordeyne this my last will. I bequeath all my landes and tenements, gooddes and cattalle to my wife and to my children together during their nonage and minoritie for and to theducacyon of and bringing vp of them, my said children, in vertue and learnynge," &c. It was proved, the Archiepiscopal See being vacant, by the oath of John Goodman, the executrix's attorney 11 Dec. 1554.

Close Roll, 11 Eliz. 14th part.

Thomas Goodwin was but eight years old when his father died, and much of his inheritance seems to have been made away with by John Felton, his mother's second husband. Goodwin c. Felton Chanc. Proc., Series II, 74, 42. Becoming embarrassed in his circumstances he sold his lands in Felsted to John Fitche, and a little later four messuages, four gardens, sixteen acres of arable land and four acres of woodland in Bocking to one Francis Archer. Fine, Easter, 12 Eliz. The Indenture between Thomas Goodwin and John Fitche is the last known document which mentions him as an inhabitant of Bocking. By an interesting coincidence it would appear that a John Goodwin and a Richard Fitche were churchwardens there in 1602. Bocking, Inhabitants of, c. Smith, Eliz., B & A, BB, 29, 44.

P.C.C. 38 Windebank.

We learn from the Chancery Proceedings in Goodwyn c̃ Skynner, A.D. 1600 (Eliz. B & A, GG. 5, 15), that the testator was then Messenger in the Court of Wards, and that he had had the Patent or Grant of the Stewardship of the Manors of Lavenham in Suffolk and Castle Camps and Foulmer in Cambridgeshire conferred upon him in the 36th and 37th years of Queen Elizabeth by Thomas Skynner, sometime Lord Mayor of London. His identity with Christopher Goodwin, the grandson of Raphe Goodwin, Portman of Ipswich, has yet to be established.

Goodwin of East Bergholt.

Ralph Goodwin, who purchased an estate at North Burlingham in Norfolk, in 1491, would seem to be the common ancestor of the Goodwins of North Burlingham and of East Bergholt. The manor called Goodwin's in the former place had passed from the name before the 35th year of Henry VIII. Blomefield's Norfolk, VII, 224. Margaret, eldest daughter of Richard Goodwin of North Burlingham, married there in 1559 to James Keppinge of Frecthorpe, was one of the next-of-kin who contested the will of John Goodwin of East Bergholt in 1601. Decree, P.C.C. 45 Woodhall. Full abstracts or verbatim copies of the wills of Ralph Goodwin of North Burlingham, 1518, John Goodwin of East Bergholt, 1600, Daniel Goodwin of Yoxford, 1625, and John Goodwin of East Bergholt, 1638, with other valuable evidences bearing on the history of the family, are given in "The Goodwins of Hartford, Connecticut," pp. 46-56. The complicated relationships of John Goodwin, who bequeathed fifty pounds to the plantation of New England, are best explained perhaps by the Chancery Proceedings in Woodgate c. Goodwin, Eliz., B & A, Woodgate c. Goodwin, Jas I, B & A, and Chaplin c. Woodgate, Mitford V, lxxvi, 35, which will probably appear amongst the "Genealogical Gleanings in England," contributed by Mr. Henry F. Waters to the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register."

Goodwin of Hartford, Connecticut.

The paternity of William Goodwin, the New England emigrant of 1632, has not, as yet, been definitely ascertained, but it is probable that he came from Braintree or Bocking, which together form one long street in the county of Essex. He was one of the so-called "Braintree Company," which Mr. Hooker followed to the western world. Men from Braintree were amongst his fellow voyagers. His brother, Ozias Goodwin, had married a Braintree woman. A William Goodwin of Bocking, who may well have been himself, was son-in-law, in 1617, to Robert White of Messing. Indeed, Goodwins in some number had lived in Bocking for generations, and had continued to reside there until his day. There is a remarkable coincidence, too, connected with the christian name of his brother—Ozias. Its use is singularly rare; but it seems to have been affected, so far as Suffolk and Essex are concerned, by people who had some kind of connection with Bocking. In 1618, Ozias Adams was owner of a messuage called Potter's in Bocking which had descended to him from his father.[1] In 1663, there died at Bocking a Richard Merrells, apparently of the same stock as Ozias Merrells, the father, and Ozias Merrells, the son, of the Sudbury family of that name, whilst the names of Ozias Paske, John Adams and Richard Merrells occur in significant juxtaposition as kinsmen and devisees of Thomas Hammond of Hawkedon in 1670. A township, some of whose inhabitants were surnamed Goodwin, and others christened Ozias, is not unlikely, one would think, to have produced the Ozias Goodwin whose descendants helped to people Connecticut.

Will of Robert Woodward, 1640.

The seaven & twentieth day of May, in the sixteenth yeare of our Sovereigne Lord Charles, by the Grace of God of England &c. King: I Robert Woodward of Brayntree in the county of Essex doe make & ordayne this my last will. Confirmation of Arms to John Taylor, 1572.

To all and singular as well nobles and gentills as others to whom these presentes shall come Robert Cooke Esquier alias Clarencieulx principall herehault and Kinge of armes of the Sowth Este and West partes of this Realme of Englande from the River of Trente southwards sendith greeting. Wheras aunciently from the beginninge the valiaunt and vertuous actes of worthie persons have been comended to the worlde with sondry monumentes and remembrances of their good desertes, Emongst the which the chefest and most vsuall hath ben the bearinge of signes in shildes called Armes which are euident demonstracions of prowes and valoir diversly distributed accordinge to the qualities and desertes of the persons order as it was most prudently deuised in the beginninge to stirre and kindell the hartes of men to the imitacion of vertue and noblenes. Euen so hath the same ben and yet is continually obserued to the ende that such as haue don comendable seruice to their Prynce or Contry either in warre or peace maye bothe receaue due honor in their lines & also deriue the same successively to their posteritie after them. And beinge required of John le Talor of London Esquier to make searche in the regesters and recordes of my Office for the auncient Armes belonginge to that name and familie whereof he is descended, wheruppon I have at his request made searche accordingly so that findinge the true and perfect descent I coulde not without his great preiudice assigne vnto him any other than those whiche are to him descended from his auncestors. That is to saye quarterly, in the firste for Talor sables a lion passant siluer, in the seconde for Benielere golde a lion rampant regardant gules a coller siluer, in the thirde for Sely siluer a cheueron gules betwen thre egles displaied sables, the laste as the firste. And for that I finde no Creaste vnto the same, as commonly to all auncient Armes there belongeth none, I haue giuen vnto him by waye of encrease for his Creaste or Cognoisance vppon his healme on a wreath siluer and sables an Ownee standinge in proper cooler manteled gules dowbled siluer as more plainly apperith depicted in this margent. The whiche Armes and Creaste and euery parte and parcell thereof I the saide Clarencieulx Kinge of Armes by power and auethoritie to my Office annexed and grawnted by Letters patentes vnder the great seale of Englande to ratifie confirme and allowe to the saide John le Talor Esquier and to his posteritie with their due differences and they the same to vse beare and shewe in Shilde cote armour or otherwaies at his and their liberty and pleasure without impediment let or interuption of any person or persons. In witnes whereof I the saide Clarencieulx Kinge of Armes have sett hereunto my hande and seale of Office the xxth day of Juli in a^{o} 1572 and in the fourteenth yere of the reigne of owre soueraigne Lady Elizabeth by the grace of God Quene of Englande france and Irelande defendor of the faith, &c.

Rob^{o}t Cooke alias Clarencieulx, Roy Darmes.

P.C.C. 19 Evelyn.

Sir Thomas Freke of Ewern Courtney, son of Robert Freke, Esq., one of the Tellers of the Exchequer in the reigns of Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth, was a person of considerable note in the county of Dorset. The parish church of Ewern Courtney (a place more generally known as Shroton) was rebuilt by him in 1614. It is a typical specimen of the church architecture of the period. The burial place of the Frekes is at the higher end of the north aisle and is enclosed by wooden screens curiously carved with corbel heads and pinnacles and scroll work, the cornice of one of which supports the Arms of Taylor of Lidgate. Within, a stately monument commemorates Sir Thomas, who died in 1633, and Dame Elizabeth. A long and eloquent inscription records their virtues. On their escutcheon—Freke, Sable two bars Or, in chief two mullets of the same, impales Taylor quartering Beniclere and Cely. The Crest is a bull's head couped Sable, horned Or. The matches of their numerous children are indicated by other shields. There is a full pedigree of the Frekes in Hutchins' "History of Dorset," vol. iv. From Ralph Freke, a younger son of Sir Thomas, descend the Hussey-Frekes of Hannington in Wiltshire. It was William Freke, brother of Sir Thomas, who became the ancestor of the Frekes, Baronets of West Bilney in Norfolk, and of the Evans-Frekes, Barons Carbury.

- John Webb of Risby, Lord of the Manor of Rochells in Shelland. Will, Arch. Sudb., 1586; names Mr. Jervis of Whepstead, his brother-in-law, Sibill, his wife, &c., &c.

This pedigree is founded upon the Chancery Proceedings in Payton contra Hamond, Q. Elizabeth, B and A, P.p. 14. 41, dated 12 June 1588. The complainants are Adam Payton of Bury St. Edmunds, Margaret Bright of Bury, widow, Richard Wilson of Rattlesden, clerk, and Margery, his wife, Simon Langham of Bury and Rose, his wife, Clement Hynds of Ely and Elizabeth, his wife, and Richard Hancock of Ely and Sibill, his wife; said Adam Payton, Margaret Bright, Margery Wilson, Rose Langham, Elizabeth Hynds and Sibill Hancock being children of one William Payton of Risby, who made his will 6 Sept. 1556. The principal defendants are Thomas Hammond and Ann, his wife, the only child of Thomas Payton, deceased, eldest son and heir of William Payton, the testator, and brother to the complainants. The suit relates to lands, &c., in Risby, Bury St. Edmunds, and Little Saxham, settled by testator upon Johan, his wife. It is stated that he had six sons and seven daughters by the said Johan, who survived him one and thirty years. Their names, as recited in the proceedings, are given above.

The above differs in many respects from the pedigree given by Gage in his "History of Thingoe," which is founded upon the information of Sir Francis Thomas Hammond. Sir Thomas bore as Arms, Quarterly 1st, Argent, on a chevron Sable between three ogresses, each charged with a martlet of the field, three escallops Or, all within a bordure engrailed Vert; for Hammond (the will of his ancestor, in 1638, having been sealed with a chevron between three ogresses): 2d, Bendy Or and Azure, for Asty; 3d, Checquy Or and Gules, a canton Ermine, for Rayne: and 4th, Argent, on a chevron Sable, threee crosses patée Or, for Benson. Crest. An eagle Sable, issuant out of a ducal crown Or, infiled with a rose proper. It is difficult to reconcile these quarterings, and indeed Gage's pedigree itself, with the data afforded by the wills, deeds, licenses, &c., upon which the present genealogy is based.

Arch. Suff. Liber "King," fo. 20.

The Hammonds of Ipswich were a race of hardy sea captains and themselves in great part owners of the ships they sailed in and the cargoes they carried. They held the Manor of Newton Hall in Swilland for several generations. Edward Hammond, who died a little after the Restoration, is mentioned with approval by Matthias Candler, the genealogical Vicar of Coddenham. "Henry Bloomfield," he says, "one of the Chiefe Constables of the Hu of Thredling," married to his second wife, "Thomasin daughter of Thomas Coale of Ipswich, the relict of Wm Peche a M^r of a ship neere the old Barre gates in Ipswich. She had a daughter m. to Edward Hamont M^r of a ship in Ipswich, a pius man." Harl. MS. 6071, p. 543. An armorial tombstone in the churchyard of St. Clement bears the inscription, "The Burying place of Captain Benjamin Hamond and Captain John Hammond, sons of Edward Hamond in this parish." Then follow names and dates. The Shield, Party per pale, displays a quatrefoil between three demi-lions passant guardant; and the Crest above, on helmet and torse, is a wolf's head erased.

Hammond of Ufford.

Will of Margaret Father, 1633.

Margarett Father of Yoxford in the County of Suffolke widdow, 15 July 1633. First I bequeath vnto Edward Hamond of Westleton my nephew and to Sarah his wyfe all my messnages lands tenements &c. in Ufford Melton and Bromeswell, and to the longest liver of them, and after their decease to William Hamond sonne of ye said Edward and Sarah and to his heires for ever; and for want of such issue to John Hamond brother of the sayd William. Said William not yet one and twenty yeares of age. Vnto sayd Edward Hamond all my goods, ready money &c. By Indenture tripartite, dated 16 April in the tenth year of his late maiestye King James, between John Father my then husband and me his then wyfe on ye ffirst pte and Henry Groome, then of Petistree and now of Vfford on ye second pte, and William Glover late of Ash gent. and others on ye third pte, it was provided that for consideracoñs therein named Henry Groome or Margaret his wife should enioy the Manor howse called Otlyes in Ufford where in ye said Henry Groome now dwelleth after ye decease of ye aforesaid John Father and of me, and should pay such sumes of money as I should will, not to exceed three hundred pounds in all. Now I bequeath unto Jone Till widdow fforty shillinges: Vnto Robert Geyton of Sutton yeoman thirty pounds: Vnto John Man ten pounds: Vnto Mary Culham fiue pounds &c. I appoint sayd Edward Hamond sole executor. Probat. 29 Octr 1633 Edwardo Hamond. Arch. Suffolc. Original Wills, 1633, No. 38.

The William Glover mentioned in this will was brother-in-law to Thomas Hammond of Bury St. Edmunds (see pp. 252—254). His son, William Glover, Esq., of Ash sued Edward Hammond, the executor, for five hundred pounds which he alleged the testatrix had promised, so far back as 1597, to leave him when she died. (Glover c. Hammond, Chas. I, B and A, GG. 18, 33.) She was at that time the widow of John Glover, his grandfather. By Fine in Easter Term, 1598, John Father, her next husband, probably by way of marriage settlement, conveyed his Manor of Otleys in Ufford to William Glover, her stepson (Suffolk Fines, Pasch., 40 Eliz.), and this sale was confirmed by a similar Fine in 1601 (Suffolk Fines, Trinity Term, 43 Eliz.) In 1612, as stated in the will, he finally settled it upon Margaret Groom, his wife's niece, who seems, judging from her uncle Wyberd's testamentary allusions (see p. 253), her many marriages, and John Father's liberal deed of gift, to have been a very attractive woman. He made will as John Father of Pettistree, yeoman, on the 24th August, 1625, bequeathing his estates in Woodbridge, Ufford and Bromeswell to Edward Hammond, his wife's nephew, absolutely. Probate was made 15 Sept. 1625, in the Registry of the Archdeaconry of Suffolk.

Arch. Suff., Book No. 68, "Lockier," fo. 182^b^.

We are told in Add. MS. 4969, which consists for the most part of drawings of Arms in Suffolk and Norfolk Churches by William Harvey, Clarenceieux, that there was in Ufford Church a monumental inscription to Henry Groome of Ufford, Gent., who married Margaret, daughter of Matthew Hammond of St. Edmundsbury, Gent., and died on the 3rd of April, 1634. The note occurs upon fo. 96, an inserted leaf, and the inscription itself has long since disappeared.

Gurdon of Assington.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Gurdon, as confirmed and allowed at the Suffolk Visitation of 1612, were Sable, three leopards' faces jessant fleurs de lys Or, and the Crest, On a wreath Or and Sable, a goat Argent, climbing a rock or mount proper, on the top of which grow three sprigs Vert, flowered proper, apparently of the wild rose. The official drawing which accompanies the pedigree represents Gurdon as quartering Sexton, Argent, three sinister wings Gules, and impaling Brampton, Quarterly, 1 and 4, Gules, a fess Argent, in chief three plates, for Brampton; 2, Chequy Or and Gules, a bend Ermine, for Basingham; and 3, Argent, three piles wavy converging in point, over all a fess Argent, apparently for Barton. This was, clearly, the authorised atchievement of John Gurdon, then Lord of Assington, whose mother was coheir of Sexton, and whose wife the daughter of Brampton of Letton in Norfolk.

The heraldic MSS. at the British Museum and elsewhere, although of no real authority, give some interesting variations of these authorised Arms and Quarterings of Gurdon. We are told in the old family pedigree at Letton that the leopards' faces were originally argent, but that Robert, the younger son of Sir Adam Gurdon, changed them to gold to be distinguished from the elder branch, then in Wiltshire. The Arms, as tricked in Harl. MS. 1560, the best collection of Suffolk Visitation Pedigrees to be found out of the Heralds' College, are surmounted by two crests which have, at one time or another, been adopted by the family. The one, which appears upon the older monuments at Assington, is a leopard's face, party per pale Argent and Sable, between two wings addorsed counterchanged. The other is the Goat Argent, horned Or, climbing a rock proper, with a sprig issuing from the top Vert. An atchievement follows which is identical with that of Brampton Gurdon of Letton in the Norfolk Visitation of 1664. Harl. MS. 1085. Beneath the second crest, that with the goat, rock and twig, is Quarterly of Eight:—

1.	Gurdon.	Sable, three leopards' faces jessant fleurs de lys Or.
2.	Sexton.	Argent, three sinister wings Gules.
3.	Brampton.	Gules, a fess Argent, in chief three plates.
4.	Basingham.	Chequy Or and Gules, a bend Ermine.
5.	Barton.	Argent, on a fess Gules, three annulets Or.
6.		Paly of six Argent and Azure, over all a fess Gules.
7.		Argent, three piles wavy converging in point, over all a fess azure.
8.	Gurdon.	As No. 1.

According to Add. MSS. 5524, a book with Tom. Martin's autograph on the first leaf, Paly of six, Argent and Azure, over all a fess Gules, is for Lizers. Many MSS. give a Shield, Quarterly of four: 1, Gurdon; 2, Sexton; 3, Barton; and 4, the Paly of six, &c., as the Arms of the Gurdons of Assington before their marriage with the heiress of Brampton.

The monuments at Assington are numerous and interesting, and one especially, of coloured marbles, erected in 1648, is covered with armorial insignia. The Quarterly of Eight, already described, appears above the effigy of Brampton Gurdon. The shield above that of his wife, Elizabeth Barrett, as described in the Davy MSS., is Quarterly of nineteen: 1, Barrett; 2, Belhouse; 3, Braytoft; 4, Dyneley; 5, Fitzherbert; 6, Milo, Earl of Hereford; 7, De Forte; 8, Cheuduitt; 9, Foscott; 10, Marney; 11, Bruyn; 12, Comyn; 13, Lytton; 14, Booth: 15, Oake; 16, Weyland; 17, Godmanston; 18, Cavalere; 19, Barrett, as before. The Crest, differing from those depicted in the MSS., is Out of a ducal coronet Or, two wings erect addorsed Argent. A pencil drawing of this exceptional device is given in Harl. MS. 1560.

Other coats have since been added. The Norfolk Gurdons for some time quartered the Arms of Dillingham, whose heiress brought considerable estates to the family; but in the present day they simply use Brampton quarterly with their own shield, in order to distinguish their branch from the Gurdons of Suffolk. The escutcheon on the monument of Nathaniel Gurdon, S.T.P, of Assington, who died in 1696, has thirty quarterings, many of which are now so much defaced as to be almost unrecognisable.

Will of William Brampton, 1567.

The last will and testam^{t} of Will Brampton of Letton dated 5 May 9 Eliz. 1567. Whereby he gives unto his Brother Thomas Brampton & his heirs all his copy-hold lands in Attleborough & Besthorpe. And gave to his son Gurdon & Amy his wife the Tenement he purchased of . . . Wright with all ye lands both ffree & bond to ye same belonging to have & hold to them & to ye heirs of their bodies & for want of such issue then to ye heirs males of him ye s^{d} Will Brampton forever. Upon condition that his s^{d} son Gurdon & Amy his wife shall make such assurance as may be devised unto ye Inhabitants of Letton for ever of their right for their cattell going in a close called Somehouse, with ye mowing & enjoying of ye first crop of 24 acres called Somehouse meadowes, paying no more than they have heretofore payed; viz. for a milch cowe from St Georges day to Lañas 10^d, & to ye end of harvest 12^d; And for a two yearling from St Georges day to Lañas 6^d & to ye end of Harvest 8^d; And for a yearling from St Georges day to Lañas 4^d, & to ye end of Harvest 6^d; And for every acre of ye 24 acres of meadow 12^d. This assurance to be done by his execut^rs at his cost & charges. And if his s^d son & Amy his wife will not performe or agree to this assurance making, that then he wills that his gift herein & all other that hereafter shall be meñeoned given or bequeathed shall be no gift but void to his s^d son & daughter. So that then he gives all the same to his Brother Tho: Brampton & his heirs forever to maintaine ye s^d Inhabitants of Letton in their s^d right & Custom in Somehouse & ye 24 acres of meadow before mentioned. And if his s^d son & daughter shall vex or disquiet his executors or not suffer them to carry his Goods & chattells out of his house & ground within Letton, or break & make void a lease w^h he made to . . . fford, Then all his gifts to his s^d son & daughter Gurdon shall be void. Also he gives to his s^d son & daughter all his copyhold lands in Letton Shipdham & Cranew: upon ye fores^d conditions. And gives them his Cart & Plough with ye horse & furniture thereto belonging, & his Bed in ye hall chamber with ye furniture thereof upon ye same conditions. Item he gives to ffraunces his wife 20 of his best milch neate, & 3 of his best geldings, all her Jewells, and all ye Plate that was her own before he married her, with a covered silver pott guilt, & ye sheep that Mr Prentise hath, & 10 of his best Beds unbequeathed with ye furniture of them, & all other Household stuff w^h she had before he married with her. The 10 featherbeds with ye furniture thereof to be all ye stuff of that sort. Item he gives to Dennys Showldham 10^l to be imployed for her use till she be married or come to 20 years of age. Item he gives to his brother Thomas Brampton his Bason & ewer of silver, & a Tester of a Bed Imbroydered with his own Armes & his mothers. All other his goods & chattells he gives to ffraunces his wife & to his Brother Tho: Brampton to use at their pleasure performing this his last will & testam^t. Desiring Mr Thomas Sowthwell Esq. to be Supervisor to whome he gives 5^l to assist & ayde my executors especially in ye assurance for ye Custom of ye Inhabitants of Letton in Somehouse & ye 24 acres of meadow if need shall so require.

The Probat is not here expressed, it being but a copy of so much as concerns Somehous. This will was after made voyd by ye Award of 6 ffeb. 15 Eliz. 1572.

Will of John Gurdon, 1621.

Havinge called vppon the lord for the assistance of his most gracious and holye spiritt to direct me in this weightie business, I John Gurdon of Assington in the Countye of Suff esq^r, the sixte day of December 1621, doe nowe sett downe this present writeinge to be my true last will and testament. First as becometh a good Christian I doe resigne my soule and spiritt ꝑsentlye after it shalbe disolved out of this mortall bodye, into the handes of allmightie god. And althoughe I doe acknowledge that when I looke onlye unto my selfe and the excess of my transgressions against soe gracious a ffather I doe finde there my estate vncomfortable, yett liftinge vp the eyes of my sowle vnto his deare and onelie sonne Jesus Christe I doe remayne in that hope that putteth by all discouragements and assureth me of the favor and love of god. In a former will I had made my sonne Brampton executor. I have vpon very just occasions changed my purpose therein. And for the disposinge of my worldly goods my minde is that my granchilde John Gurdon, eldest sonne of my sonne Brampton Gurdon by his first wiefe, shall enioye my fearme lands advowsions tythes and heraditaments in Assington pcell of the late priorye of Hatfeild Peverell in Essex, which I did lately purchase of John Winterflood gent, and allsoe Sowdens, Wardes and Wiggons in Assington which I doe houlde for yeares yet to come by the demise of John Winterflood thelder. Allsoe messuage in Assington purchased of Sr Edwyn Riche and messuage called Garlands which I did purchase of Sr William Waldegrave Knight the elder, and tenement with lands I purchased of William Sydaye the elder gent. Allsoe I doe giue vnto the said John Gurdon my pasture groundes and woodes called Searles and Yawlie woodes in Assington and little Cornard. I doe likewise giue vnto the said John Gurdon the fearme howse alsoe purchased of Sir William Waldegrave deceased and lands called Hitchcockes, to have and to houlde all sayde messuages &c. vnto him the said John Gvrdon his heires &c. for ever. I doe further giue vnto the said John Gvrdon lands and tenements in Ovington neare vnto Clare in Suff, allsoe lands in Bullmere co. Essex. My leased landes which I boughte of the children of Edward Hamond & of John Sidaye in Assington likewise I giue vnto the said John Gurdon, and tenement called Yawley howse at the end of Yawlie wood and my fower acres of meadowe grounde in Wissington alias Wiston and Naylond which I boughte of John Doggett. And I would earnestly entreat my sonne Brampton Gurdon, even as he would have the love and favour of Allmightie god, that he would permitt all those Mannors &c. to remayne to such persons as are expressed in certain Indentures try partite made betweene me the sayd John Gurdon and Amye my wife on the first parte, Elizabeth Barret widow Sr Drue Drury Knight and others of the second parte, and the said Brampton Gurdon my sonne on the third parte, bearinge date 2 Feb. 30 Q. Elizabeth, &c., and as my said sonne long sythence a little before his entermariage with a second wife did by an instrument, bearing date the 25 June 1606, wherein he did solemplye vowe and protest before god and divers others that were ꝑsent, that is to saye Thomas Kempe and Thomas Waldegrave esqrs John Knewstubb, Henry Sandes, Thomas Lovell and Thomas Chambers ministers of the word of god and Philip Gostlinge yeoman, vnto me and his mother that he would not make frustrate the said conveyance of the estates therein limited, except it were to make a joyncture of eight score pounds by the yeare, all which lands are menconed to lye in Assington and adioynninge townes and in Cogeshall in Essex and other townes neere. Item I bequeath vnto Robert Gurdon my grandchilde, brother to said John Gurdon of the whole bloud, my messuages &c. in Letton, Cranworth and Shipdham in the Countye of Norff and to the heires of his body, and for defaulte of such issue vnto Edwarde Gurdon my grandchild the whole brother vnto the said Robert. Item I doe giue vnto the said Edward Gurdon messuages in Letton purchased of one Thurborne and of one George Garrett and of one Hall I giue vnto my aforenamed grandchilde Robert Gurdon ffiftie poundes, vnto sayd Edward Gurdon, one hundreth poundes. Vnto my good friend Mr Chambers of Assington, clerke, the some of twenty markes, vnto my cosen William Playne of Lavenham gent thirtye poundes, and to his mother Margarett Playne widowe flortie shillinges to make her a ringe. Vnto my grandchilde Brampton Gurdon, whome my said sonne had by his second wiffe Muriell the daughter of Marten Sydley esqr deceased, all my houshould stuff at Letton, which I left there for the furnishing thereof when I repayred thether, for his vse vnto my said sonn Brampton Gurdon his ffather, to be left to him the said Brampton the younger at his age of fower & twentye yeares or at his daye of marriage, yf he shall happen to marry sooner. I doe giue vnto the said Muriell the some of twentie powndes to buye her a gowne. I doe give vnto the rest of my sonne Brampton Gurdon his children by the said Muriell exeepting Edmund twentie poundes a peece at their severall ages of twentie yeares. All the rest of my houshould stuffe besids that which I left at Letton for my vse there, whether it be nowe at Assington or sy thenee conveyed to Wenham or anye other place, and all my plate and furniture, and allso my furniture of houshold & plate which at the tyme of my decease shalbe in my chamber wherein I doe now vsuallie lye and keepe, and allso the furniture in the Inner Chamber thereunto nexte adioyninge, I doe allso giue and bequeathe vnto my sayd grandchilde John Gvrdon. I doe giue vnto the poore of Assington twentye pounds. I make the aforenamed John Gvrdon my grandchilde sole exeeutor. I doe allso appoynte Sr Henry Mildmaye to be supervisor, to which Sr Henry Mildmay I doe giue ten pounds and my best geldinge at his owne choice. Allso I doe appointe as a thinge by me especiall desired, that my saide grandchilde John Gurdon will make some especiall monument in Assington churche not onlye of my selfe but of my father mother and wife, being his grandmother, such as he shall thincke meete & fitt for our estate condicon & eallinge as wee lived in this worlde. I giue vnto Edmunde Gurdon my grandchilde the coppieholde in Melforde. Sealed and published in the p^r^sence of Geffray Gate thelder, John Appleton and Robert Locke my servant. Star Chamber Proceedings, Crane c. Hevenyngham, 1542.

To the King our Sovrain Lord. Showeth yor most humble subiect Robert Crane Esquyo^r that oon Wyłłm Methold Esquyo^r for the sum of oon hundreth pounds sold unto yor said subiect as well the custody of the body of John Methold his then son & heir apparñt untell his full age of xxi yers as the marridge of the same John Methold. And after the said b̃gayn and sale the said Wiłłm Methold died about thre yers past & more. So it is moost gracious Sovr̃ain lord that oon Antony Hevenyngham Esquyo^r on the Sonday next aft^r Allhallowen Day last past, beyng then accompayned wth a fouer or fyve psons whoos names yor subiect cannot in any wyse lerne, havyng vppon them Cootes & Dubletts of Fence, arrayed with swerds bucklers daggers bowes and other wepons, in moost ryoutous man^{r} did breke the ꝑke gate of yor subiect at Chylton in the Countie of Suff & did then throw the same of the hyngells into the comen wey or strete, and on the said Sonday between the houres of eight & jx of the clok in the fore none did entre in to the Chauncell of the ꝑishe Chirch of Chylton & did take away the said John Methold. yor subiect then saying his matens not ꝑceyvyng any such doing. When the said mysdemeanor was signyfyed unto yor subiect the same yor subiect went out of the Chirch into a Grene adioyninge the Chirch yerd, at which tyme the said Antony & ꝑsones were all on horsbak & had trussed the s^{d} John Methold lyke wyse on horsbak to have ryden their wey w^{t} hym. Yo^{r} subiect then leyed unto the charge of the said Antony his mysdemeanour, whereuppon the same Antony then & ther sweryng such abhomynable othes which yor subiect detesteth to expr̃sse drew out his swerd and commanded the said ꝑsones to draw their swerds and then casted a foyne at yor subiect which he cast asid w^{t} his cap being dubled up in his hand, & did ryde away w^{t} the said John Methold as fast as their horses could go, and the same John ev^{r} sith the said Sonday hath w^{t} holden & kept from yor subiect ayenst all equyte & good consyens. In tendre consideracõn whereof it may please yor moost excellent Maiestie to grñte yor most gracious W^{9}tt of Subpena commandyng the said Antony Hevenyngham to appr̃e in yor Starre Chamber at Westm^{r} to answer to the Jurysses & to have w^{t} him the body of the said John Methold to be delyr̃ed to him to whom yor maiestie shall please to appoynt.

Th' answer of Anthony Hevenyngham esquier to the bill of compleynt of Rob^{te} Crane. O^{r} sayd Sovereigne lorde by his most gracious & ffre generall ꝑdon by Acte of his highe Courte of Parliament holden the xiiij of January in the xxxvth yere of (his) Reigne ded & hathe ꝑdonyd all riouts, routs, on lawfull assembles, fforeis & armis done by any of his subiects before the seyd xiiij daye of January; of which ꝑdon deffenđ prayeth allowans & benefit. Wyłłm Methold mensioned in the bill of compleynt held the Maner of Langforthe wthin the Countie of Norff of Deffenđ by one hole Knights Fee & by the yerly rent of vi^{s} viij^{d} as by thande of his very tenñte, that is to saye of thomage & fealte as of fee, whiche sv̄ice discendyd to Deffenđ as sone & heier of Sir John Hevenynghm̃ Knight decessyd. The Manor discendyd to the seyd John Methold as sone & heyer of seyd Wyłłm, the same John being under thage of xxi yers, that is to saye of th'age of xiiij yers, by reson whereof the custody wardshiꝑe & marriage of the said John Methold did belong to Defenđ the Sonday next after the Feast of all Saynts in the seyd xxxv yere of o^{r} lorde the King. Defenđ did take & sease the body of the seyd John & hym maried as good & lawfull for hym yt was to do. And yf Wyllm Methold had solde the custody of the seyde John his sone & after died, that sale is not materiall nor takythe not awey the Tytle & Wardshippe that Defenđ is entitled to have. Defenđ had (no) other ñmber of s͡vuñts with hym than he was comonly wonte to ryde wth. His s͡vunts had (no) other weapons but as s͡vyng men do comonly ryde wyth. Which matters (he) is ready to averre & prove, as this honãble Courte shall hym award.

Will of John Methwold, 1547.

I John Methwoulde of South Pickenham in the County of Norfolk Gent^{n} being of good minde & memorie thanks be to God make this my last will & testament this 15^{d} day of December in the 1st year of reign of King Edward the 6^{d}. First I the said John do bequeath my soule to Allmightie God & my body to be buried within the parish church of South Pickenham when it is the pleasure of Allmightie God to take me to his mercye & I bequeath the wardship & marriage of Thomas Methwold my son & heir to Alice Methwold my mother. Item I give unto my said mother towards the bringing up of my said son all freehold lands as I now have in South Pickenham wherein Jane my wife stood not possessed. Item I bequeath and will that Jane my wife shall have & enjoy all freehold land wherein she is entitled which was & is my will. Item I give unto Jane my wife all such moveables as I now have only except such things as my father William Methwold bequeathed by his last Will & Testament & which Will & Testament I will not to be broken but to be performed according to the due meaning & effect thereof. And fore as much as business may be hereafter for my sickness, to the intent to avoid slanderous & ill speeches I do now declare by this Will & testament how I came by it. So it was I had occasion to ride to Norwich whereon I took my journey thirward on horseback with my wyff behind on Wednesday fortnight before Christmas in the morning being a great frost & at Sayme (Saham) bridge a little on this side Walton Market the water was frozen & then I caused my horse to go over the bridge & when he was on the middle bridge his foot slivered on the one side by reason that I spurred him & so I fell into the water there with me & myne wyfe wherein I had been drowned if my wyff had not gotten up in the water & have taken me by the head & kepe it above water until one Henry Page of Hasshill did helpe me ought & had us both to a house in Sayme & therefore I would myne wyff should bear no charge nor rebuke for this my sickness which came by the mishap aforesaid & none otherwise.

Chancery Proceedings, Burrough v. Styles, 1625.

Charles I, B and A, BB., 102, 36.

Humbly complayning sheweth your daily Orator George Borough of Pettagh in the County of Suffolk, clerke, that many yeares since Sr Thoms Jermy, late of Brightwell, being seised of the Mannor and advowson of Gosbecke, then full of one Andrew Kinwellmarsh, clerke, who is yet living, did on the xxth September ixth James confirme the next presentation vnto Thoms Mathew of Brightwell, clarke, who granted the first avoydance to Henry Bowcer of Stansteed in the County aforesaid, clerke. After the graunting of said advowsion Sr Thoms Jermy sold the Mannor vnto Willm Styles of Gosbeck gentl who dwelt wthin the pish. Kinwelmarsh having other spirituall livings in his hands, the said Church of Gosbecke was for the most pte a long time together served by weake and vnable curats. Styles and the rest of the pishioners being much greived therewith and desirous to have a good Pastor and honest Minister to instructe them painefully and sincerely in the true doctrine of Christ Jesus to theire sowles comforte, in and aboute the yeare 1619, the said Styles and Nicholas Allen of Gosbecke gentl repaired to yor Orator who was at that time Incumbent of Pettaugh, being the next pish, and made knowen theire wishes. The pishioners were most willing by a generall contribucoñ of some reasonable some of money out of theire private purses to pcure Kinwelmarsh to make a resignation. Yet it was not in the power of Styles to present by reason of the assignment to Bowcer. Not longe before, Stiles and the pishioners had caused Bowcer's sonne, being Curate there vnder Andrew Kinwelmarsh, to bee thence removed, and Bowcer in his displeasure would not assigne his interest in the next advowson but vpon an extraordinary deere and high rate. Theire desire and purpose was that yor Orator might succeed Kinwelmarsh in their church, and knowing that Bowcer and yor Orator were of very inward acquaintance, they moved yor Orator to treat with him on their behalf, yor Orator at that very time having just refused a pastorall charge offered by one Willm Stebbing. After this treaty Bowcer assigned over his interest to —— Sparrow and the pishioners procured Kinwelmarsh to resign the Church to the ordinary. Sparrow, however, surrendered the assignment into the hands of Stiles who proposed that yor Orator should pay twelve pounds p annũ to Mr Kinwelmarsh in case he were thereunto presented. Your Orator vtterly refused to be prsented wth other than a clear conscience before God and Man. Whereupon Styles adventured of himself to pay the said twelve pounds, but yr Orator would not consent. Nicholas Allen by way of mediacon made apposicon that Styles, who had a sonne whom yor orator had and yet hath brought vp in learning, should give yor Orator a graunt of the next avoydance in as ample mann as Sr Thoms Jermy had done to Thomas Mathew, when yor Orator might wth safetie vndertake to free him from the payment of the twelve pounds. Yor orator was accordingly instituted admitted and inducted. Yor Orator left the graunt of the next avoydance of the said church in the custodie of Nicholas Allen in trust that a good minister shall be presented by your Orator's assignee (should your Orator happen to die) to keepe the same for the benefitt of your Orator's wife and children. But Mr Stiles having conceaved causeless displeasure against yor Orator ffor demanding tith of ffower and twenty acres of wood sold by the said Mr Styles, hath now giuen out yt he will spend ye value of the Mannor of Gosbeck rather than yr sd Orator should haue ye next advowcon soe graunted. And the said Styles hath not pd to ye sd Kenwelmarsh ye xijl p annũ, and hath exhibited a bill against your Orator, to weare out your Orator, having a great charg of children, with expenceful suits in law, who hath nevertheless in a true & carefull manner pformed his pastoral duty ever since his sd incumbence in ye sd Church of Gosbecke. May it please yr good lopp to graunt his Mats most gracious Writ of Subpena that sd William Stiles & Nicholas Allen may vpon their oathes discover ye truth, to ye end yt yr Orr may leaue yt little small pvision for his sonne who is thereby to be ye only stay of yr sd Or: familie.

In his answer Nicholas Allen gent says that the grant of the next Advowson of Gosbeck church was made to Nicholas Sparrow brother in law to Complaynant. The difference betwixt Complaynant and Mr Styles was by letters from the late Lord Keeper of the great Seale of England referred to cteyn gentn and they finding no cause to relieve the Compltt, as it seemeth, did forbeare to make any answare.

The statements in Styles c̃ Burrough, Chas I, B and A, SS. 75, 25, Ao 1625, throw much light upon this complicated suit. Bowcer agreed with George Burrough, Clarke, then & yet Viccar of Pettaugh, who was to pay him LVIli for the next avoydance and psentacon to Gosbeck. Burrough pcured one Nicholas Sparrowe of Gosbeck, beinge his brother in lawe, to take the grant that he might psent him when the church became voide. Kynwelmarshe havinge other spirituall livings in his hands Gosbecke was s)ved a long tyme together by weake curats and menn of infamous lieff. Yor Orator (Styles) & the rest of the pisshioners, grieved & discontented, dealt with Kinwellmarsh about his resignacon, who being very ould and having been Incumbent there well nyc fiftye yeares agreed y^t if he might haue xxv^l downe in ready money & xij^li a yeare more dureing his lieff he would resigne. Burrough seemed very thankefull and pmised great love and s)vice in requitall of there charge and pmised to pvide a sufficient Curate to s)ve in his absence wch would cost him xx^l p ann) more than the xij^l that he must paie to Kinwelmarshe. The pishioners paied Kinwelmarshe the xxv^l out of their owne purses. Burrough wanting money to paye Bowcer, yor Orator (Styles) became bounden with him as his suertye vnto one John Reynolds als Etheridge father in lawe to Sparrowe & an inhabitant of Gosbeck in an obligacon of fower score pounds. Yo^r Orator prays the Court that he may be acquitted thereof.

George Burrough, fourth and youngest son of Thomas Burrough of Wiekhambrook, was baptized there on the 26th of October 1579. He entered Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, in 1594, was admitted to Bishop Nix's Scholarship in Trinity Hall, 26th May 1597, and took his degree of LL.B. in 1600. He was ordained priest 29th Sept. 1604, by John, Bishop of Norwich, and was instituted the same year, on the presentation of John Turner, Gentleman, to the living of Pettaugh, the sureties for his First Fruits being his brother Thomas Burrough of the parish of St. Dunstan in the West, London, and his cousin Thomas Sherman. In 1621 he was permitted by dispensation of the Archbishop of Canterbury, confirmed under the Great Seal, 14th March Jas. I, to hold the adjoining rectory of Gosbeck together with that of Pettaugh. He retained Gosbeek, and perhaps Pettaugh, during the Usurpation, and dying at the age of seventy-four was buried at the latter place on the 21st of February 1653.

The Editor is indebted for most of these particulars to the kindness of Dr. Bensly, the courteous Registrar of the Bishop of Norwich. They are given in "Consignation Book," No. 3, and in the Tanner MSS., now in the possession of the see.

Marriage License of William Burrough, 1690.

Burrough, William, of Staple Inn, London, bachelor, aged thirty, and Elizabeth Burrough of Ipswich, spinster, aged twenty four, daughter of Amy Burrough, widow, who consents; at St Michael, Wood Street or St Austin, London; 17 October 1690. Faculty Office, Archbishop of Canterbury.

George Burrough of New England, 1692.

George Burrough, the American emigrant of the seventeenth century, whose name in his adopted country was more frequently written Burrowes, is best known as the chief victim of the final outburst of religious fanaticism which tarnishes the history of the New England settlements. His whole story is tinged with adventure. Son of a Limehouse merchant and grandson of the puritan Rector of Pettaugh, it is probable that his theological leanings, and much intercourse with the old sea dogs of his native place, led him to cross the Atlantic. He graduated at Harvard in 1670. His daughter Rebecca was baptized at Roxbury in 1674. In 1676 we find him preaching at Falmouth, in the province of Massachusetts, with such acceptance that the community granted him two hundred acres for his services. Scarcely was he thus settled when the Indians, thirsting for blood, swooped down upon the place and massacred its inhabitants. With such as survived he escaped to Bang's Island in the harbour, from whence he wrote the details of the disaster which were forwarded to the Governor and Council at Boston. In 1680 he was ministering at Salem, where unhappily he made enemies, but had returned to Falmouth in 1683. Again the Indians sacked the place, and again he escaped with his life. On the 8th of May 1692, he was charged with witchcraft and sent to prison. The official records of his trial on the 3rd of August following are a sufficient vindication of his character. His indictment, dated 9th May in the 4th year of William and Mary, King and Queen of England, sets forth that George Burrough, late of Falmouth in the province of Massachusetts Bay, clerk, had used those detestable arts called Witchcraft within the town of Salem against one Mary Walcott and others, she being thereby tortured, consumed, wasted and tormented, against the peace of our Sovereign Lord and Lady, the said King and Queen. Witnesses confessed that he had administered witch sacraments at their meetings. Their testimony, such as it was, was corroborated by circumstantial evidence. Burrough was a man of extraordinary strength and activity. On one occasion he had carried a cask of cyder unaided from a canoe to the shore; and on another had lifted, and whirled around him, a barrel of molasses by putting his finger in the bunghole; and on yet another had held out a gun of seven feet barrel with one hand. Upon his urging that an Indian, who was present on the last occasion, had done the same, it was answered by his accusers that the latter must have been the Devil, who, the witnesses swore, looks like an Indian. It was said that his house was haunted with spirits, that he could tell what his wives (for he had been two or three times married) had been doing during his absence, and that he knew their secret thoughts Incredible as it may seem, he was convicted on evidence like this. He was hanged on the 19th of August, on the Gallow's Hill at Salem. His last prayer at his funeral, for he was buried immediately afterwards, was so solemn, pertinent and affecting, that Cotton Mather, the fanatical divine, who had busied himself at his accusation, trial and execution, and who had preached when his last struggle had ended, was driven to say that no man could have made such a prayer unless the devil had helped him.

But the witch finders had gone too far. A man of blameless life, of unusual attainments and of singular generosity, had been judicially murdered, and public opinion began to turn. One month later, Giles Cory, the last that suffered from these wretched charges, refusing to plead, was pressed to death. Nineteen persons had been killed, professing their innocence. The gaol at Salem was full of prisoners. Accusations were bandied about in all directions, implicating members of the Council and even the Governor's wife, Lady Phipps. It became clear to all right thinking persons that an end must be made to so dangerous a movement. At the Court in January all the prisoners were practically acquitted. Mr. Sewall, one of George Burrough's judges, at a public fast, acknowledged the error he had made, and desired to humble himself in the sight of God. In 1711, the Government, confessing the wrong doing, at the instance of Charles Burrough, one of his sons, made such restitution as was in their power, and granted special provision for his heirs, who still held, it would seem, the two hundred acres which had been given him at Roxbury.

George Burrough kept up his intercourse with his English kinsmen almost up to the day of his decease. He was the chief heir to his father in 1681 and to his uncle, John Styles, in 1685. In 1689, another uncle, Charles Burrough of Ipswich, remembered him in his will. He corresponded, mostly on business matters, with William Burrough of Staple Inn, his cousin german, as late as 1692. His affairs are referred to in the Chancery Proceedings in Vere c. Burrough, Mitford III, cccxci, and Burrough c. Buckland, Mitford III, ccccxii. He had many children. By her marriage with Peter Thomas of Boston, his daughter Elizabeth became the ancestress of a numerous and distinguished progeny, Isaiah Thomas, LL.D., who founded the American Antiquarian Society, being one of her descendants. I appoint my said son John Highmore whole and sole executor. In witness whereof I have here unto sett my hand and seal this fifth day of March 1719. Probatum decimo octavo die Martij 1719 juramento Joh̃is Highmore armigeri filij dicti defuncti. P.C.C. 62 Shaller.

Will of John Burrough, 1724.

I John Burrough of Ipswich, Gent., do make this my last will in manner following. I give to my daughter Mrs Amy Blois ffifty pounds for mourning and to her husband Robert Blois Esqr the like sum. To my brother in law Richard Philipes Esqr ten guineas to buy him a ring in remembrance of me. To my brother in law, Mr Francis Coleman and my nephew Mr Philips Coleman his son ten guineas a peice. To my sister Mrs Pister and to her son in law Mr George Prettyman junr and Jane his wife my neice, one guinea apeice to buy them rings. I give the sum of one hundred pounds, which I will shall be laid out by Mr Robert Edgar, Mr John Catchpoole, Mr Benjamin Crocker and Mr Robert Manister, all of Stephen's parish in Ipswich, in the purchase of land, in trust that the profitts of the said premisses shall yearly be laid out in bread and be distributed amongst the poor of said parish who shall attend divine service there, so often as there shall be a sermon. I give all my messuages, lands, and real estate and the residue of my personal estate unto my dear and loving wife Amy Burrough, and constitute her sole executrix. The thirteenth day of June 1724. Probatum vicesimo quinto die Augusti, 1727, juramento Amiæ Burrough executricis. P.C.C. 180 Farrant.

Will of Amy Blois, 1732.

Amy Blois of Grundisburgh in the county of Suffolke, widow. To be decently interred in Westminster Abbey for which I direct my executrix hereafter named to expend the sume of one hundred pounds. I give and bequeath to my mother the Lady Kemp my diamond necklace, ear rings and ring. I give to my uncle Coleman twenty pounds to buy him a ring. I give to my cousin Coleman twenty pounds to buy a ring. To my cousin Prettyman tenn pounds to buy a ring. I give thirty pounds to be distributed to parsons widowes and orphans. I give twenty pounds to the poore debtors in Ipswich Gaol. I also direct that my manors of Grundisburgh, Burgh Hall and Cleaves in the County of Suffolke be sold to Sir Charles Blois if he will give a thousand pounds for it to pay my debts and legacies. All the rest I give to my said mother the Lady Kemp who I appoint my sole executrix. Eighth March 1732. Proved at London 17 Aprill 1733, by the oath of Dame Amy Kemp (the wife of Sr Robert Kemp, Barronet) the mother of said deceased and sole executrix. P.C.C. 109 Price.

Will of Elizabeth Burrough, 1741.

Elizabeth Burrough of the parish of St George's Bloomsbury in the county of Middlesex widow. I commend my soul to Almighty God hoping to be accepted for the meritts of my blessed Saviour Jesus Christ, and I commit my body to the earth to be decently and privately buried in the middle aisle of the church of St Andrews Holborn in the vault wherein my late husband William Burrough and William Burrough my son do both lye interred, and that in about a week after my decease. To my daughter Margaret Burrough one guinea for a ring. To my three grandsons Thomas Burrough, and William Burrough and Charles Burrough each of them one guinea for a ring, My executor shall provide my grandson William Burrough, who is gone to sea, with necessarys for the first two years as I was obliged to do. I devise the residue of my personal estate to my three grandsons Thomas Burrough, William Burrough and Charles Burrough equally. Lastly I nominate James Hughes of the parish of St George's Bloomsbury sole executor this thirteenth day of March 1741. On the twenty first day of October 1743 Admon of the goods of Elizabeth Burrough, widow, were granted to William Burrough the grandson and one of the residuary legatees, for that James Hughes the executor named in the will renounced the execution.

P.C.C. 304 Boycott.

Will of Dame Amy Kemp, 1745.

Dame Amy Kemp of Kesgrave in the County of Suffolk, widow. To Philips Colman of Ipswich Esqr and to Elizabeth his wife the sum of ffifty pounds each, having already made him a present of seven hundred pounds in the month of July last past, as also a present of all my Jewells to the said Mrs Colman. Also I give to Martha the wife of Mr Dorrell Short, to Thomas Hodges of Ipswich Esquire and to the Reverend Mr Thomas Bishop of the same town ffifty pounds each. I give to the Corporation lately erected for the Relief of the Clergyman's Widows within the County of Suffolk the sum of one hundred pounds and to the Hospital School in Ipswich the sum of two hundred and fforty pounds which I will shall be paid to the major part of the Portmen of the said town. I desire to be buryed under the seat I usually sit in in the Church of Kesgrave, late at night in a very private manner, and that my corpse may be carryed there by twelve Poor Men of the said parish to whom I give for their trouble ffive shillings each. To the poor of Kesgrave ffive pounds; also to the Minister who shall perform the duty of my ffuneral the sum of six guineas for a ring. The rest of my estate I give to my brother Richard Phillips Esquire and I appoint him sole executor. The eleventh day of October 1745. Proved the eighteenth day of ffebruary by the oath of Richard Philips Esquire. P.C.C. 53 Edmunds.

Will of John Highmore, 1757.

I John Highmore of the parish of Saint Paul Covent Garden in the County of Middlesex Esquire being in declining health and not knowing how soon it may please God to take me out of this transitory life do therefore make my will. First and principally I commend my soul to God and my body to the earth to be decently buried in a genteel and handsome manner in the vault in the parish church of Saint James Westminster, and I do particularly enjoyn my executor that my body be put in a substantial leaden coffin within one of the most durable kind of wood and that the lid be kept open and not fixed down until immediately before my interment which I desire may not be made within the space of ten days after my decease unless my corpse will not admit of being so long kept. I give to my nephew Thomas Burrough my executor the sum of ten pounds in trust that he do pay the same to the Churchwardens and Overseers of St James Westminster to be by them distributed amongst the poor. Also ten pounds to the Churchwardens and Overseers of Hampton in the County of Middlesex for the same purpose. To my cousin Mary Sheaf, wife of . . . Sheafe the sum of twenty pounds for mourning and to . . . Burnel, daughter of my late cousin Thomas Burnel the sum of twenty pounds. Also I will my executor pay a bond given by him to my late cousin the Reverend Mr Samuel Highmore for payment of sixty three pounds with interest. Also I require him to pay one other bond given to one . . . Neale for the use of the two daughters of William Cler, vintner, late of Stafford Street in the parish of St George Hanover Square. I require that all bonds given me by my late cousin Elizabeth Goldfinch widow and my said cousin Mary Sheaf and her husband shall be cancelled. Also I will that all bonds given me by my nephews Thomas Burrough and William Burrough be cancelled and I give to my said nephew William Burrough the sum of eight pounds for mourning and a mourning ring of one Guinea value, also the sum of two hundred pounds. I devise him for his life one annuity of ffifty pounds out of my lands. I heartily hope and hereby admonish my nephew and executor Thomas Burrough as my dying request that he will from time to time preserve brotherly love and affection towards my said nephew William and render him the best advice and services in his power. I bequeath my said nephew Thomas Burrough a mourning ring of one Guinea value to be worn in remembrance of me, also the residue of my estate, and I do appoint him sole executor. In witness whereof I have to this my will written on one skin of parchment set my hand and seal the second day of August 1756.

Since making my last will I have thought proper by way of Codicil to make the following alterations therein. I now exempt the ffarm at Bramford near Ipswich in Suffolk and the ffreehold house in Old Bond Street and my personal estate from being chargeable for the annuity to my nephew William Burrough. But as to the large ffreehold house in Albemarl Street lett by lease to the Right Honrable Elizabeth Countess of Kildare, the Coach houses and stables in Ormand Mews and the lands in Islington and all other lands I may dye possessed of it is my will that they should stand as security for said annuity. Amongst my personal estate, besides money, Stock in the publick ffunds &c. I may probably dye possessed of a considerable quantity of plate and china ware, some gold and some silver watches, some genteel ffamily seals, some diamond and some gold ffamily rings, some pictures of considerable value, part of them being portraits of my ffamily, a considerable collection of books besides linnen furniture and curiosities, I earnestly desire my said nephew Thomas Burrough that with the affection of a worthy and truly loving brother he will cause (certain) bequeathed effects to be delivered into the hands of my said nephew William, and I recommend it to him that he will be as much more bountifull to his said brother as he reasonably can in things not absolutely enjoined by my will. My cousin Mr Joseph Highmore of Lincoln Inn Feilds his son and daughter and my cousin Mrs Mary Sheaf likewise the sons of my late cousin the Reverend Mr Samuel Highmore and the sons and daughters of my late cousin Mr Nathaniel Highmore I desire may be invited to my ffuneral and that a mourning ring of one Guinea value may be presented to each of them. As for my nephew William Burrough should he be so far distant from London as he now is it will be much too far for him to travel to town to attend my ffuneral. Mr Benjamin Kishire of Poland Street whom I formerly appointed undertaker of the ffuneral of my late sister I now appoint undertaker of my own. I the said John Highmore have to this codicil set my hand and seal the thirtieth day of January 1757 in the presence of John Gubbins, Sarah Gubbins, David Ewart Not. Pub.

This will was proved with codicil annexed the fourth day of April 1759 by the oath of Thomas Burrough Esquire the sole executor. P.C.C, 133 Arran.

Towards the middle of the eighteenth century the period between death and interment, which in the time of Queen Elizabeth and James the First had been but one or two days, became considerably lengthened, apparently from a dread which had developed itself in the public mind of being buried alive. Indeed directions were not unfrequently given by will, as in the present instance, for a still more protracted delay; some testators even insisting that their body should be kept an entire fortnight in an open coffin before it was finally committed to the ground.

Will of Thomas Burrough, 1772.

This is the last will of me Thomas Burrough of the parish of Saint Martin in the ffields in the county of Middlesex, Esquire, but now residing at Guildford in Surrey. I give unto Nathaniel Highmore of the Mayor's Court Office, London, gentleman, all my lands near Holloway in the county of Middlesex for life, and after his decease to my neice Mary the wife of John Strong of the city of Carlisle, gentleman, her heirs and assigns for ever. . . I give to Nathaniel Highmore aforesaid and Thomas Sibthorpe of the Middle Temple London, gentleman, all other my messuages &c. whatsoever, upon the several trusts herein expressed. In the first place to suffer Mary Street of Stoke next Guildford, spinster, to take out of my messuages in Albemarle Street and Bond Street and Ormond Mews the yearly sum of eighty pounds for her natural life: and further to pay unto my neice Mary the wife of John Strong the annual sum of twenty pounds, to my nephew John Burrough the annual sum of twenty pounds, to my nephew Charles Burrough the annual sum of twenty pounds, to my niece Margaret Burrough the annual sum of ffifteen pounds, to my neiee Elizabeth Burrough the annual sum of ffifteen pounds. From the deeease of Mary Street, Nathaniel Highmore and Thomas Sibthorpe shall stand seized of said messuages for the use of my said nephews John Burrough and Charles Burrough and my said neices Margaret Burrough and Elizabeth Burrough. Said Nathaniel Highmore and Thomas Sibthorpe to sell my messuage at Guildford. To John Ewart of Brampton in the county of Cumberland the sum of fforty pounds, as a token of my grateful remembrance of the kindness he has shewn to myself, nephews and neiees. To my servant James Blanch the sum of ffive hundred pounds. I do direct that the clear residue of my personal estate shall be divided into five equal parts, and executors shall pay one part to Mary Strong, one to John Burrough, one to Charles Burrough, one to Margaret Burrough and the remaining part to Elizabeth Burrough. And I do appoint the said Nathaniel Highmore and Thomas Sibthorpe to be executors. I do declare this only to be my last will this seventh day of December 1772.

By Codicil dated 7 Novr 1775 the testator devised his messuage at Guildford to James Blanch his servant and his heirs for ever. By another Codicil, 7th June 1776, he left to the said James Blanch all his printed books, his bureaus, salts, drinking glasses, china, table clock made by Tho. Tompion, his ffurniture &c. &c.; to the wife of Mr Anthony Highmore and the longest liver of her daughters, his gold repeating watch; to Anthony Highmore junior his small gold watch with the gold chain and seals thereunto belonging.

This will was proved, with Codicils, the seventh day of November 1780 by the oaths of the executors. P.C.C. 504 Collins.

Forth of London.

Chancery Proceedings, Forth v. Bacon, 1601.

2. Eliz. B. & A. FF. 2. 40.

In most humble wise complayning sheweth Phillipp Forthe of Hadleighe in the Countie of Suff. gentleman, that Wiłłm Forthe late of Hadleighe, Esquier, father vnto yor Orator, was in his life tyme seased of one capital messuage & threeskore acres of land in Hadleigh aforesaid and of divers other lands in Hadleighe, Reydon, Hundlesham and Aldham, to the yerely valewe of one hundred pounds. And soe seased did, abowte the eighteenth yere of the Quenes Matie that nowe is, take to wyfe Dorothe Harvey, and for her joynture did convey said lands and tenements vnto John Kene late of Starston in the Countie of Norff. gent. and Edward Bacon of Redenhall in Norff. gent. to the vse of the said Wiłłm Forthe and Dorothie his wyfe, and the right heires of the said Wiłłm for ever. Said William Forthe afterwards acknowledged recognizances to Wiłłm Averye of Skole, and vnto Adam Wyntropp of Groton gent., and after, abowte the ffortethe yere of her Matie said Raigne, by his last will did devise vnto Israell Forthe of Hadleighe gent., brother of the said Wiłłm, said capitall messuage for tenn yeres. Said lands descended vnto yor Orator as eldest sonne & next heire vnto said Wiłłm & Dorothe. But the deed of entayle and divers other escripts and muniments ben causually come to the hands of the said Wiłłm Averye, Adam Wyntropp, Israell Forthe, Edward Bacon and Hester Keene of Starston widowe, or some of them, who have made estates in secret manner to their owne vse, wherby they intend to disinherit yor Orator.

The scuall answere of Edward Bacon gent. one of the Defend^ts^. Abowte the xviij^th^ yere of the Raigne of o^r^ Souerigne Lady Elizabeth, Wiłłm Forth, father of the Comp^lt^, did take to wyfe Dorothe Harvy kynswoman vnto this Def^t^ and for her joynture did assure said lands vnto John Keene late of Starston in Norff. gent. and vnto this Defend^t^; wch deed the said John Keene, as this Defend^t^ hath heard, did all his lyfe tyme verie safelie keep for the benifitt of the said Dorothe & her children. Said deed came to the possession of Hester Keene wyfe of the said John, and his sole and only executrix.

Unmindful of the parish registers and the inscription in Hadleigh Church, the pedigree on page 119 of the present volume, following too closely Harl. MS. 1560, makes the younger sons of William Forth to be the children of a second wife, the daughter of . . . Kene. It is clear, however, as well from the inscription and registers referred to as from the Chancery Proceedings just recited and the Kene-Harvey pedigree in Harl. MS. 1552, that Dorothy Harvey was the mother, and Joan Kene the grandmother, of the sons in question, in common with their brothers and their sister.

To my aforesaid cousin Dannetta Dellingham's two daughters one hundred pounds a peice. To each of the two daughters of my cousin Elizabeth Wildbore daughter of my late uncle John Foorth one hundred pounds. To my cousin Elizabeth Baker, wife of James Baker, one hundred pounds. To my aforesaid cousin Mary Terry's son and daughter, ffifty pounds a peice. To Richard Baker Cittizen and Skinner of London and to Anne his wife ffive pounds a peice. To the three children of widow Smith, who was the neice of Martha Lathum deceased, twenty pounds. My late dear husband did desire me to give unto Joseph Higgison son of my neice Elianor Higgison the summe of one hundred pounds. I do likewise give him the further summe of one hundred pounds. To my loving brother Benjamin Marshall and to my neice Anne Marshall the summe of two hundred pounds a peice. To my said neice Elianor Higgison one hundred pounds and to my cousin Sarah Foorth daughter of my late uncle Dannett Foorth twenty pounds. To my cousin Joseph Reynolds, writing master, one hundred pounds.

To Sr Nathaniel Meade ten guineas for mourning and to Dr. Richard Meade also ten guineas. To Mr Tongue and Mr Newman, Ministers of Salters Hall London ten pounds each. To Mrs Elizabeth Johnson widow, ten guineas. To my cousin Mary Meade wife of Robert Meade son of my uncle Mathew Meade my best muff tippet. To Mrs Anne Ashley my gold watch. To Mrs Anne Clarke, daughter of Mr Clarke the Dissenting Minister ten pounds, and to Mrs Rebecca Bedford ffive pounds. I will that eighty rings of twenty shillings price each shall be given amongst my relations and acquaintance. To my loving cousin William Meade of Aylesbury, gent. all my late jewels and household goods, and the residue of my estate, and I ordain him sole executor 16th January 1715. Probatum decimo quinto die Junij 1716 juramento Gulielmi Meade executoris. P.C.C. 121 Fox.

Will of Mary Forth, 1717.

The last Will and Testament of me Mary Forth of Mildenhall in the County of Suffolk, spinster, made this seventh day of July 1717. I give unto my youngest sister Sarah Forth all my apparel and linnen. One half of all my lands and tenements to my said sister Sarah Forth and her heirs for ever and the other moiety unto my two brothers William Forth and Isaac Forth and my sister Anne Forth and their heires as tenants in comon and not as joint tenants. I appoint my dear Mother Mrs Anne Forth sole executrix, to whom I give such rents, issues and proffetts as shall first grow due. Probatum vicesimo octavo die Novembris 1721 juramento Annæ Foorth executricis. P.C.C. 200 Buckingham.

Will of Margaret Forth, 1718.

Margaret Foorth of the parish of St Mary Magdalen Bermondsey widow. To Charles Price and Margaret his wife of the parish aforesaid. To Margaret Price their daughter one hundred pounds to be paid to Nathaniel Price her uncle until she attain her age of one and twenty years. If she die before such age I give said hundred pounds to Elizabeth Price her sister. Unto Alice Powell widow, Joseph Powell, Mary Slingsby, Peter Powell and Ursula Powell. To Elizabeth Murrill and Alice Reddish of the parish of St Gyles Cripplegate. To John Sargant the elder and John Sargant the younger both of the County of Salop and to Jane Sargant. To Richard Purcell of Kenwick Parke in the County of Salop. To Thomas Jukes, Vicar of Halesowen, co. Salop and to Sarah his wife and to Sarah and Elizabeth his daughters and to George and Charles his sons. To Mary Crosley at Hooke in Hampshire. To Thomas and John Pursell. All the residue of my estate to William Jukes who for some time past hath been assisting to me in my affaires since the death of my late dear husband George Foorth and was his near kinsman. I appoint said William Jukes full and sole executor. I bequeath my lands and messuages to the said William Jukes and doe ratify the settlement of some part of them which I have made by Indenture tripartite bearing date 14th and 15th March 1717 between me the said Margarett Foorth and John Willins of London, brewer, of the first part, Lewen Cholmley of London, gent. and Thomas Smalley of the parish of St Mary Magdalen Bermondsey, of the second part, and the said William Jukes of the third part, of some part of my lands and tenements To this will I sett my hand and seale this 23d August 1718. Probatum nono die Octobris 1718 juramento Willmi Jukes executoris.

Will of Henry Forth, 1746.

Henry Forth of Darlington co. Durham, Esqr 5th April, 1746. To Abraham Hilton, second son of Abraham Hilton of Cockerton co. Durham Esqr by Marg^{t} his wife my eight messuages in Darlington. To Mrs Mary Vane, 2nd daughter of the Honble Henry Vane of Raby Castle, all those five closes in Darlington called Skepper Closes, held by me under lease from the Bishop of Durham; also three closes called Wardale Furrs, held of the Manor of Bondgate in Darlington; also my five sixth share of those water corn mills in Darlington called the Bishop's Mills. To said Mrs Mary Vane my messuage or farmhold at Stoddy alias Stothey, parish of Dinsdale; also my messuages or farmholds in the parishes of Middleton St George and Newbiggin, all sometime since purchased by me from the R^{t} Hon. Christ^{r} Lord Barnard. To Mary Hilton, infant daughter of s^{d} Abraham & Margaret Hilton £200. To Captain Anthony Smith £50.

To s^{d} Hon. Henry Vane, my study of books, & also those six pictures or portraits of the family to which I have the honour to belong, desiring that they may remain at Raby Castle for the use & entertainm^{t} of himself & such of his posterity as shall at any time reside there.

If s^{d} Mrs Mary Vane shall die before me, then the messẽs &c. devised to her to go to the younger children of s^{d} Henry Vane by the R^{t} Hon. the Lady Grace Vane. Residue of personal & real estate in the Counties of Durham & York to s^{d} Mrs Mary Vane, my executrix.

And now after resigning my soul into the hands of Almighty God for pardon & forgiveness of my sins through the only merits & mediation of my blessed Saviour, & leaving my body to the discretion of my exẽtrix, not being in the least solliciteous about it, I take my leave of a vane & troublesome world, a place I have long thought upon with indifferancy.

If s^{d} Mary Hilton die under twenty one, I give s^{d} £200 to James son of Mr Abraham Smith of Bp. Auckland, clerk. To Mr Richd Hilton of Darlington £10.

Admoñ with will annexed granted 8 July 1746 by the Prerogative Court of York.

Chancery Proceedings, Tillie v. Forth, 1698.

James Tillie of Pentillie Castle in Cornwall, complainant. John Forth Esqr, heretofore Alderman of London, had large brewhouses at Kingston on Thames and Taunton co. Somerset and sugar works in Middlesex and iron-works in Worcestershire and was a Farmer of the Excise and of the Kings Revenues in Ireland. He became indebted to His Majesty fifty thousand pounds and mortgaged his property. He died intestate in Decr 1676, leaving issue by Albinia his relict, a daughter of Sir Henry Vane, Henry Forth an infant of very tender years, and by a former wife Elizabeth Forth and Martha Forth then under age. Albinia in forlorn condition sought assistance of your Orator, who afterwards married . . . Vane one of her sisters, and your Orator helped them all. Matthew Meade of London, clerk, and Dame Frances Vane, mother of said Albinia, were parties to trusts. Albinia died in August or September, 1679. Thomas Hillersden Esqr had married Anne, eldest sister of the whole blood to Elizabeth and Martha, and Joseph Dawson, Alderman of London, deceased, married one other sister. Christopher Vane Esqr, now Christopher Lord Bernard was himself a creditor of John Forth, who was greatly involved. Your Orator preserved some houses at Stroud Green &c. for Henry Forth the son who was under his care. Elizabeth Forth abovenamed married Nicholas Wildbore and Martha Forth one Hillersden of Devonshire. Henry Forth came of age and, influenced by some of his great relations, brought actions at law against your Orator. Reynardson I. and II, 475-80.

Appleton of Waldingfield.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Appleton of Waldingfield, at the Suffolk Visitation of 1577, were Argent, a fess Sable, between three apples Gules, stalked and leaved Vert. The Crest, an elephant's head Sable, eared and tusked Or, wreathed round the trunk a snake entering the mouth Vert. The same Arms and Crest were allowed at the Visitation of 1664, with a shield of pretence, for More of Wiggenhall St. Germain, Sable, a swan with wings expanded Argent, beaked and legged Or, within a border engrailed. A separate escutcheon at the side of the tricking in Harl. MS. 1085 has More quartering Ermine a spear's head embrued with blood proper.

On the brass of Mary Appleton, 1526, in the church of Waldingfield Magna, her figure is surmounted by an achievement in which Appleton quarters Crane, Argent, a fess between three crosses crosslet fitchée Gules, and impales Mountney, Azure, a bend between six martlets Or.

Some heraldic collections of the seventeenth century, as, for example, Harl. MSS. 1196 and 1560, represent Appleton's coat as Quarterly of twelve: 1, Appleton; 2, Crane; 3, Mollington, Or, a fess between two chevrons Azure; 4, Carbonell, Gules, a cross Argent, within a border engrailed Or; 5, Butler, Argent, three covered cups in bend Sable, cotised Gules; 6, Sexton; 7, Mountney; 8, Isack, Sable, a bend Or, in sinister chief a leopard's face of the second; 9, Condy, "Vice-admirall to the Kynge," Barry wavy Argent and Azure, three anchors Or (the MSS. differ as to the number of bars and of anchors); 10, Tuke, per chevron Argent and Sable, three cranes' heads erased counterchanged; 11, Hawte, Or, a cross engrailed Gules; 12, Wheathill, per fess Azure and Or, a pale counterchanged, three lions rampant of the second. Crest, out of a ducal coronet Or, three pine apples Vert, the tops purfled of the first. Motto, "Difficilis sed fructuosa."

It should be observed that these MSS. have no official authority, that the crest they depict is not that of the Suffolk Visitations, and that some at least of the numerous quarterings attributed to Appleton have been assumed upon evidence which is exceedingly doubtful.

An excellent account of the Waldingfield family will be found in the "Memorial of Samuel Appleton of Ipswich, Massachusetts," by Isaac Appleton Jewett. It gives in full the pedigrees of Appleton and Isaack of Kent from Harl. MS. 1196, together with engravings, including the brass of Mary Appleton, and with transcripts of family documents, such as the most genealogical will of Robert Ryece, 1637, and the ancient Appleton inscriptions at Waldingfield, as copied by Weever. On the other hand, the Appleton Pedigree and Arms from the Visitation of 1577 and from Harl. MS. 1560, will be found in that useful work, "The Visitations of Suffolk," edited by Walter C. Metcalfe, F.S.A.

Weever's "Funeral Monuments," p. 759.

The brief but authentic pedigree of Appleton of Waldingfield, taken by Cooke, Clarencieux, at the Suffolk Visitation in 1577, begins with the marriage of William Appleton with Rose Sexton. But Harl. MSS. 1560 and 1196 add, upon what authority we know not, a number of earlier descents. John Appleton of Waldingfield Magna, 1416, they say, had issue John Appleton of Waldingfield Magna, 1459, and he in his turn had two sons, Thomas, who died in 1467, and John, who died in 1483—the latter being father, by Margaret his wife, of Thomas Appleton, who married Margaret Crane. These MSS., helpful as they are, abound with statements which are not supported by evidences. Together with the Appleton genealogies compiled by Candler and Blois in the time of the Usurpation, they form the basis of the pedigree which appears on the next page.

Like most of the pedigrees in the Harleian MSS., that of Appleton above given cannot be relied upon for exactitude of statement in all its details. Margery Crane, the wife of Thomas Appleton, was not the daughter, but the sister of the Robert Crane who married Anne Ogard, and is indeed so described by him in his will, now in the custody of the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury. We learn alike from his Inquisition post mortem and from the will of Dame Anne Arundel, his relict, that he died without surviving issue and that Robert Crane, his brother's son, was his heir. Alice Spring, again, the second wife of Thomas Spring of Lavenham, was the daughter of one King of Boxford. Margery Spring (not Alice as stated on p. 73), the first wife, was sister and executrix of Thomas Appleton. To this day it is not quite certain whether William Appleton, who married Rose Sexton and Edward Appleton, his brother, were not the nephews rather than the sons of Robert Appleton and Mary Mounteney, who left no wills, and died unnoticed by the escheators of their day.

Will of Thomas Moore of Wiggenhall St. Germains, 1666.

I'TH NAME OF GOD AMEN. I Thomas Moore the fourth yeare of my age above threeseore Revokeing all the wills I made before make this my last. And First I doe implore Allmighty God, into his hands to take my soule whieh not alone himselfe did make
But did redeeme it with the pretious bloode of his Deare soune; that tytle still holds good.
I next bequeath my body to the dust
From whenee it Came, which is no more than just.
Desireing yet that it bee laid close by my eldest daughter though I say not why,
And leave my Grandehild Martha (but her due) my Lands and all my Chattells save a fewe you shall hereafter in this sehedule finde to pyetye or Charitye designed, whome I my Sole Exeeutrix invest to pay these and my debts and take the rest.
But since that shee is vnder age I pray
Sr Edward Walpole and her ffather may the Supervisors bee of this my will Provided that my Cousen Colvile still and Maior Speneely their assistants bee foure honest men are more than two or three.
And then I shall not Care how soone I dye
if they aeeept it, and I'll tell you why.
There's not a man of them but is so just with whome almost my soule I durst not trust.
Provided shee do make her seeond sonne
heyre to my house at least and halfe my land
If shee have sueh—and when she has soe done
Shee be a meanes to let him vnderstand
It is my wish his name be written thus
T. A. B. C. or D. Moore alius.

To the poore of Germans twenty pounds for a stocke to sett the poore on worke. It ease it please God my grandehild Martha should dye ere she come of age or be married I doe deelare Thomas Gurling the sonne of Mary Gurling to be my heire. Martha my wife to ioyne with my supvisors in matching my grandehild Maria. The 22th day of November 1666. Probatum fuit decimo quinto die January 1667. Juramentꝰ Marthæ Appleton. P.C.C. 90 Hene.

In the chancel of Wiggenhall St. Germains, Norfolk, there is an inseription in memory of Martha, wife of Robert Appleton, Esq., eldest daughter and eoheir of Thomas Moore. She died 10th Oetober 1653. And near this is a monument ereeted by Martha Appleton, her daughter, the "grandchild Martha" of the above will, in sorrowing memory of Thomas Moore, her grandfather, who passed happily to a better world on the 7th of November 1667. Blomefield, IX, 193.

Doggett of Groton.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms allowed at the Visitation of London in 1664 to "John Doget, m̃chant," descended from "Grotten in Suff:" were Gules, two greyhounds salient combatant, Or, collared Argent. The crest was an unicorn's head, Ermine, maned Or, horned Argent. Harl. MS. 1086. The shield is a slight variant of that of Doggett of Honingham and Shernbourn in Norfolk, in which the greyhounds are collared Sable. But the crest of the latter family is altogether distinct—a lion's head erased, Or, gorged with a mural coronet, Sable. Harl. MS. 1552. These insignia, together with others borne by various families of the name, form the frontispiece of the "History of the Doggett—Daggett Family," by Samuel Bradlee Doggett, one of those excellent genealogies for which the Americans are famous, the result of prolonged and often costly research, alike amongst the ancient records of this country and the more modern registries on the other side of the Atlantic. This work, for which the Editor is indebted for much useful information, abounds with illustrations, the views of Groton and Boxford Churches being exceptionally clear and artistic.

Feet of Fines, Suffolk, Mich., 4 Chas. I.

It need scarcely be stated that the sum mentioned in this document is a merely nominal one. There is a letter of Thomas Doggett respecting this property in the Massachusetts' Historical Society's "Collections," Series V, Vol. I, 179, dated 6th Oct. 1627, addressed "To my very loving brother Mr John Winthrop Esqr at his house in Groton." "You desire," he says, "to helpe me wth a chapman for my house & land. I am to goe (God willing) wth my vnckle Brand to London to parley about the sale of it. I haue a plott of all my lands, and how many acres euery field & close cõteyne. I have been bidden 1800li for it, but my vnckle thinks it to be to littell. If a gent will buy it to dwell in my prise is twoe thousand pownd."

Alston v. Doggett, 1644.

The answare of Avice Doggett, widdowe, one of the Defts to the bill of Complt of Edward Alston, Complt.

This Deft doth not knowe of any discourse, bgayne or agreemt betwen the Complt and Willm Doggett, some tymes her husband, and is a meere stranger to all the passages in the Complts bill charged to the other Deft, Ann Duke, and her late husband. In 1610 the said Willm Doggett dyed. Before his death he made his last will and testamt and thereby amongst other things devised as followeth. "I give to Willm Doggett my sonne ffower hundred pounds, and to John Doggett my sonne ffower hundred pounds, and to Lappage Doggett my sonne one thousand pounds, and to Richard Doggett one thousand pounds, to be payd to euery of my said ffowre sonnes at their seuall ages of ffowre and twenty yeeres. I give vnto Anna Doggett my eldest daughter to be payd vnto her att her age of twenty yeeres. Allso I doe give to Suzan Doggett my second daughter, to Avice Doggett my third daughter, to Alice Doggett my ffourth daughter and to Dorothy Doggett my youngest daughter ffower hundred pounds apiece, to be payd vnto them at there seuall ages of twenty yeeres. I give to the poore people of Boxford ffifty pounds to be layd forth in a pareell of land wch shalbe pchased by John Doggett my brother and John Brond my brother in lawe wthin one yeere after my death. I doe give to Thomas Lappage, my father in lawe ffyve pounds; to Mr Joseph Bird the parson of Boxford ffyve pounds; and to Mr Henry Sands, the preacher of the said towne ffyve pounds. I doe give to my brother John Doggett ffyve pounds, and to Anne Kent my sister ffyve pounds, and to John Brond my brother in lawe ffyve pounds, and to my sister his wife ffourty shillings to make her a rynge, allso to euery one of my brother Bronds children ffourty shillings. I doe give to the governoures of the free schoole of the foundacõn of the late good Queene Elizabeth in Boxford tenn pounds." And of the same his will the devisor appoynted this Deft and Thomas Doggett his sonne Executors. But Thomas Doggett relinquishinge his executorshipp this Deft tooke vpon her thexecucõn of the said will and made pbate in the Progative Court of Canterbury, and caused the estate to be Inventoryed and apprized in 1610 and 1611. She hath payd many yeeres since seuall legacyes by the said will bequeathed, and hath long since fully administered her said husband's psonall estate, that came to her hands, and a thousand pounds more out of her owne purse. All wch matters this Deft is ready to averre, maynteyne and prove as this Honble Court shall award.

This answer was sworn to 18th April, 21 Charles I. and bears the signature of Avis Doggett the deponent. Chancery Proceedings, Mitford, 54, 44.

Will of Benjamin Doggett, 1705.

Kingston, Jamaica, 8th July 1703. Dear Brother. It is now about a week since I received two letters from you, the one dated in November the other in January, in which I had one inclosed from sister de Bary. I am just crawld out of a very severe ffeaver, and after that ffeaver an Ague, which by the help of God and the Jesuits Bark is gone, but shall be some time before I recover my strength. About three weekes since had a letter from your wife who has been sick of a ffeaver but recovered. (Here follows a passage in cypher). Ile serve her in everything lyes in my power. And now I must tell you that on the fourth instant by the packett Boat I received a letter from my Brother Otgher with an account of my Mother's death. When I consider how little advantage she had of liveing it is my opinion she is in the happier state now. I here send you a coppy of part of the letter that my brother Otgher sent me. Pray take noe notice of haveing received any letter from me—it will doe me a diskindness.

"She has made me (he writes) her sole executrix, but your brother John has thought fitt to enter a Caveat against my Administring, and will perhaps make me spend some money which would have done you and others good. There will be nothing comeing to him, and indeed his circumstances is very bad. He hath done very ill to come from his wife and children at Carolina to serve the Coll: who is but in bad circumstances himself. He thinketh to frighten me by his rough course, and force me to comply with him, but he hath mistaken his man. Your mother's estate is already by losses and by her weakness greatly reduced—which is none of my fault. She has left you 20^{l} for mourning and $\frac{1}{5}$ of the Residue, you allowing 360^{l} out of it which she formerly advanced you. I doubt not something will be comeing to you but can make you noe dividend till I have done with your brother. Your brother is to pay 620^{l} which he had advanced to him before he is to have his $\frac{1}{5}$ of the estate. I am sure he will be a debtor to the estate and, if he crosse me, can charge him with more. I heare he lodgeth in the Fleet, where he will have noe good Councell given him. But I value not the worst he can doe."

The Baggs just goeing so eannot inlarge. Sinee we are all mortall, and a little I have to expect, I here tell you I make you my sole exeeutor in case of Mortality, designing to make my will and leave you all I ean lay elaime to. My serviee to honest Tony, and all friends who ask after (me). I am in hast, dear Jack, your truely loving brother, Ben. Dogett. To Mr John Doggett. Probatum decimo quarto Novembris, 1706, juramento Johañis Dogett fratris, uniei exeeutoris in huñodo testamento nominat. Commissary of London, Will Book, 1706-7, fo. 166.

Drury of Rougham.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms, which accompany the earlier pedigrees of Drury, as for example in Harl. MS. 891, are Quarterly, 1 and 4, Drury; 2, Freysell; 3, Saxham. Later on, as the heiresses they married added their shields to the family escutcheon, the Drury quarterings became considerably augmented. The Drurys of Sussex, who claimed descent from Thomas Drury of Rougham, 1473, and Catherine Whitwell, his wife, bore Quarterly of Eight; 1 and 8, Drury; 2, Saxham; 3, Freysell; 4, Gedding; 5, Naunton; 6, Aspall; and 7, Whitwell. The Arms upon the monument in Rougham chancel to the memory of Sir Robert Drury, who died early in the reign of Charles the First, agree substantially with those allowed to Robert Drury of Tendring, a descendant of the Rougham family, at the Essex Visitation of 1664, a tricking of which appears in Harl. MS. 1085, and in the corresponding MS. at the College of Arms. (See the edition of Bysshe's Visitation of that County, edited by Dr. J. J. Howard, Maltravers Herald.) They are as follows:—

Arms.—Quarterly of 10; a mullet for difference:—

1, Drury, Argent, on a chief Vert, two mullets Or, pierced Gules.
2, Saxham, Argent, six cross crosslets fitchée Gules, 3, 2 and 1, a chief dancettée Azure.
3, Freysell, Sable, six cinquefoils Argent, 3, 2 and 1.
4, Gedding, Chequy, Argent and Gules, on a fess Azure, three round buckles Or, tongues fessways to the dexter side.
5, Naunton, Sable, three martlets Argent.
6, Aspale, Azure, three chevronels Or.
7, Whitwell, Gules, a fess chequy Argent and Sable, between three pairs of annulets interlaced Or.
8, Liston, Vert, ten bezants, 3, 3, 3 and 1.
9, Carbonell, Gules, a cross Argent within a bordure engrailed Or.
10, Bovill, Quarterly, Or and Sable.

Crest.—A greyhound courant Argent, collared and ringed Or. Below this monument is another representing a woman in a winding sheet, with Drury impaling Sable, two bars embattled and counter-embattled Argent, and in chief three plates, apparently for Barnes of Cambridgeshire. As is well-known to genealogists, the Drurys of Hawstead, who descend from a younger brother of the Drurys of Rougham, added a Tau cross to the mullets on the chief in the family arms, a fact which has given rise to many ingenious conjectures. See "East Anglian Notes and Queries," 1858, &c., Vol. I, pp. 12, 18, and Vol, III., p. 214.

The descents which follow are based for the most part upon the fine Drury pedigrees, now in the possession of Sir Hereward Wake and of F. S. E. Drury, Esq., which were compiled in 1612 by Thomas Drury of Rougham, and used by Sir John Cullum in the preparation of his "History of Hawstead." Valuable additions have been made from the Drury pedigrees in Add. MS. 5523, which are annotated by Le Neve, and in Harl. MS. 6071, which were written by Matthias Candler, a Suffolk contemporary of many of the later members of the family.

Drury of Hawstead.

Armorial Bearings.

The Arms of Drury, as depicted upon the monuments in Hawstead chancel to Sir Robert Drury, 1615, and to Elizabeth Drury his daughter, 1610, and upon the tomb of his sister, Lady Wray, at Ashby in Lincolnshire, are, in effect, Quarterly of 13:—

1, Drury, Argent, on a chief Vert, a cross Tau between two mullets pierced Or.
2, Saxham, Argent, six cross crosslets fitchée Gules, 3, 2 and 1, a chief dancettée Azure.
3, Freysell, Sable, six cinquefoils Argent, 3, 2 and 1.
4, Gedding, Chequy, Argent and Gules, on a fess Azure, three round buckles Or.
5, Sotehill, Gules, an eagle displayed Argent.
6, Plompton, Azure, three fusils in fess Or, each charged with an escallop Gules.
7, Vilers, Azure, a fess Or, between six lions rampant Argent.
8, Murdac, Bendy of 10, Argent and Azure.
9, Boyville, Gules, a fess Or, between three saltires couped Argent.
10, Endesor, Argent, a fess between three horse-shoes Gules.
11, Beaufils, Gules, three fusils in fess barry wavy Argent and Azure.
12, Foljambe, Sable, a bend between six escallops Or.
13, Poynings, Barry Or and Vert, a bend Gules.

Quarterings Nos. 5 to 13, which were brought in by the Sotehill marriage, occur in a pedigree in Philpotts' "Suffolk" at the College of Arms. They are given on the shield of Elizabeth Sotehill, as impaled with those of her husband, Sir William Drury, on his brass in Hawstead church, 1557, figured by Gage. The Crest of Drury of Hawstead, like that of Drury of Rougham, is a greyhound courant Argent, collared and ringed Or. A crescent is sometimes added for difference.

The Suffolk historians, Cullum in his "History of Hawstead," and Gage in his "History of Thingoe," have devoted many pages to their most interesting memoirs of the Druries. The latter has given us, almost in extenso, the wills of five members of the Hawstead house; those, namely, of Nicholas Drury of Bury, 1454; Elizabeth, wife of Henry Drury, 1475; Roger Drury, 1493 Sir Robert Drury, 1532; and Sir William Drury, 1557. That of Dame Anne Drury of Hardwick, 1621, widow of Sir Robert, will be found in "Bury Wills and Inventories," edited for the Camden Society by that excellent antiquary the late Samuel Tymms, F.S.A.

Will of Susanna Drury, 1606.

I will have that to bestowe on my selfe for a monumente. O Lord! I have forgotten mistris Sadler (speakinge of the wife of Frances Sadler, servante vnto Sr John Scotte) who hathe more need than all of you. I pray you" (speakinge to her sisters) "let her have somwhat of that wch is lefte for to doo her good, for I knowe I have not geven all." Theis beinge wytnesses: Willyam Marshall, Bridgett Risheworthe, Gartred Barracliff her marcke.

Proved at London 14th Novr, 1606, by Sir William Cecill, Lord Burghley, and Sir William Wraye, the Executors. P.C.C. 81 Stafford.

This lady, who was sister to the last Sir Robert Drury of Hawstead, went a hunting whilst on a visit to Lady Wray at Glentworth in Lincolnshire. Being no horsewoman they fastened her to her saddle with straps that she might not be dismounted. The animal became restive and ran away, galloping furiously across the country. Her head dashed against the branches of a tree, and the injuries were fatal. She had time, it would seem, to make this will before she died. She was buried in Ashby church, hard by, where a splendid monument was erected to her memory. Her effigy reclines on a tomb supported by two greyhounds segant collared. "Unhappy only in her death," says the Latin inscription, "she burst the portals on the feast day of St. Michael, 1606, and joined the choirs of the blessed, having numbered but two and twenty years." "Gentleman's Magazine," 1831, part 2, p. 594.

Will of Sir Dru Drury, 1613.

The seaventh day of July, 1613, I Sr Drve Drvry of London, Knight, declare my last will in writinge, knowinge the vncertenty of my naturall lyfe. Will of Sir Robert Drury, 1615.

Havinge had occasions at sondry tymes to alter my will I have nowe Chosen rather to make this shorte will then to be w'thout any at all; therefore after that dutie that I owe vnto God of the Cheyfe legaey of my soule vnto him I doe appointe my poore vnworthy Corps to be laid in Hawsted Chaneell in A tombe wth my wife vpon whieh I doe will that a hundred poundes should bee bestowed, wth an effigie and memoriall over it of my worthy father. Next I doe giue vnto my wyfe, besides her thirds due by lawe, and Hargett wch I have conveyed to her for life, the manner wth the lands that I have att Snarshill in Norfolke for her life. Alsoe I doe will that in the partage of her thirds in Drury lane she should have the house I nowe dwell in allotted vnto her. I doe give her for her life all my meadowes in Bury and tithes in Hencotte farme. Alsoe all my plate Jewells and houshould stuffe and my Coaches and Coach horses and five hundred markes to her purse. Next I doe give vnto my loveing kinsman Sir Henry Drury of Hudgley, and for want of heires males of his body to Sr Drew Drury of Riddlesworth and heirs males, all my houses, gardens, stables and tenements in Drury Lane in St. Clements' parish wthout temple barre London. Alsoe vnto the same Sr Henry Drury of Hudgley in Buckinghamshire, and for want of heirs males of his body to the foresaid Sr Drew Drury of Riddlesworth in Norfolk, after the decease of my wife, the lands in Snarshill in Norfolk, and to the heires males of the said Sr Drew Drury, if W^m^, Roberte and Henry Drury, sonnes of Sr Henry Drury, should dye wthout yssue male; and the like for Drury house and those rentes in Drury lane. As for Hawstead house and all my landes in Suffolke I doe give it all vnto Sr Henry Drury of Hudgley, vntill my sisters, and those challenging by their right, have given to Sr Henry Drury and to Sr Drew Drury assurance of Drury house and Snarshill and those landes in Norfolke, that their may be noe contention. I will that Sr Henry Drury or his heire ioyned w^t^ my wife shall receave the profits of my landes in Suffolke for the raysinge of five thowsand pound to be payed vnto a noble person whoe I have bin iustly bound to make that aeknowledgment for many fauoures and assistances in my necessity. To my honest Tutor, Mr Brabon, parson of Whepsteed, Twenty pounds by yeare, to be levyed out of my Manno^r^ of Whepsteed all the tyme of his life. I doe make my Executors my loveinge wife, Sr Henry Drury of Hudgley and my Tutor Mr Brabon and my good honest friend Mr Pamont of Cheuington, to whome a peece of plate of Twenty pounds for a legacy. And I wish the Almes house may be removed to Sparrowes tuft hard by the Chureh at Hawsteed. In testimony that this is my last will, which I hope nobody will be so unloving unto me as to endeavour to break it, I have sett to my hand and seale this xxv^th^ of Aprill 1614 to both sides of this paper. R. Drury. If it should please God to eall that party before me to whome I have bequeathed the five Thowsand pounde I will that it should be devided equally betweene my Sisters.

A Codicill or parte of the Will of the right wor^th^ Sr Robert Drury, Knight, made the second day of Aprill 1615. Whereas by my will bearinge date the five and twenty of Aprill 1614 I did give vnto a noble personage five thowsand poundes, my will is now to Revoke that legacy, and hereby I doe give vnto the same person onely the some of two thowsand and fiue hundred pounds. And I doe further giue unto my most worthy lady and loveinge wife two thowsand pounds, to be raysed out of the revennewes of my said Manno^rs^ and lands. And alsoe I doe give vnto my wife my Mannor or farm called Heneote ferme near vnto Bury St. Edmunds for terme of her life, besides her Thirds and Dower. If any one of my sisters, shall ehallenge any right in those landes which I have bequeathed vnto my wife, then the said my wife shall enter into my Mannors of Hawsteed, Whepsteed, Brockley, Chedber and Reed vntill she shall haue peaceable possession of those landes wch I have given her. Alsoe I doe furder give by this Codicill to my beloved Tewtor, Mr Brabon, one hundred poundes to buy him bookes wth all. I doeth give vnto my good friend Mr Thomas Shorte, Phisition in Berry, the some of ffortye poundes. Also vnto my wife's nephewe Mr Robert Baeon five pownds Annytie out of my Mannor of Chedber. R. The Arms of Drury of Ireland as depicted on the Funeral Certificate of Katherine, daughter of Thomas Drury of Laughlin, co. Carlow, and wife of Sir John King, Kt., are:— Argent, a bordure, Gules, on a chief, Vert, a cross tau between two mullets of the first.

Drury of Claydon.

Armorial Bearings.

The arms allowed to Francis Drury of Swaffham Prior at the Cambridge Visitation in 1619 were Argent, on a chief Vert a cross tau between two mullets Or pierced Gules, an annulet of the last indicating descent from a fifth son. Such a fifth son, Thomas Drury of Candellers in Hessett (see pedigree, p. 346), brother of Sir William Drury of Rougham, might well have been the great grandfather of Thomas Drury of Fincham, the more immediate ancestor of the Cambridgeshire Drurys. Other Suffolk Drurys, as is well known, made suggestive wills in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, but their connection, if any, with the Rougham family has not as yet been adequately investigated.

In St. George's Visitation of Cambridgeshire and Huntingdonshire, 1684 (College of Arms, K. 7), there is a tricking of the shield of William Drury of Earith and of his son Richard Drury, High Sheriff of those counties in 1678. It agrees substantially with that described above, but the mullets are not pierced. The Crest, a greyhound, Argent, which seems to be leaping rather than running and is not collared or ringed, is charged with an annulet, Gules, for difference. On the Drury tombstones at Claydon the Arms have the chief with the cross tau between the mullets, but no sign of cadency, and the Crest is simply a greyhound courant.

Drury of Leziate.

The fall of the house of Leziate is a memorable instance of the vicissitudes of families. In the too brief memoir (Annual Biography, Vol. XIX) of Dr. Joseph Drury, the famous Master of Harrow, himself a descendant of the Leziate family, we are told of the extravagance of its last owner, John Drury, who lived in the spendthrift days of Charles the Second, and of the sale of his estates, a step which his tried friend, Dr. Gibson, afterwards Bishop of London, ineffectually endeavoured to prevent. In the Chancery Proceedings in "Drury contra Turner" (Reynardson, 324, 68), we have a vivid picture of the ruined gentleman, who had entered his pedigree in the Norfolk Visitation not many years before, and of his hopeless endeavours to avert his fate. In 1680 he took the fatal step of borrowing money. In 1682 his two sons became securities for the payment of further bonds. In 1683 he sold his broad lands, perhaps provisionally, in Leziate, Ashwicken, Holt, East Winch, Middleton, Mintling, Bawsey, Gayton and Glasthorpe. (Norfolk Fines, Hill, 35 and 36 Chas. II.) In 1684 he tried to save himself by a second marriage, but the lady's portion was smaller than he had expected. (Drury c. Hooke, Reynardson, 82, 136.) In 1686 he assigned what was left him to trustees. And then, when all was lost, we find him ending his days as a Warder in the Tower. William Drury, his younger son, had long before gone to the West Indies, where, it is said, he became a buccaneer. George Drury, his eldest son, the sometime heir of Leziate, studied law at Thavies' Inn in 1680, and at the Inner Temple in 1687, but, pressed by debts, absconded to Whitefriars, the "Alsatia" so cleverly depicted in the "Fortunes of Nigel." Marrying a second and richer wife in 1704, George Drury was sued by Sir John Turner of King's Lynn, his father's creditor, for the bond he had countersigned some two and twenty years before. His later fortunes are not so clear. He made his will as George Drury of the Inner Temple, gentleman, in 1716, and it was proved by his widow in January 1719, old style. One of his grandsons, Robert Drury, the rollicking dramatist, whose now forgotten plays repose amongst the rarer volumes in the British Museum, died young; but another, Thomas Drury, the father of the Head Master of Harrow, lived to an advanced age and retained much traditional knowledge of his forefathers. See Life of Dr. Joseph Drury in the "Annual Biography and Obituary," 1835, and in the "Dictionary of National Biography," Drury of Knightstone in Burke's "Landed Gentry," Vol. III, Supplement, 1849, etc., etc.

In his will, dated 25th Feb. 1716, George Drury, of the Inner Temple, London, Gentleman (being then about sixty years of age), infirm in body but of sound mind, bequeathed a guinea apiece to Robert Drury, his son, and to Eleanor, his daughter, wife of William Pitt. The rest of his estates he devised to Elizabeth, his wife, and to her heirs. The witnesses were Susan Bell, John Keighley, and James Paget. Probate was given to Elizabeth Drury, the relict, on the 22nd day of January 1719.

Apart from Fines and Subsidy Rolls, there are but few evidences relating to the earlier Langhams of Suffolk in our public offices of record. These, however, abundantly testify that they were knights and gentlemen, and that they held the manor of Langham Hall for many generations. The inscriptions to their memory, formerly on the floor of Langham church, have long since disappeared, but their arms (Argent, a fess, Gules, and a label of three points, Azure) still remained on four of the faces of the octagonal font when Davy visited the place in 1843. An excellent account of their alliances and descents was printed by Morant in his "History of Essex." They resided much in this latter county after the marriage, circa 1341, of Sir William de Langham with the sister and heiress of Sir John de Wateville, who brought with her the manors of Panfield and Hempsted. These, together with their old patrimony of Langham in Suffolk, ultimately passed, by the marriage of Alice Langham, the heiress of the family, to the Cottons. The fullest pedigree of the Langhams of Langham is that compiled by Sampson Lennard early in the seventeenth century (Harl. MS. 1500). It is given, in italics, with additions from other sources (including Harl. MS. 1137), on the next page.

Langham of Bury.

Armorial Bearings, etc.

There were Langhams of Mildenhall and Bury St. Edmunds in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. Simon Langham, of the latter place, was one of the sons-in-law of William Payton of Risby, whose will was proved in 1556, and one of the plaintiffs in Payton contra Hammond in 1588. See Pedigree of Payton, Hammond and Langham of London, on page 262. Another son-in-law was Thomas Bright, whose descendants entered pedigrees in the Suffolk Visitation of 1664. "The Brights of Suffolk, England," printed at Boston, Massachusetts, one of the best family histories extant, contains many allusions to their Langham cousins, and reproduces a letter from George Langham, afterwards of Clapham in Surrey, to Thomas Bright of Netherhall near Bury, dated 22 May 1651. It relates to Thomas Bright's son, then in Malaga, where the Langhams had a factor, and alludes to the writer's late uncle Scales, his brother Harvey and his cousin, Joseph Withers. It will be seen from his will, which we subjoin, that George Langham, son of Simon Langham and Rose Payton, and who is described in his pedigree as one of the Captains of the City of London, was engaged officially in the Civil Wars, and contemplating the possibility of death in the service. This was in 1643. In 1634 the Arms of the Langhams of Langham, his knightly predecessors in the days of the Plantagenets, Argent, a fess Gules, a label of three points, Azure, had been allowed him by the heralds, when he entered his pedigree in the Visitation of London. The same arms were confirmed to George Langham, his son, the correspondent of Thomas Bright, at the Visitation of Surrey in 1662.

Will of George Langham, 1645.

I, George Langham of London, Marchantailor, considering the certainty of death, and more espially calling to mind the employment wch it hath pleased god at this tyme to call me vnto, and the danger therof, do make this my last will. In the first place I bequeath my sowle vnto god my maker and to Jesus Christ my redemer, and my body to the earth where it shall please god to suffer it to be layd. My psonal estate being much dimminished by the will of god, my will is that yt be devided into five equall partes: of which I doe bequeath fower to my fower children wch are not as yet advanced in porc̃on; that is to say, my sonnes Henry Langham, Thomas Langham, William Langham, and my daughter Elizabeth Langham, and the other fyft part I doe leave to executor to pforme legacies. I desire my executo^r^ to remember my sister Porter so long as she liveth. Vnto my two granchildren Jo^n^ Juxson, eldest sonne to my son in-law Mr John Juxson of Morclacke, and vnto George Harvie, eldest sonne vnto my daughter Harvie, ten poundes a peece at their ages of twenty one yeares. And yf it shall please god that I dye in this Service, my will is that the horse wch I borrowed of my good frend, Mr Edward Crople of London, mercer, be restored vnto him, or the value of him if he be left in the service, and a tierse of Clarret wine be given him for his love and courtesie in lending me that horse. Vnto the poore of Garlicke Hive five pounds. Vnto the Company of Merchant tailors. I doe ordaine my eldest sonne, George Langham, sole executor, yf he be liveing after my decease. And yf it shall please God to call him out of this mortall life before me, I will my second sonne, Henry Langham, to be sole executor. In witness whereof I have herevnto set my hand and seale in Henly vpon Thames this xxx^th^ March, 1643. Probatum sexto die Decembris, 1644, Juramento Georgii Langham filij dci defuncti.     - Jane Harvey, 1694.
  - Alice Harvey, 1680. — Mary Harvey, 1680.
  - Judith Bush, dau. of Judith Harvey, devisee of her uncle, George Langham; she was dead in 1694, leaving issue.

It would appear from the will of John Langham in the Bury Register, dated 1476, that the Langhams of Bury St. Edmunds and of Mildenhall were very nearly related. As late as the beginning of the present century there were still Langhams at Mildenhall, one of whom, William Langham, had an only surviving son, John Langham of Northwold (born 3 May 1795, and died 16 Oct. 1847), who assumed, by Royal license in 1813, the arms and surname of Carter, in lieu of his patronymic, and was a J.P. and D.L. for Norfolk. He married, 9 Jan. 1819, Mary Anne, daughter of William George Daniel Tyssen of Fouldon Hall, and has left numerous descendants.

Will of William Addington, 1777.

The 22d day of August 1777. William Addington of the parish of Saint George Bloomsbury co. Middx. Gent. To my brother John Addington £100 for mourning & £1000 legacy. Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold, my wife's mother, whose considerable Fortune places her superior to any little offers from me, makes me request her to accept a ring,[1] value £200, as a remembrance of my affection. My freehold estate called Bowes Farm in the psh of Henhurst co. Surry; my freehold estate in Romford co. Essex; also my freehold estate in the town of Buckingham co. Buckingham, to my wife, subject to no control & after her decease I bequeath the same to my brother John Addington & his heirs. The sum of £600 in three per cent. consolidated annuities Bank of England to be transferred to the names of my wife Caroline Addington & my brother John Addington in trust for the following purposes—The interest of the same to my dear wife for her use, Except that my daughter, Wilhelmina Caroline Hatch (whose misconduct and behaviour having entirely destroyed my Felicity made misery the companion of my Declining Life, which has quite eradicated my affection for her) should from any misfortunes be reduced and distrest, I direct said trustees out of said interest to pay my daughter one hundred guineas a year by quarterly payments, the first payment to take place immediately after such misfortune shall happen to her. After the death of my wife all the interest of said

[1] Now in the possession of Col. Rous of Worstead House, near Norwich.

£6000 to be paid to my daughter for her natural life not subject to any control from her husband James Hatch or liable to his debts. If she survives her husband, my wife being also deceased, the trustees shall transfer said £6000 to my daughter. To my esteemed Friend Dr Anthony Addington, & his lady Mrs Mary Addington £50 each. To my cousins the children of Dr Addington £20 each. To my cousin William Addington Esq of Soho Square twenty guineas. To my friend Mr William Hay of Farnham twenty guineas. To Mrs Annie Maria Bowman of Greenwich ten guineas. Whereas Mathias Rogers Esq. of Buckingham left his plate as heirlooms, amounting to 305 ounces agreeable to an inventory signed by Mrs Elizabeth Rogers his widow, and as many of the pieces had been altered before they came into my possession, I advise my wife to offer £120 in lieu and full compensation to the next person intituled to the same. By my marriage agreement £2500 was placed in the three per cent. Consolidated Bank annuities in the joint names of Mrs Elizabeth Arnold & John Moses as trustees, I now devise said £2500 to my wife for ever. I appoint her executrix and residuary Legatee.

Proved at London 8th June 1779 by Caroline Addington, widow. P.C.C. 230 Warburton.

Will of Elizabeth Arnold, 1788.

Being in sound memory and having an absolute right to give my fortune to who I please, I Elizabeth Arnold of Stratford le Bow in the Co. of Essex do make my last Will & Testament as follows.

I give to my daughter Caroline Allen my estates in North Cove and Lowestoft, and my estate in Stratford left me by my cousin Mr Sontley South, also in the three pr cent. Bank Consul Annuities, in reduced annuities, in South Sea Stock, in new and old annuities and Exchequer Orders, and stock in the funds, in Trust to my Grandson and Grand daughter Hatch, Mr John Addington in the Temple, Mr John James of Worton, to be paid to my said daughter for her natural life, and at her decease to go to my Grandson & Grand daughter Hatch for ever.

Item. All my Bank Stock to my Grand daughter Wilmina Caroline Hatch to her sole use for life, and at her decease [to be] equally divided between her children.

Item. To my grand daughter Caroline Elizabeth Hatch two thousand pounds, to be laid out to accumulate untill she arrives at the age of 21 years.

Item in legacies I give as follows:—To Admiral John Carter Allen one thousand pounds. To my Grandson and Grand daughter Hatch five hundred pounds each To my nephew John South Morse £500. To Mr John Addington in the Temple £500. To Mr John James of Worton £500. To Mr Aldous Arnold senior of Lowestoft merct £300. To Mr John Fowler of N. Yarmouth £300. To Mr George Bristowe of Merct Taylors Hall £100. To Mr Talbot of Stratford £100, &c. &c. As I have changed my intention being buried at Lowestoft I now [wish] to be buried at Little Ilford in a vault prepared for me, in linen, in a Leaden Coffin and in another covered with black cloth, black nails and Copper Plate on the lid with my name; no hatchment to be put out nor rooms hung in black, but to be buried as privately as decency will permit. I nominate and appoint my Grandson and Grand daughter Hatch & Mr John Addington of the Temple my executors, and do declare this to be my last will where unto I have this day of May, 18th, 1788 set my hand & seal. Elizabeth Arnold. In the presence at my request of my undermentioned three friends. Jno Snelgrave, Edward Parsons, Josiah Price.

[1] Dr. Addington was the father of the first Lord Sidmouth.

[The following are some of the codicils to the original will, written each on a small slip of paper and attached together.]

My late Husband's picture and mine[1] I give to Mrs Hatch and half my house Linen and half the goods and china [spelled "chaney" in the original] that she may like to take. I give my Library of Books to Mr Hatch. Stratford, 1768. Eliz. Arnold.

To Executors. I give to Mr. Aldous Arnold, surgeon, of Lowestoft twenty guineas for a ring and his wife 10 guineas. May 10. 1778.

To my Executors. I give to Mrs Elizabeth Christian, Mr Aldous Charles Arnold, Mrs Elizabeth Harman, Mrs Charity Henshaw [to each] twenty guineas. Stratford March 2, 1780.

To my Exors. To be paid as directed as if mentioned in my Will. To Mrs Gilbert, sister to my late maid Margaret Lay, the sum of fifty pounds and a ring of one guinea in value. March 2, 1782.

Jully. Mrs Gilbert died suddenly in a fit. I give his [sic] £50 to Mrs Ray my housekeeper. Eliz. Arnold.

To my executors. I give the Revd Doctor Warner twenty guineas. I give to Mrs Saint John his sister twenty guineas. March 1, 1783.

I give to Mrs Try [Tryphœna] Aldred, wife of Obed Aldred, if living at my decease, ten pounds. Stratford Augt 12, 1784. If dead I give his daughter Try Batson the ten ponnds.

I give to Mr and Mrs Cook, Father and Mother to Mr Hatch, twenty guineas each. January the 1st 1785.

I give to the poor distressed Jane Chann, my late servant, ten pounds a year for her life, and her Brother or Sister's Receipt shall be a discharge should she not be able to give a discharge herself. June 3, 1788.

Memo. I desire my Grand daughter Caroline Elizabeth Hatch may have my mother of pearl tea chest and Silver Cannister and Tea Kettle and Lamp. I desire my niece Ann More may have my silver Bread Basket. [By a mistake of the Register the word "and" is interposed between "Caroline" and "Elizabeth." Grand-daughter here is equivalent to "great grand-daughter."]

This Will was proved at London with sixteen Codicils the 21st day of Nov. 1789, before the Worshipful James Henry Arnold, Doctor of Laws, Surrogate, by the oaths of James Hatch & John Addington Esqrs. Power reserved of making the like grant to Wilhelmina Caroline Hatch wife of the said James Hatch, when she shall apply for the same. P.C.C. 528 Macham.

This will is throughout in the handwriting of the Testatrix, which being very tremulous from old age has led to one or two trifling errors in the Register.

Will of Aldous Arnold, 1791.

Aldous Arnold of Lowestoft in the County of Suffolk, Esquire, 29 April, 1791.

To Margaret his wife messuage &c. in Lowestoft (late Daniel Kitteredge) for her life, and then to his son Aldous Charles Arnold and his heirs.

        - Charlotte Adele, b. 18 June 1829, at Ellough; mar. her 2d cousin, the Rev. Edgar Montagu, Rector of Kettlestone, Norfolk, where she died 24 April 1895.
        - Isabella Jane, b. at Ellough, 12 Feb. 1831; mar. Colonel Richard Edgell, afterwards Chief Constable of Shropshire; d. July 27 1898.
      - Henrietta Ann Arnold, b. 27 Sept., bapt. 1 Oct. 1795, at Lowestoft; mar. at Ellough, 10 Feb 1820, Thomas Wood, of Arthingworth, Northamptonshire; d. 25 July 1829, at Lowestoft; bur. 29 July, in Lowestoft Church.
    - Frances, 2d wife, dau. of Peregrey Browne, of Bungay; born 14 Oct. 1726; bapt. 26 Oct., at St. Peter's, Maucroft, Norwich; d. 23 June; bur. 27 June 1767, in St. Margaret's Church, Lowestoft. — Margaret, 3d wife, widow of James Durrant; m. 8 Oct. 1782; d. 21 Jan. 1825, aged 90 years.
      - Franck Thomas Arnold, b. at Rugby, 6 Sept. 1861; educated at Rugby School, and Trin. Coll., Camb.; mar. 18 June 1887, at St. Martin's in the Fields. — Edith Maud, dau. of the late S. W. Kelly, of Cardiff, J.P. for Glamorgan.
        - Frederic Maximilian Thomas Arnold, b. 29 Aug. 1889, at Cardiff; bapt. at St. Margaret's Church, Lowestoft.

* Captain Thomas Arnold, then first lieutenant of the "Superbe," was present in Admiral Byng's action off Cape Passaro, and, though severely wounded, carried it. The colours of the "Royal St. Philip," and an old chart of the Mediterranean, in 1718. After a running fight of two hours, in which the "Kent" and the "Superbe" engaged the "Royal St. Philip," the flag ship of the Spanish Admiral, and two others, the "Kent" bore down upon her, and passing under her stern gave her a broadside and fell to leeward. The Captain of the "Superbe," doubtful how best to follow up the attack, consulted Mr. Arnold, who said that the eyes of the whole fleet were upon him at that moment, and advised him to board the "Royal St. Philip" immediately, sword in hand. This counsel was put into execution, and Arnold, as his office obliged him, boarded the captured by Captain Arnold, are still in the possession of his descendants. It is customary at Lowestoft to hang flags across the streets at weddings, and the colours of the "Royal St. Philip" are frequently used upon these occasions. Arnold afterwards commanded the "Spy" and the "Fox." There is a monument to his memory in the Parish Church where he is buried with his son Thomas, who, as a Midshipman, sailed round the world with Lord Auson in the "Centurion" See Bridgwater's History of Lowestoft.

Aldous of Huntingfield.

Richard Aldous, living 1563, held the Rectory of Fressingfield, etc., co. Suffolk, of the Crown; this he alienated in 1611 to Samuel Aldous his son. Originalia, 9 Jas. I., Inq. p. mortem, etc. Will, Arch. Suff., dated and proved, 1612. = . . .

  Matthie Aldous, had wife Susan, 1612.
- John Aldous, 1612, had issue a daughter Mary, then under age.
- Richard Aldous had wife Margaret, 1612.
  William Aldous had wife Mary, 1612.
- Mary, Anne, Elizabeth, and Joan, uamed iu their father's will.

The Arms of Richard Aldous, as depicted on his monument in Huutingfield Church, are a lion rampant holding a ring in his dexter paw. Crest: Out of a Viscount's Coronet, a demi-lion rampt.; in his sinister paw a sword erect.

Those claimed by Johu Aldous of Moulton, at the Suffolk Visitation of 1664, who was probably one of the same family, were Argent, a chevrou between three birds displaying rising Gules; ou a chief Sable, three mullets of the field. The crest was a bird rising Gules. Harl. MS. 1035.

The constant intercourse between our sea coast towns in the sixteenth aud seventeenth centuries, a fact scarcely sufficiently realized at the present time, lends some support to the assumption that the Arnolds of Lowestoft, Dunwich aud Cromer (Norf. Visitns. Harl. Soc.), all belonged to the same stock. That some of the latter did settle in Suffolk is kuown from the Will of Gertrude Arnold of Oxnead, 1624, and from the pedigree of John Arnold, of Battisford, in the Suffolk Visitation of Sir Edward Bysshe. These Battsford Arnolds bore for their Arms, Sable, a chevron between three dolphins embowed Argent. Their Crest was, On a wreath a dolphiu embowed Argent. Harl. MS. 1085.

Corrigenda et Addenda.

Page 25. WINTHROP OF GROTON. Alice "Henny," 1st wife of Adam Winthrop. Probably Alice Hunne. See the Cely-Hunne-Byrd matter on pp. 166 and 223. By a typographical mistake she is stated to have died 25 June 1533. The month should be January. See the Latin pedigree of Winthrop, p. 4.

Ibid. William Winthrop is here stated to have died 2 March 1682, but the Latin pedigree (p. 6) gives the date 1 March 1581, which is probably correct.

Ibid. Jane Winthrop, who married Thomas Gostlin, is said to have been married on Jan. 3, 1612. This is a printer's error. The date (see p. 6) was Jan. 6. She did not die, as here stated, in 1616, but was living as late as 15 Feb. 1663, when she is mentioned in her sister Downing's letter. See p. 95.

Page 26. WINTHROP OF BOSTON. By a typographical error Deane Winthrop is described as having been born in 1632. This should be 1623.

Ibid. John Winthrop (last descent but one) did not die, 1819, at Baton Rouge, but at Washington, U.S.

Pages 26-27. John Winthrop, eldest son of John Winthrop and Mary Forth, was really born 12 Feb. 1605, Old Style, as stated on p. 7. But on pp. 26-27, the New Style date, 1606 is given. Feb. 12 is transformed, by typographical error, into Feb. 15.

Page 26. John Winthrop was undoubtedly married to Mary Forth on the 16th of April 1605, as stated on p. 7; but the month is here erroneously given as March.

Page 27. WINTHROP OF NEW LONDON. Martha Fones, first wife of John Winthrop, jun., was married in February, 1631, New Style, not 1630 as stated in the text.

Ibid. Fitz John Winthrop, it turns out, was born in Boston, not in "Ipswich," as often stated.

Page 28. WINTHROP OF ANTIGUA. The first volume of Mr. Vere Langford Oliver's admirable History of Antigua had not been issued when our account of the Winthrops of that island went to the press. He points out that Sarah Winthrop, wife of Colonel Samuel Jones, was not "probably s.p.," as is usually represented, but that she married 2d Colonel Edward Byam, brother of her sister's husband, and left issue by him.

Page 30. WINTHROP OF LONDON. The Rev. Edward Winthrop, who died in 1824 (not 1826), was Vicar of Dareuth, co. Kent, and not Rector of West Malling, as to which we were misinformed. His wife was daughter of Henry Everleigh, gent., of Teignton, co. Devon. His daughter Martha died unmarried in 1855, but her sister Frances married in 1845 the Rev. John Woodruff, Vicar of Upchurch, Kent, and left issue, inter al. the Rev. Charles Everleigh Woodruff, M.A. of Oriel College, Oxford, and now Rector of Otterden.

Ibid. William Winthrop, sometime Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, married Frances Mary, daughter of the Rev. George Feacham, Vicar of Dorking, Surrey.

Page 41. SHARPE OF ISLINGTON. "John Bullen" should be John Buller. This was, perhaps, the "cosen Bulwer" who came to Adam Winthrop's house a day or two before he went to see his cousin Joan Muskett, 2 June 1597. Adam Winthrop's Diary.

Page 55. ALABASTER OF HADLEIGH. According to the parish registers of St. Peter's, Cornhill, Thomas Alabaster described in Adam Winthrop's Diary as having died in 1620, was buried June 4th 1624. It is not always easy to explain the conflicting dates of contemporary documents. In this instance it is not improbable that different persons were referred to.

Page 64. VESEY OF WIX. Joan, daughter of William Cardinall of Bromley, and widow of Robert Vesey of Wix, married secondly Robert Suckling, Esq., M.P. for Norwich, 19 Nov. 1577. Her son Charles Suckling of Woodton, Norfolk and Barsham, Suffolk, intermarried with the Drurys of Aylsham and of Besthorpe. See pp. 370 and 355.

Page 76. STILL OF HADLEIGH. For the will of George Still, B.D., the Bishop's brother, see p. 165.

Page 86. FONES OF NUSTEED. On the last line of the ancient pedigree of his family Samuel Fones is described as "æt. 12 a° 1628." In the modern pedigree which follows he is said to be "aged 11 a° 1629." The latter date is given in the Inquisition of his father, Thomas Fones. Discrepancies of this kind are not uncommon in old documents, which were based oftentimes upon verbal evidence only.

Page 87. Subsequent discoveries, including the will of Mary Paul, given on p. 168, and those of her sister Sarah Fones (P.C.C. 46 Edmunds), and her cousin, Eleazar Hasell (P.C.C. 8 Isham), have established an important modification of the pedigree of Fones of Suffolk. Mary, the daughter of Eleazar Dunkon, was the wife of Dr. Thomas Fones, and not, as here erroneously stated, of Samuel Fones, his father. In this instance, as sometimes happens, the lives of father and son, were almost contemporaneous, and each had a wife named Mary. Barnaby and Anne Fones were devisees, not of Eleazar Dunkon, but of their brother, the Doctor, who pre-deceased his father by fifteen years.

Page 99. DOWNING OF IPSWICH. Susan Downing, wife of Francis Kirby, had previously married Joseph Carter, by whom she left issue. See the will of Richard Blades, 1634, in the Commissary Court of London.

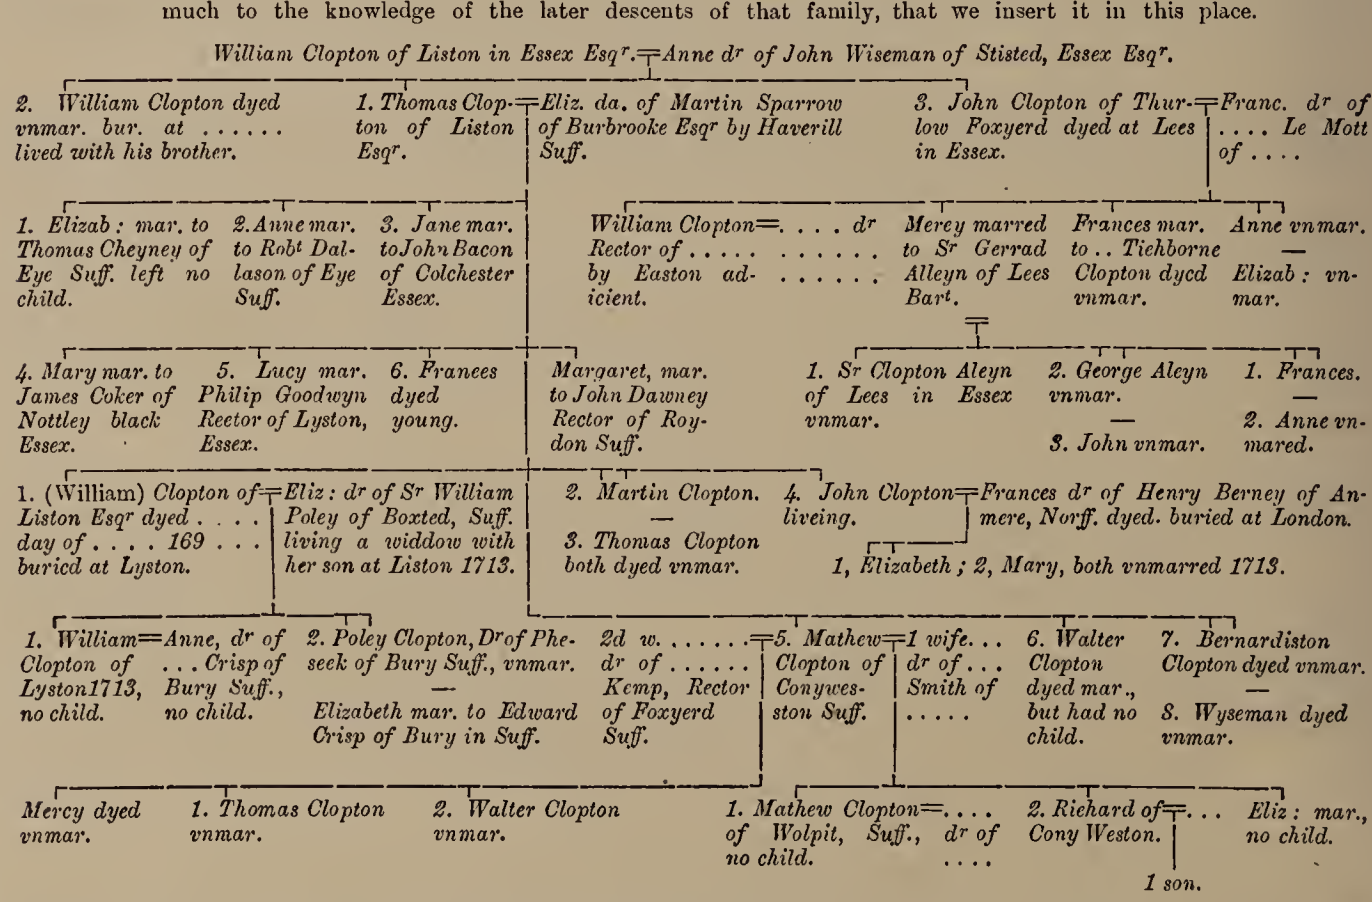
Page 118. FORTH PEDIGREE, CANDLER MSS. "His wife had a child, but he disowned it." The story of the domestic disagreements of Charles Forth and Elizabeth Jernegan, his wife, is given in a suit in the Court of Requests, Hunt's Series, 27, 45. Two children were born of the marriage, but the husband is described as a spendthrift and a rover, and the Blois MS. tells us that he was ultimately disinherited by his father.

Page 119. FORTH OF HADLEIGH. The parish register of St. Dionis Backchurch, London, shows that William Forth married Elizabeth Powell 17 Jan. 1540, Old Style.

Ibid. William Forth of Hadleigh, who died in 1599, had but one wife, Dorothy Harvey, as shown on p. 315. Joan Kene, described in the MSS. as his second wife, was in reality Dorothy Harvey's mother.

Page 144. CLOPTON OF GROTON. The excellent pedigree of Clopton in Add. MS. 5523, tells us (fo. 84[b]) that "Will'm Clopton, now of Groton in com Suff. (the father of Thomasine Winthrop) was ye 1st y^t builded and dwelte at Castlelynes in p'ish of Groton p'd, who haueinge spent all his fath's lands and patrimonye, he became heire to his Vncle fraunez of Melford p'ke. This Wm Clopton now is an Esqr vizt' one of ye Justices for ye Hundred of Babrega 1614."

Page 145. CLOPTON OF LISTON. The pedigree of Clopton of Liston, Add. MS. 5523, fo. 85[a], written in 1713, adds so much to the knowledge of the later descents of that family, that we insert it in this place.



Page 164. READE OF WICKFORD. Elizabeth Reade, second wife of John Winthrop, jun., Governor of Connecticut, was born in 1614, not "1617" as stated by typographical error.

Page 166. WINTHROPE OF GROTON. The first wife of Adam Winthrop died in 1553, not 1538 as erroneously printed.

Page 167. Another daughter of Vincent Norrington was wife of Thomas Palmer, citizen and goldsmith of London, for whose will, proved 16 May 1614, see New England Genealogical Register for January 1899.

Page 170. CULLUM OF HAWSTEAD. The will of Charles Cullum of Dunmow, 1689, was proved Arch. Middx., Essex and Herts, Book "Sewell," p. 277b.

Page 192. GARNEYS OF MICKFIELD. The late Mr. Joseph Woodcock, solicitor, of 20, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, claimed to be a descendant of John Woodcock of Halesworth who married Elizabeth, daughter of John Garneys of Hoxford. He was an ardent student of heraldry, and left drawings, seal impressions, etc., of the Garney's quarterings, differing but little from those described on p. 189.

Page 200. GRIGG OF BEALINGS PARVA. The will of Dame Rechord Deane (P.C.C. 143 Pembroke), dated 15 July 1648, abounds with references to the Griggs and their connections. Robert Grigg, her son, then deceased, is described as a Minister of God's Word, and his children as under age at that date.

Page 216. GOODWIN OF BOCKING. Stowe MS. 790, now re-numbered 692, is officially described as "An Alphabet of Armes in the Handwriting of Sr Christopher Barker, Garter," who held office from 1536 to 1549. His signature occurs on fo. 2. Amongst his grants, which are given at the end of each letter, is the following:—"Will'm Goodwyn of bokkynge in the Countie of Essex argent a pale goulles theron a flowre de luce of the fyrst betwene ij plats / on eche syde a torteaux bytwene two floare delyee of the pale / on his Creste a sleepe of mallowes verte thereon ij Counyes encountrante argent / browsynge thereon / the wrethe or and b. Mantell g / lyned argent / bottomd or/."

Page 223. GOODWIN OF BULL'S HALL. Two seventeenth century pedigrees, the one in the College of Arms and the other in the Free Library at Norwich, throw much light upon the marriages and descendants of Cecily Reedham. The first, dated about 1633, gives the common ancestry of Sir Thurston Smith of Cratfield in Suffolk and Sir Owen Symth of Ermingland in Norfolk, and the second, copied in 1657, relates to the Spelmans. Thomas Spelman of Norwich, it tells us, third son of Erasmus Spelman of Beeston, near Litcham, in Norfolk, married Cecily, daughter and heir of Reedham, widow of Raphe Goodwyn of Ipswich, and, before that, of Smyth of Suffolk. From these and other sources the following brief pedigree may be deducted:—

John Smith of Cratfield, in co. Suffolk, 1st husband, Ped. Suff. Visit. 1664; had with other issue	Cecily, dan. and co-heir of . . . . . Reedham of Ipswich; under age 1561. Redham c. Layer.	Raphe Goodwin of Ipswich, grandson of Raphe Goodwin, Portman of that town; 2d husband.	Thomas Spelman of Norwich, 3d son of Erasmus Spelman by Ursula, his wife, dan. of Sir Edward Baynton; 3d husband.
Sir Thurston Smith of Cratfield, Knighted 1625. Harl. MS: 6062: died on Jan. 7, 1649, sine prole, John Smith, his brother, being heir at law.	Willoughby, dan. of Edward Brewse, Esq.	Raphe Goodwin, half brother and devisee of Sir Thurston Smith 1649; bapt. at St. Clement's, Ipswich, 1 Oct. 1592. "Raufe Goodwin, son of Raufe & Cecilie."

Page 237. GOODWIN OF TORRINGTON. John Ingold (not Inglose) of Kesgrave, in Suffolk, by his will, Arch. Suffolc, 8 July 1535, devised lands in Little Bealings, etc., to Henry Goodwin and his children. By a printer's error the date is twice given as 1635.

Page 269. HAMMOND OF UFFORD. Thomas Hammond, who emigrated to Norway, was known there as "Thomas Englishman." He came to Trondhjem in the reign of Charles II, and has left many descendants. His grandson, Thomas Angell, who was very wealthy, founded the famous charity called by his name, providing especially for such of his kindred as might fall into poverty in future years.

Page 288. GURDON OF LETTON. Abigail Knyvett, who married Martin Sedley, was daughter of John Knyvett and sister of Sir Thomas. Sir Richard Saltonstall should be styled "of Yorkshire." Sir Richard Saltonstall of Essex was quite another man, but the two are frequently confounded. A number of letters from Brampton Gurdon to John Winthrop, Governor of Massachusetts, are to be found in the Fourth Series of the Massachusett's Historical Society's Collections. John Gurdon was M.P. for Ipswich, 1640.

Page 303. BURROUGH OF WICKHAMBROOK. In the light of nineteenth century criticism, Cotton Mather's action at the trial and execution of George Burrough is only to be excused on the ground of intense and inherited prejudice. But to speak of him, generally, as a "fanatical divine" is to do him less than justice. To no writer are Anglo-American genealogists more indebted for the links which bind the New England emigrants to their kinsmen of the old world than to the gossiping, learned and enthusiastic author of Magnalia Christi Americana.

Page 311. For ". . . entered Harvard College 1670," in the account of George Burrough of New England, substitute "A.B. Harvard College 1670." Although described as "clerk" in his indictment, there is no record of his ordination. He was, doubtless, a Nonconformist minister.

Page 328. APPLETON OF WALDINGFIELD. The inscriptions are in Little Waldingfield church, not at Great Waldingfield, as stated by Weever.

Page 329. Ibid. John Appleton was second, not third, in descent from John Appleton of Waldingfield Parva, who died 14 H. 4.

Page 335. It is but right to say that the earlier descents of Appleton, as given in Harl. MSS. 1196, 1560, etc., have never before been criticised; nor, indeed, with the exception of details pointed out in the footnote, have they ever been disproved. The question, here perhaps unnecessarily raised, as to the exact paternity of William Appleton, the husband of Rose Sexton, would never have occurred had the usual Inquisitions, Fines, etc., connected with the inheritance of feudal estates, been extant in his case.

Page 348. DRURY OF SUSSEX. Alice, widow of John Drury, LL.D., married Francis Nevill, Esq., 2 Oct. 1616, and made her will 14 Oct. 1618. Chas I B. & A. D.D. 44, 49, Drury c. Jordan. Her grandson, Francis Drury, was of Watergate in 1664, and his wife was daughter of John Weston, Esq., of Speldhurst, co. Kent. Chas I. B. & A. D.D. 13, 45 Drury c. Horton.

Page 354. DRURY OF HAWSTEAD. Henry Drury of Ickworth was Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk 1423-30, and M.P. for Suffolk 1433 and 1435.

Page 355. DRURY OF BESTHORPE. Catherine, eldest daughter of William Drury the first of Besthorpe, is called Catherine, not Mary, in her grandfather's will. Catherine, wife of Nicholas Drury of Intwood 1691, was daughter of Sir Robert Jenuey, not Sir John. Jermyn and Norris quoted by Davy in his MSS.

Page 358. DRURY OF HEDGERLEY. William Drury, the heir of Hedgerley, was still engaged with his case against Darell in December 1645, being then blind and weak, with only an annuity of £40 a year. Calendar of House of Lords MSS. in the sixth Report of the Historical MSS. Commission. Frances, his sister, married, 1633, Henry Allen, Esq., of the Inner Temple. License in Faculty Office. Harl. Soc. Vol. 24.

Ibid. Rowland Hynde was of Hedsor (not Hedsworth), co. Bucks. He died in 1608, and Elizabeth, his wife, 11 Jany. 1606. There is a brass to their memory in Hedsor church. There is also a brass in Penn church to Dame Susan Drury, who died 3 Feb. 1640, and her daughter Sarah, wife of John Penn. Lipscomb's Buckinghamshire. Anne, sister of Sir Henry Drury, married, 9 July 1605, Austin Alexander. Hedgerley Parish Register.

Page 384. ARNOLD OF LOWESTOFT. Will of Aldous Charles Arnold, fifth line, for "Wringfield" read Wingfield.

Page 387. Ibid. There is a fine monument in St. Margaret's church, Lowestoft, over the north door, to the memory of Aldous Arnold and his three wives, surmounted by the arms, Sable, a chevron Argent, between three dolphins embowed of the same. Crest, a dolphin embowed Argent.

Ibid. There is a monument in St. Mary's Church, Bungay, "To the memory of Peregrey Browne, gent., who died Jan. 2nd 1767, aged 77 years; and of Elizabeth his wife who died June 4th 1773, aged 77 years." The Arms are Argent, on a bend Azure (or Sable?) three eagles displayed Or.

Further Additions and Corrections.

Page 30. WINTHROP OF LONDON. For "Everleigh," read "Eveleigh."

Page 87. FONES OF NUSTEED. Samuel Fones the younger is incidentally named in the will of his father, Samuel Fones, in 1693, not in that of his brother, Thomas Fones. It is probable that he was then dead.

Page 99. DOWNING OF IPSWICH. James Downing went to New England in 1630, not 1640, as stated in the text.

Page 166. WINTHROP OF GROTON. The first wife of Adam Winthrop died in 1533, not 1538, as here erroneously printed.

Page 355. DRURY OF BESTHORPE. There is, apparently, some confusion in the early descents of this family as given in the MSS. It is stated in the Inquisition post mortem of Charles Drury, taken 35th Henry VIII, that long before his death one Robert Drury Esqr was seized of a Manor in Besthorpe, which he enfeoffed to one Robert Drury of Besthorpe and Ela his wife, with remainder to Charles Drury their son and heir. Robert Drury of Besthorpe had died, but Ela was still living. Charles Drury their son deceased 23^{d} Feb. 32^{d} Henry VIII, William Drury his son and heir being of the age of four years and upwards.

Page 372. DRURY OF LEZIATE. On the 19th of March, 1692, the Administration of Elizabeth Drury, late of St. Giles', Cripplegate, widow, was granted to John Jurin, the guardian of Isaac Drury, a minor, her natural and lawful son. Admons. P.C.C.

Page 387. ARNOLD OF LOWESTOFT.—Frances Arnold was daughter and heir of Peregrey Browne. For Birchinshaw (see about the middle of the pedigree) read Byrchinshaw.

Page 388. Edward Arnold was Bailiff of Dunwich in 1314 and 1325. In 1334 (7 Edw. III) the feefarm rent of sixteen pence was due to the King "de heredibus Edmundi Arnold pro Christepenysaker." Sir Henry Harnold, "Knight and Freer," was buried in the Black Friar's church there. (Weever, p. 720). In 1496 Ameys Arnold "gaff nets to the Cherche, viii^{s} vi^{d}." See Gardner's History of Dunwich.
